MORE EVIDENCE IN NORRIS INQUEST

The inquest into the death of Albert Norris of Barnville which occurred last Friday morning in the General Public Hospital was continued last evening by Coroner F. L. Kenney and his jury. Owing to the absence of a material witness and also to the absence of W. M. Ryan, attorney for Edward O'Brien, charged with James Spellman in connection with Norris' death, the hearing was postponed until next Monday evening. The only witness examined last evening was Bernard L. Bowes. Both prisoners were present at the inquest in charge of Sergeant-Detective Power and Detective Biddiscombe. G. Earle Logan appeared for Spellman. Bowes told of being given a drink by the prisoners on the evening of the tragedy out of a bottle bearing a King George IV. label. He had noticed no vendor's prescription label on the bottle. He had seen O'Brien and Spellman standing on a street corner outside his store after dark. In conversation with them they had offered him a drink for which he gave them some cigarettes. After this O'Brien and Spellman had left and gone out on the street where they engaged in conversation with Bayard Vanwart, all going into an alley off Hanover street. O'Brien was quite sober and Spellman was under the influence of liquor. He had seen them again about twelve o'clock that night and they were not altogether sober. He did not know Norris. He saw no sign of lemon extract but only of whiskey. He could not remember the subject of their second conversation. Spellman was quite drunk at the time.
