PRESBYTERIAN ASSEMBLY

Kingston, Ont., June 2.—At the meeting of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church in Canada, which convened for the fourth time in Kingston tonight, Rev. Dr. Malcolm MacGillivray, of Chalmers church, Kingston, was unanimously elected moderator. Four other names were suggested, namely, Rev. Dr. John Neil, Toronto; Rev. Dr. D. D. McLeod, Barrie; Prof. Baird, of Winnipeg, and Rev. Dr. John Scrimgeour, Montreal.

In his sermon Rev. Dr. Herridge, the retiring moderator, elicited several outbreaks of applause, notably when, referring to the war, he said: "We must drive into oblivion those who prosper upon the wrongs of others. We cannot all serve in the trenches, but we can all serve in the ranks of national truth and honesty, and also when referring to the drink problem he said: "We do not believe that prohibition will bring the millennium, but what Russia has done with her vodka, what France has done with absinthe, surely we can do with the alcohol."

The report on finances, which was presented tonight, stated that while some congregations had reached, and in some cases exceeded, their increased allocations for 1915, the average rate of

CHICAGO WOMAN ARRESTED IN MILAN AS GERMAN SPY

Milan, Italy, June 2, via Paris.—Isabella Wade, aged 37, of Chicago, was arrested here today on the charge of being an accomplice of a Bavarian officer who is accused of espionage.

A few days ago the police arrested a Bavarian officer named Martin Schehammer on suspicion of espionage. He had made several visits to the provinces of Brescia and Verona, in the war zone. It was learned that Schehammer had lived in several Italian towns, Milan and Rome included, and had many addresses. His close acquaintance with Isabella Wade of Chicago, a singer, was discovered and the police found the woman living in an apartment here under the name of Margaret Martello.

Search of her apartment revealed a large package of correspondence in cipher, military maps of important strategic value in the provinces of Udine, Verona and Bassano. These were contained in a large valise, in which also were field glasses and a revolver. From another package of German correspondence it would appear that Isabella Wade had had dealings with the police of Berlin. The woman, at first maintained that she was Margaret Martello, and had found the valise in the street, but after spending a short time in prison, she admitted her real identity and declared that Schehammer had placed the valise in her hands, saying that he was shadowed by the police and feared he would be arrested at any moment, and that it was necessary to hide the documents.

NOW LET US THINK

We pick up the paper daily, And read about the war. Then throw it on the table, And think, oh, what a bore! How many remember our brothers, Cousins, or sweethearts—away, But look over the amusement column So see how we can put in the day? Some of us get long letters From France, and England as well, Telling us of their hardships, And comrades who fall.

Do we ever picture the trenches And our men lying there? Fighting to save our country, Sick, hungry and without care? Oh, who are away from battle, From the awful roaring noise, How many Christian people, Praying for our St. John boys? Yes, and not only the boys of our city, Think of their mothers praying To God, her boy to save. So can we not pray also For all the boys so true, Who are in the fighting? For the old Red, White and Blue? And may we wish them good luck, And a speedy voyage back, And give them cheer for them, And our dear "Old Union Jack."

MISS VERA STARKEY.

There is a marked difference between coal consumption of Britain and France. Britain is 72 cwt. a head, that of France is only 16 cwt.

SUGGESTIONS AS TO RECRUITING

Correspondent Would Have Labor Employers Act—Says Too Many Able Men Remain Civilians

Editor Times:—

Str.—With your permission, I would like to ask the employers of labor in St. John what steps, if any, are taken by them to encourage the recruiting? It appears to me that far too many well-developed, and physically fit young men of active-service age are walking our streets as civilians.

Would it not be advisable to replace these young men, filling their places by worthy men who have given the best part of their lives to their king and country, or are giving their sons, or who have passed the age limit and are otherwise unfit for military service? Our stores and street cars have far too many well-set up young men whose place is in the military service. Many of these young men not only refuse to enlist, but appear disinterested in the welfare of those who have courage enough to go to the front, and fight their battle. It seems to me that they should be ashamed to be seen in the streets as civilians, and should be treated as they deserve, with an amount of the same contempt that they evidently feel for the military service.

No doubt there are some who, for good reasons, are unable to offer themselves, or are not suitable for service, and to them our government officials might provide a badge of some kind, showing the citizens that they have done their duty, and at the same time, pass a law making it a punishable offence for any one other than the original holder, to wear such a badge. This method would assist our city to raise its five per cent, or 2,500 men.

I am well aware, from experience as an employer of labor, that there are thousands of young men from outside our city who are just waiting to take the place of those offering their service to their king, and it does seem unjust that our boys' positions should be filled by strangers, who have not suffered interest or courage to go forward and fight their country's battles, but in many cases shield themselves behind their old thread-bare years—"My mother, on my wife, won't let me go."

Yours truly,
ALBION.
