Fertilizer

It is hard to make most of the farmers realize that there is a great possibility of them not being able to get what commercial fertilizer they will require this spring. But never the less it is an absolute fact and the wise farmer will take home his fertilizer soon. As if you wait till spring you may not be able to get any. As even now it is very hard to get what you want as transportation is so bad we have only a few more cars of Basic Slag to sell.

THE GREAT PROFESSION

(From the Milwaukee Journal)
To till the earth was a duty God assigned to Adam. To till the soil of the earth is still a duty of the descendants of Adam. Many industries, profession, trades are necessary to civilized life. The tiller of the soil must provide food for us all. Does anyone think the farm work menial? It is not. The good farmer is a skilled laborer. A high degree of intelligence is called for in his work. Scarcely another field gives so much independence, such scope for action if the farmer looks down to turn the soil or free his field from weeds, he looks up at the wide expanse of sky, the sun, the moon and the stars, up to God. There is health of the body, health of the mind in the pure air of the fields. The contact with the earth gives health and strength. A delightful fragrance comes from growing things that gives more pleasure than any perfume which the chemists make. Nature spreads ever changing pictures before his eyes. The farmer who enters on his work with heart and soul attuned to good lives in a purer atmosphere than one engaged in sordid work. He has room for growth and expansion and is fed with food for the soul as well as the body.

HONDURAS SEVERS RELATIONS WITH GERMANY

WASHINGTON, May 16—Honduras has severed diplomatic relations with Germany, according to information received here from the United States.

HUNGER THREATENS

If this Country does not raise a big crop this year, not only will the people of Canada suffer but the Motherland and her Allies will suffer and their military power will be weakened if not destroyed.

Therefore, the real solution of the present war problem comes back to the farm as a foundation upon which our whole rational and international structure must be built and maintained.

The farmers know that they are the last reserves and that the soil on which crops are grown is the strategic ground on which wars are decided. To their care is intrusted the base of supplies.

To enable the farm to do the work two factors are essential. The first is Time. Whatever we are to do must be done at ONCE. Nature waits for no man. The second is Labor. Many farmers cannot plant the acres they would because they cannot get the necessary help.

We would draw the attention of all our readers to the announcements made elsewhere in this issue by the Farm Labor Exchange at Halifax. If you need farm help write the Exchange immediately. If you can spend a few weeks at work on a farm let the Exchange know without delay.

Hunger tightens his grip. The world is waiting for the coming harvest.

About a week ago Chas. Corbitt had a stableful of beef cattle, says the Annapolis Spectator. The butchers could not afford to pay the price wanted, but later he sold them all for more money. Beef cattle, he says, seem to be now exhausted. The price in January was $250 a pair. Today they have gone to $350 and Mr. Corbitt offered this week $375 for a pair of ordinary beef cattle, which was not accepted. This, however, is not the end of it, for it is calculated that it will take five years without eating meat to get the stock back in the country to where it was a year ago. If Mr. Corbitt wanted another stableful of choice cattle he says money could not buy them, as they are not now in the country.

GOLDEN WEDDING AT KINGSTON

On May 11th the 50th anniversary of the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Howell was celebrated at their home at North Kingston. The immediate relatives gathered on that day and gave them a most pleasant surprise. Many tokens of the day were received and the occasion made a most pleasant one in every particular.

THE GLAMOR OF "EFFICIENCY" IS WANING

New York Herald: Vauntings of "German efficiency" filled the world for so many years that at the outbreak of the war the two words were almost synonymous in the popular usage. So assiduously had the Germans advertised Moltke's drawing of a war plan from a hole in his desk in 1870 that the world jumped to the conclusion that Teutons were supermen, that they were omniscient, that they would make no mistakes and that the "Made in Germany" brand indicated a perfection unattainable by folk of any other race or age. The material success of the nation just emerged from the cocoon of medievalism, which other peoples had thrown off centuries before, blinded the eyes of the onlookers, and thus the outer world came to believe that the Kaiser and his people constituted a machine superlatively perfect and in every phase of human activity.

Almost every day since the outbreak of the war has brought evidence that German "efficiency" is counterfeit, that the "machine" is full of flaws, that the great illusion is being dispelled. If Germany had been truly efficient she would have provided against the starvation of her people today. If her army had been efficient it would have had unprepared Europe conquered two years ago. If her only original ideas, Zeppelins and poison gas, had been developed with efficiency at all the capitals of her enemies would be in ruins and all the allies' armies passing under the yoke. If her diplomats had been efficient her war would have been confined to the Continent and Italy would be on her side. If her Papens and Boy-Eds had been efficient their plots in India, South Africa, Canada and elsewhere would have shown some results for the millions expended. If her government were efficient there would be no riotous Reichstag meetings in these critical days, and there would be no Belgian white slavery, no Lusitania horrors, no ravishing of Northern France to make the very name German anathema for generations after the war.

One of the golden scales have fallen off the German idol "Efficiency," until today only the effectiveness of her submarines remains to be demolished. All the other links in the chains with which she was to enslave the world have been proved less efficient than those of the nations that formerly stood in awe of the painted, tasselled, noisy Juggernaut that was to crash first through Europe and then to enslave its crafty driver as a Colossus of the world. Efficiency of the German kind may be able to turn human beings into a machine, but proof is multiplying that such a machine is nothing but a machine and that it falls to pieces when, as Mr. Viviani expressed it, "all the forces of freedom are let loose" against it.

ALL AID FOR THE RUSSIAN ARMIES

NEW YORK, May 13—An Associated Press despatch from Washington this afternoon says:

All available American ships, the seized German liners and all the ships Great Britain can spare from her own needs, probably will soon be carrying war munitions and great quantities of railroad supplies to Russia.

As part of the united effort to hold fast the Russian Provisional Government against German influences, and encouraging a Russian military offensive, the Allied war committees are making preparation to furnish the necessary transportation for supplies to properly equip and maintain the Russian armies.

Studebakers for London

When the London, Ontario, Fire and Police Departments wanted motor car equipment that could be counted upon for plenty of power and motoring efficiency, but economical in operation, they chose Studebaker cars.

They made an exhaustive investigation of the leading makes of American and Canadian cars. Their selection of Studebaker—the foremost Made-in-Canada car—came only after a comparative test of the relative merits of each make.

The Studebaker is economical in operation, due to its splendid quality, reducing maintenance costs to a minimum. In ratio to power the Studebaker is one of the most economical cars on the market in its consumption of gasoline.

If economy, as well as power, is a consideration with you, too, follow the example of the London officials and thousands of other motor-buyers.

Let us show you the Studebaker's splendid power and easy-riding comfort.
