A MATRIMONIAL HOAX. A well-planned hoax had an amusing result at a Paris cafe. A few days ago two advertisements appeared in the newspapers. One of them was supposed to be that of a rich woman who was looking for a young husband who need not necessarily have any money. The other was supposed to be that of a rich man who was looking for a young wife. In this case also there was no need for the woman to have means of her own.

Answers to these advertisements came by hundreds. Both had been written by the same person. To each one of them a reply was made making the man or woman, as the case might be, to meet the "advertiser" at the cafe. It was also reported that of man and woman that a "white rose" should be worn for identification purposes.

Having made these plans the advertiser then wrote to the police saying that there was to be a big demonstration of Royalists at a certain cafe on Sunday afternoon. Thirty detectives were on the scene on Sunday.

Soon a large number of young men and young women began to assemble at the cafe. At first the white rose that each wore was regarded as coincidence, but it soon became evident that they were the victims of a hoax, and after a little and a "white rose" should be worn for identification purposes.

Following these plans the advertiser then wrote to the police saying that there was to be a big demonstration of Royalists at a certain cafe on Sunday afternoon. Thirty detectives were on the scene on Sunday.
