

Stay on the Farm.

The following views are from a Pennsylvania paper and are worthy of consideration by all.

The farmer's life is mixed with toil and pleasure. There is always work to be done on the farm—a gate to mend, a fence to reset, an ox in the ditch, a broken door to repair, a garden to plough, a tank to build, a crop to plant, a crop to cultivate, a crop to gather, and a thousand other things to keep the active brain and willing hands and feet employed.

Grapes and Vocal Culture.

A vocal teacher who gets $5 for twenty-minute lessons is most conscientious in prescribing for the physical welfare of her pupils. Here is her theory:

An Ingenious Printer.

It requires a great deal of ingenuity to become a successful printer. Boys with printing-presses and ambitious to develop into great printers should remember this and exercise their inventive qualities at every opportunity.

Care of Milk.

The greatest care should be taken to keep milk where the air is free from odors. Milk is very absorptive, and when confined in cells kept close to exclude heat it soon develops an active poison called tyrotoxin.

Tommy—"Why, do you always make the picture of Father Time so lean?" Mr. Figg—"So he will represent spare time, of course."

The Difference.

The fruit of the vine was made by God and it is always good; the intoxicating wine is made by man, and it is bad.

The fruit of the vine is perfect and nutritious; the intoxicating wine is imperfect and very unwholesome.

The fruit of the vine is the wine of God; the intoxicating wine is the wine of man.

The fruit of the vine has always been a blessing; the intoxicating wine has, been, is, and will be a fearful curse.

The fruit of the vine is convertible into blood, flesh and bone; the intoxicating wine is convertible into neither.

The fruit of the vine is cheap and safe; the intoxicating wine is dear and dangerous.

The fruit of the vine is the wine which wisdom has mingled; the intoxicating wine is a man-made mixture.

The fruit of the vine is proved by analysis to be good; the intoxicating wine by the same means is proved to be not good.

The fruit of the vine never creates thirst; the intoxicating wine does.

The fruit of the vine contains not one drop of alcohol; the intoxicating wine is very alcoholic.

The fruit of the vine is a blessing; the intoxicating wine is a mocker.

The fruit of the vine has never injured any church; the intoxicating wine has injured many.

The fruit of the vine is the emblem of the Saviour's shed blood; the intoxicating wine bites like a serpent, and stings like an adder.

The fruit of the vine has a history of peace and joy and gladness; the intoxicating wine has a history of war and death and madness.

Hawker's Nerve and Stomach Tonic, with a course also of Hawker's Pills, will excite every organ of the body to healthy action and afford the surest safeguard against disease.

A man after gazing at a photograph of the Three Graces, exclaimed: "What fools women are! Those girls have not got to me yet enough to buy themselves clothes, yet they spend what little they have in getting their photographs taken."

He Was Convinced.

A man in Nova Scotia was in doubt as to the genuineness of the reported cure of Mrs Bernard Maguire and ex-Councillor Lingley of Peterborough, Queens Co., by a course of Hawker's Nerve and Stomach Tonic and Hawker's Liver Pills. He wrote to Spire Lingley, and that gentleman promptly assured him that the testimonials were genuine.

The feeling of superiority in the sterner sex is inborn. "Memmo, do you think you will go to heaven?" said Jack thoughtfully looking into his mother's face.

"Yes, dear, if I'm good," said the little mother cautiously, wondering what would come next. "Then please be good for papa and I would be so lonesome without you."

C. C. RICHARDS & Co.

Gentlemen.—For years I have been troubled with scrofulous sores upon my face. I have spent hundreds of dollars trying to effect a cure without any result. I am happy to say one bottle of MINARD'S LINIMENT entirely cured me and I can heartily recommend it to all who are afflicted with the disease.

Bayfield, Ont. ROSALD CLIXELL.

A very common practice among the hawks of this country is to follow close in the track of a railroad train, flying low down near the ground. The small birds along the line, startled by the roar of the train, fly up in clouds, and the hawk takes his pick of the fattest of the lot. The little birds are so alarmed by the noise of the train that they do not see the hawk, and before they can get away he has replenished his lair.

The fact has often been observed by persons living along the lines of railroads, and is a singular illustration of the faculty of adaptation possessed by animals that are forced to live by their wits.
