ST. JOHN STAR.

ST. JOHN, N. B., FEBRUARY 12, 1908.

TO-NIGHT'S MEETING.

This evening's opposition meeting at the York Theatre should strike the key-note of the campaign.

There should be such an attendance and such enthusiasm as will make the workers go into the battle with a determination not to permit any scheme, however cunning or far-fetched, to defeat the will of the people.

The majority of the people of St. John are opposed to the government. It is only necessary to arouse enthusiasm, bring out the votes, and check-mate any designs on the part of the political schemers of the government, and the victory will be won.

The leader of the opposition and the St. John candidates will speak this evening, and those who have nominated them should give them such a reception as will stimulate them to the most vigorous efforts in the common cause.

The time for organization and work is short, but it is long enough if all the workers throw themselves into the fight with a determination to win.

There should be no half-heartedness, no hesitancy, no listening to specious arguments or artful pretences; but a steady, strong, united struggle to elect the men who have been chosen to support Mr. Hazen.

The opposition have the cheering consciousness that in their fight they have the support of many who formerly opposed them—but who refuse to accept Messrs. Tweedie and Pugsley as their leaders.

They have also the confession of weakness on the part of the government in its appeal for the solid liberal vote in St. John.

St. John though gladly accepting any conservative support offered in other constituencies, St. John does not owe anything to this government.

The liberals of St. John do not owe anything to Tweedie, Pugsley and Labllois. The odds are in favor of the opposition if they will seize the opportunity and force the fighting.

The news from all parts of the province is of a cheering character. St. John is not alone in its desire for better government and an end of the policy of the opportunist.

Let the meeting tonight be worthy of the cause for which the opposition stands.

OUR FRIENDS THE ENEMY.

The government party in St. John has chosen its candidates. It was known that Messrs. McKeown, Purdy and Robertson would be nominated, and as the Star intimated yesterday Edward Lantulum was chosen as the fourth man.

John L. Carleton pretty nearly divided the vote with him. The ticket is one that should easily be defeated. The fear of defeat is so strong upon the government workers that they have had to plead with Mr. B. to come and help them.

It is to be noted that while all the speakers in St. John last evening talked liberalism and tried to make it appear that the issue was between liberals and conservatives, Hon. Mr. Labllois, at Campbellton, was calling upon the government workers that they by him as he had stood by them.

A government that has to adopt such tactics does not deserve the support of self-respecting people.

THE McLEOD WHARF.

Interest in the elections should not divert attention from the very important work now being carried on at the McLeod wharf.

The history of wharf building at St. John is not without instances where wharves, after being built, slid or bulged out, so that when a vessel lay there a space would intervene between the top of the wharf and the upper part of the vessel.

The experience with the Donaldson line wharf and some others should make the authorities very much on the alert in connection with the present work.

The Star does not doubt that the contractor will fulfill his contract to the letter, but as the work progresses it is worth while to consider whether enough ballasting and other precautions to prevent a slide or bulge have been taken in preparing the contract.

The question is one of great importance, for, if after the wharf has been completed, it should in any way be forced out of line there would be a well-founded outcry by the citizens.

TURN THEM OUT.

The great aim of the electors of New Brunswick should be to get back to a condition of political affairs such that the will of the people could not be defeated by the unscrupulous conduct of shifty representatives.

There ought to be so open and pronounced a verdict by the electors that the opportunists would no longer have grounds for a belief that sincerity and consistency are not required of a representative of the people.

Let us have a clean sweep of the present discredited government and the lesson will not be forgotten. To return them to power would simply be to put a premium on inconsistency and lack of political principle.

THE TICKET

Selected Last Night at Meeting Devoid of Enthusiasm.

E. Lantulum Wins From John L. Carleton—Strife and Indifference—Leaders are Worried.

Anxious eyes, furrowed faces, nervous frowns to and fro, are the signs by which you may know a government candidate or prominent supporter today.

For it is an open secret that the elaborately advertised convention in Berryman's Hall last night was a bitter disappointment to its promoters, who recognized that never before the danger their opponents are in.

They long for Mr. Blair. It was a combination of back-biting and cold indifference last evening. The meeting of the delegates in the rooms down stairs was characterized by ill feeling that will mar the success of the whole campaign.

Nobody was unanimous, even though it was settled beforehand that the three present members should be renominated. There were 106 delegates present.

McKeown got 103, Purdy 99, Robertson 94. The narrow majority in the fourth man on the ticket, who was, by agreement, to be a Catholic, John L. Carleton, Edward Lantulum and James H. Dooly had been mentioned as some of the men who would be asked to run.

Thomas Gorman, the chairman of Bydney ward, could have had the nomination as a gift; in fact, it was almost thrust upon him, but Mr. Gorman would not under any consideration allow his name to be placed in nomination.

Eventually the fight for the place dwindled down to a choice between Edward Lantulum and John L. Carleton.

Mr. Carleton had been working most energetically all day and had won many supporters. But he had started too late in the game, and found himself up against an organization too strong for him.

The final ballot stood, Lantulum, 61; Carleton, 40. The loser bowed gracefully to the inevitable and moved that the nomination be made unanimous.

Meanwhile in the hall upstairs the people—what there were of them—waited with patient indifference for the result. E. H. MacAlpine and W. H. Trueman were put up to try and arouse a little enthusiasm, but their efforts were utterly in vain.

Thomas McAvity was chairman and A. E. MacIntyre acted as secretary. On the platform stood Hon. H. A. McKeown, D. J. Purdy, E. Lantulum and John L. Carleton.

The first speaker was Hon. H. A. McKeown. His speech was very lengthy and closed with the announcement that he was very glad to see that the government was coming to power.

He placed on the government workers a heavy burden, but Mr. Purdy, who had a cleaner record than Mr. Lantulum, the people should support the whole ticket, and carry his colleagues, including Mr. Lantulum, to victory.

Mr. Purdy was the next speaker. He said he would not take up much of the people's time, like his predecessor had. Mr. Purdy asked what the opposition had done for the north end. It had never seen fit to recognize the north end by putting a man from that part of the city on its ticket.

He would talk out loud and ask what the so-called labor candidates had done for St. John. They had never spent a cent in the industries of St. John. He also was glad to be on the same ticket with Mr. Lantulum.

Then came the first cheer of the night when Mr. Lantulum was called to speak. The cheer was led by E. H. MacAlpine.

Mr. Lantulum spoke but a few words. He accepted the nomination proffered him and hoped for victory. Somebody in the audience called on John L. Carleton for a speech.

Mr. Carleton rose and greeted the three cheers, which were proposed by James Barry, and led by C. J. Milligan. These gentlemen were back-benchers and yelled lustily last night for the man who did not get the nomination.

Mr. Carleton on rising made some remarks to the effect that the government was seeking the nomination. He declared that he had not sought or looked for any such honor. But when asked to go on the ticket he consented reluctantly, and now that he found that he was wrong and those who supported him were wrong, he would cast in his lot with the party and help by every effort in his power to elect the whole ticket.

After a good speech and some poetry, Mr. Carleton retired. Then there were cheers for the King and cheers for everybody else in sight.

Some were suggested cheers for King Kelly, for Dry Dock Robertson, for "Red" McAlpine, and the whole outfit. The old wigwag, as one of the speakers termed the hall, has held larger and more enthusiastic crowds.

The vote polled for the fourth man on the ticket, 61 to 40, shows that there was not a universal opinion among the delegates, and the remark of a government heeler on leaving the building, "It's my opinion that they're up against it," seems to be the general feeling amongst the ward workers.

ICICLES.

Mr. Trueman's funeral sermon over the loss of the Globe's support would have wrung tears from the heart of a grindstone.

He said the liberal evening journal was one of the pillars of the party, but it had withdrawn its help, and fresh vigor must be brought forward to offset the slip in the face.

Mr. Trueman has a very long face. Ald. John McGoldrick was waiting patiently outside to be formally ushered in as the choice of the party, but he will continue to represent St. John's smallest ward.

The South End plot who persisted in asking Mr. Trueman who the candidates were and what they were, made no little commotion, and Floor Manager Milligan gritted his teeth.

Speaking of Mr. Milligan, he and J. Harvey Brown sat close together and led the clapping, stamping and cheering in the rear end of the hall.

yeoman service of a like kind in his end of the building. The silence was so dense at times in the hall that with A. E. MacIntyre, C. J. Milligan and Mr. Brown present one might have thought it was a convention in camera.

Fellow Ernie sat near the footlights drinking in the oratory. It was awful slow for him.

Mr. MacAlpine's violent language was hardly characteristic of that hail-fellow citizen. He had no good word for anybody except Messrs. Pugsley and the other liberal candidates.

The Hon. William was "noble," "loving," "virtuous," "generous," "brave," "cleverest lawyer in Canada." The political end men might have added, in the immortal words of the poet, "grand to be seen."

Mr. Trueman's address was the lamest argument ever put up for any political cause in this city. Mr. MacAlpine's was rather cold humor and Mr. Purdy's intellible and vain repetitions, but credit must be given to Uncle Ned Lantulum for his thirty word wireless despatch. The erstwhile "Boy Candidate," Mr. McKeown, had a bluster all to himself.

VERY SUCCESSFUL CARNIVAL.

Neptune Rowing Club Boys Again to the Front With a Most Creditable Show.

The Neptune Rowing Club carnival at the Victoria Rink last evening was most successful; in fact, it is doubtful if there has been a carnival in this city in recent years that could compare with it.

The attendance was large, but not as large as at some others held this and last seasons. More skaters, prettier costumes and a larger number of combinations made the affair a pronounced success, even if there was not more than sixteen hundred people in attendance.

The combination prize of $25 was won by Fred Brennan, Fred Dunlop and Collin Carmichael; subject, an elephant. It certainly was deserving of the prize and a credit to the originators.

Jack Coffey captured the $10 for the most original subject, a Cock of the Walk.

The prize ($10) for the handsomest costume was given to Miss Nellie Thorne as Sport. A discretionary prize of five dollars was given to the Loch Lomond Curling Club.

The judges were Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Daniel, Mr. and Mrs. G. Fred Fisher and Mrs. A. B. Holly.

MEETINGS.

The annual meeting of the St. John Iron Works was held yesterday, when a satisfactory dividend was declared. The following officers were elected: John E. Moore, president; W. W. White, H. D. Troop, Chas. Miller and James Fowler, directors; Charles McDonald, managing director.

Carpenters' Union No. 919 met in regular session last night. The attendance was good and several new members were initiated. Matters of importance left over on account of Donald Glass' visit, were disposed of. The trade reports were good. A committee will meet the master contractors in Union Hall tonight. Union 919 will meet weekly till further notice on Wednesday at 8 p. m.

The 3rd annual meeting of the Maritime Spice and Coffee Co. was held yesterday afternoon. The directors report was passed and the old board was re-elected as follows: F. L. Flewelling, president; B. W. Thorne, vice pres.; W. L. Hamm, sec.; James R. Woodburn and Geo. E. Day. The directors' report showed a very large increase of business and a handsome surplus on the year's transactions. Larger premiums have been secured in the adjoining building of the Sweeney estate, and new offices will be opened there on May 1st.

MONETON NEWS.

MONETON, Feb. 11.—John Magee, father of Alderman J. S. Magee, died today, aged 77. The deceased was of the party, but it had withdrawn its help, and fresh vigor must be brought forward to offset the slip in the face.

Mr. Trueman has a very long face. Ald. John McGoldrick was waiting patiently outside to be formally ushered in as the choice of the party, but he will continue to represent St. John's smallest ward.

THE LABOR MEETING.

There was a large audience in Labor Hall last evening to hear the addresses of W. V. Todd, Geo. W. McInerney and W. E. Hatway.

Mr. Todd delivered a very interesting address in favor of organization among working men and made a strong plea in favor of the union label. While laborers were producers, they were also consumers, and, as such, could wield a great power by insisting on getting goods bearing the union label. He also argued strongly in favor of public ownership.

Geo. W. McInerney, who was greeted with cheers, stated his position in regard to the present campaign. A delegation from the labor council had asked him if he would accept a nomination as a labor candidate, and he had done so, after stating clearly to the delegates that he was an opponent to the government. He discussed the employers' liability bill and the action of the government with regard to it, which had made the labor council also decide to oppose the government. He was in the light of the request of the laboring man, and if he failed they failed. He assured them that his sympathies were with the laboring classes.

Mr. Hatway discussed the proposed Fort Kent dam over the St. John river, and showed what a ruinous blow it would give to the lumber manufacturing industry at St. John. He pointed out that Hon. Mr. Fugate had bought shares in the company and was therefore associated with a movement which would greatly injure the city of St. John. He also discussed the employers' liability bill and called upon all present to vote the opposition ticket.

At the close of his speech, cheers were given for the candidate and for Mr. Todd.
