NOTICE.

When a newspaper offers its advertising space at a nominal figure, it is a practical admission of "no circulation." THE KLONDIKE NUGGET asks a good Agure for its space and in justification thereof warantees to its advertisers a paid circulation five times that of any other paper published between Juncau and the North Pole.

SUNDAY. MARCH 31, 1901.

From Saturday's Daily. HOME CAPITAL.

British capital is not looking to the Klondike for investment. There are a number of very good reasons why this condition prevails, several of which are set forth in an interview with Mr. J. J. McLaren in another column of this paper. London is removed a long distance from Dawson, and the situation with respect to the mining industry in this territory is not well understood. Very few of the highly capitalized concerns which have devoted themselves exclusively to the mining industry have paid dividends owing to reasons well explained in the interview to which allusion is made above. In a number of cases the properties owned by such companies were purchased in London and without accurate information as to their nature. Naturally the prices paid were higher than would have been the case, had the properites been purchased by experts on the ground.

which is absolutely right and just. If ever there was a laborer who is worthy of his hire, it is the man who toils in the shafts and drifts of a Klondike mining claim. Before final passage, however, the measure should be given the very closest attention. Care must be taken that in zeal for securing adequate protection to the laborer, the rights of others who may be affected, shall not be infringed. The ordinance should be scrutinized with the utmost care and its merits weighed from every standpoint. In this connection the Nugget invites correspondence from all who may be interested either on one side or the other. The lien law is one of the most important matters of legislation which the council has undertaken to enact. Before final action is taken, free and full discussion should be given to it.

March made its debut with anything but a display of lamblike qualities. It appears that its departure is to be made under very similar conditions. Thus it omes about that the Klondike is to go on record again as a smasher of prece-

It is apparent, therefore, that capital for further development of the resources of the territory must be sought elsewhere than from England's safe deposit vaults. In our judgment such capital as is required should be found among the men who have made their money in the Yukon territory. The output for the approaching summer will, according to the best opinion obtainable, equal if not exceed that of any previous year. The larger proportion, of course, will go for payment of expenses but still there will be many a claim owner at the close of the cleanup season with a comfortable balance left classes of Mexicans have abandoned the price?" to his credit.

These are the men who should and long ago our ideas on clothes, though doubtless will, furnish the sinews of war necessary for further development of the territory.
