There is another fact to be considered in connection with the rental of stores and other buildings on particular streets. There comes a time when certain kinds of business cannot afford to stay on the principal streets. The revenue is not large enough. They must move elsewhere, and give place to lines of business which can afford to pay a higher rental and higher taxation. This ray seem to be a hardship in individual cases, but it is a law of city growth which cannot be evaded. St. John today is beginning to adjust itself to new conditions. These involve temporary hardship for some people. The latter look around for a cause and to find some person or persons upon whom the blame may be laid. It so happens that the board of trade is at present the shiping mark in this city, but the blame cannot fairly be laid at its door.

THE BOYS CAN HELP

There is a very excellent suggestion by Dr. George U. Hay in his report to the Rorticultural Association. It is that the Boy Scouts and the boys of the Every Day Club be encouraged to take an interest in the arboretum and to do some work for it.

They would also be receiving valuable instruction, and would come to feel in a new sense that the park was their park and ought to be protected. The executive of the Every Day Club, who have the name of a hundred boys on their membership roll, have been giving serious thought of getting in bird of land for gardening purposes. Their difficulty is that they themselves are very buys men, and that service of any kind involves more or less expense, especially if systematic work is to be done, and there are real ready so many appeals to the public that the outlook is rather discouraging, that the theological plants of the purpose of an amounter to cells the sympathy of any day boys, first in beautifying the park and then in having a price in keep long in the wake of his flagality up the possible during the continuous price of the country of t
