Room Given in Brant Avenue Room Last Evening—Success.

Chorus which was followed by a number rendered by a quartette, which was announced reside at Echo Place but upon rigidly cross-examining, Miss Peirce it was learned that the young ladies do not reside in that district and that they were Misses Matthews, Reynolds and Simmons.

"Within a Mile of Edinburgh Town" was rendered by Miss Marjorie Sweet, followed by "Courtin' in Kentucky" rendered by Miss Annabel Ryerson.

"Way Down Upon the Swance River" with guitar accompaniment was rendered by Miss Eva Fisk, Miss Burdick being the accompanist.

A chorus composed of Misses Burdick, Matthews, Simmons, Lampkin, Peirce and Roberts rendered "Comin' Through the Rye."

Misses Louise Jones, Gladys Garvin, Phyllis Reynolds, Essie Middlemiss, Grummett and Mrs. Moutie, attired as little girls, rendered a chorus followed by a chorus, "Three Blind Mice" rendered by another group.

A guitar solo, "Ben Bolt," was given by Miss Burdick.

A minuet was presented by Misses Marjorie and Edith Sweet, Constance Roberts, Louie Kitchen, Hazel Simmons, Beatrice Longstreet and Stephanie Jones and proved to be one of the best numbers.

"Rock a Bye Baby" was very sweetly rendered by Miss Gladys Garvin.

Miss Stephanie Jones demonstrated how so and so renders "Annie Laurie" and she succeeded splendidly.

proved to be one of the hits of the evening.

The chorus rendered, "We Are Nodding," acting as they sang. Soon after "God Save the King" followed and all was over but the congratulations. The affair was decidedly a success and all associated with it are to be congratulated.

CHIEFSHIP TURNS OUT AN INTERESTING AFFAIR

New York Man Inquires Where Chief Johnson of Six Nations is.

The Courier is in receipt of the following interesting letter from Mr. W. S. Pettigrew, of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, who was many years ago in the civil service at Ottawa, and who is an old friend of Professor Bell and acted for him as agent in the province of the first Bell telephone in Ottawa, between the Department of Public Works building and Rideau Hall, Lord Dufferin then being Governor-General:

In writing you now, I wish to ask you whether you ever knew Chief of the Six Nations Indian Johnson of your city, who I understand was a descendant of Sir William Johnson, formerly of New York, and of a daughter of Chief Brant who became Lady Johnson. I met Chief Johnson in Ottawa some forty years ago, when he then visited the Canadian capital. He brought with him his chief's buckskin dress with hat and leathers as well as paraphernalia attached. One day he donned himself in his characteristic habiliments, and got his portrait taken.

Undressing, he desired me to assume his Indian dress and pose as a Chief of the Mohawks, naming me Chief Diarmasera. We thus got our individual portraits taken and a number of both struck off. Then the photographer united the photographs and struck off cards containing Chief Johnson and me standing together side by side. We were thus each furnished with about a dozen or so single portrait cards of each person and with about an equal number of double portrait cards.

Kindly let me hear from you as soon as conveniently can be done. W. S. PETTEGREW.

The Chief Johnson referred to in the above letter was Chief G. H. M. Johnson, a well known member of the Six Nations Council who lived at Chiefswood, on the Grand River near Middleport, the historical old place now owned by the surviving daughter, Miss Eva Johnson, Chief Johnson was the father of the gifted Indian poetess and writer, Miss Pauline Johnson, whose lamented death in Vancouver took place last year. He was no relative whatever of Sir William Johnson, at one time Governor of Upper Canada, although Sir William acted as godfather to Chief "Smoke" Johnson, father of Chief G. H. M. Johnson, and gave him the English name of Johnson.

The title of Chief conferred on Mr. Pettigrew by Chief Johnson was of course purely a complimentary one. The Six Nations guard jealously the honor, and it is only conferred by vote of the whole council. His Royal Highness, the Duke of Connaught, the present Governor-General of Canada is one of the few white men who is a full fledged Chief and entitled to sit in the councils of the Six Nations.

"Nonsense," Mary exclaimed soothingly. "There's really nothing at all to be frightened about, my dear child. You mustn't be afraid, Agnes. Mr. Irwin says that General Hastings did not promise to marry you. Of course you understand, my dear, that under no circumstances must you say anything that isn't strictly true and that house. Say, how did you know it was marked?"

"I didn't," Mary replied blandly. "But it was a pretty good guess, wasn't it? Couldn't you see that all he wanted was to get the letters and have us take the marked money? Then, my simple young friend, we would have been arrested very neatly indeed—for blackmail."

"Gee!" she cried. "That would have been fierce! And now?" she questioned apprehensively.

Mary's answer repudiated any possibility of fear.

"And now," she explained contentedly, "he really will go to our lawyer. There he will pay over that same marked money. Then he will get the letters he wants so much. And just because it's a strictly business transaction between two lawyers, with everything done according to legal principles, it's not a crime at all."

meet you in his office at 4 o'clock this afternoon, and, when her suit for damages for breach of promise has been legally settled out of court, you will get the letters. Good afternoon, Mr. Irwin."

The lawyer wheeled and stood staring at the speaker with a certain sheepishness of expression that bore witness to the completeness of his discomfiture. Without a word he walked back to the desk, picked up the money and restored it to the bill case.

"Young woman," he said emphatically, "you ought to have been a lawyer."

And he took his departure, while Mary smiled in triumph and Aggie sat gazing astonished.

"You've darn near broke my heart," she cried, bounding up violently, "letting all that money go out of the if he did not promise to marry you you have no case—none at all. Now, Aggie, tell me. Did General Hastings promise to marry you?"

"Oh, yes—oh, yes, indeed!" Aggie cried falteringly. "And I wish he would. He's such a delightful old gentleman."

MOTHER! IF CHILD'S TONGUE IS COATED

If Cross, Feverish, Constipated, give "California Syrup of Figs."

A laxative to-day saves a sick child to-morrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish; stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," then, don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation, poison, sour bile and fermenting waste, will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is oftentimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your grocer for a 50 cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Don't be fooled.
