THE GLOBE AND THE TRANSCONTINENTAL.

The St. John Globe, which is pretty generally admitted to have a sneaking preference for American interests even at the expense of things Canadian, cannot see that any useful purpose is to be served by the discussion in Parliament on the Government's connection with the route of the Transcontinental Railway. Our contemporary, in its wisdom, thinks that no reference should be made to the Government breaking faith with the people, because the Cabinet might take offence and make the breach the greater. It deprecates any reference to the fact that the surveys of both the Valley and the so-called Central routes have been made to give a longer line than the Intercolonial, notwithstanding Sir Wilfrid Laurier's pledge to the country that the surveys would make it 140 miles shorter. Such reference might further aggravate the Government, and lead them to abandon the whole business from Quebec east. It is a waste of time to argue either pro or con on the matter, says The Globe, because the whole thing will be left to the judgment of the engineers, notwithstanding the provisions of the statute; and Mr. Carvell, Liberal of Carleton, says the engineers are unreasonable partisans. If there is any point in the argument of our contemporary it is in its reflection upon the Government to which The Globe gives a tame support in all things. The people must not insist that their rights be respected, because to do so might possibly aggravate the members of the Government. If this is accepted Liberal doctrine our contemporary is certainly letting a good deal of light, perhaps innocently, into the inner circle.

If the line is not to be run by the St. John Valley it serves the people right, adds our contemporary in effect. The people by electing Conservative members said they did not want it by the Valley. The people of St. John said that they did not want it. The Globe is sadly in error. The Conservatives of St. John did not say they did not want the Transcontinental by the St. John Valley. They said they did not want Mr. Richard O'Brien to represent them. The Conservatives advocated the line by the St. John route. Mr. Fowler, M. P. for Kings, moved as an amendment in the last Parliament, that the line be run by the St. John Valley direct to St. John, the natural national winter port of Canada, a route which would have shortened the distance over all others. The Liberal party, including a representative of St. John we believe, voted against this amendment and in favor of the route favored by Nova Scotia. The Liberal party in St. John supported the Government in its adherence to the Central route. And as for York, Mr. Gibson our then member, also voted against the Valley route and supported the Government through thick and thin in its opposition to St. John interests. The singular argument of the Globe is therefore without force in any event. It is without fact to support it; and it is devoid of reason in the suggestion. As a matter of fact, Mr. Carvell was the only Liberal candidate in the Province who advocated the adoption of the St. John Valley route. His country is as deeply interested as any other; yet, if The Globe's argument should happen to pass, for anything, he is to be the most severely spanked of the

INTERESTING LETTER

WRITTEN BY A NOTABLE WOMAN

Mrs. Sarah Kellogg of Denver, Color Bearer of the Woman's Relief Corps, Sends thanks to Mrs. Pinkham.

The following letter was written by Mrs. Kellogg, of 1628 Lincoln Ave., Denver, Colo., to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.: Dear Mrs. Pinkham: For five years I was troubled with a tumor which kept growing, causing me intense agony and great mental depression. I was unable to attend to my house work, and life became a burden to me. I was confined for days to my bed, lost my appetite, my courage and all hope. I could not bear to think of an operation, and in my distress I tried every remedy which I thought would be of any use to me, and reading of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to sick women decided to give it a trial. I felt so discouraged that I had little hope of recovery, and when I began to feel better, after the second week, thought it only meant temporary relief; but to my great surprise I found that I kept gaining, while the tumor lessened in size. The Compound continued to build up my general health and the tumor seemed to be absorbed, until, in seven months, the tumor was entirely gone and I a well woman. I am so thankful for my recovery that I ask you to publish my letter in newspapers, so other women may know of the wonderful curative powers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

When women are troubled with irregular or painful periods, weakness, displacements or operation of the female organs, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation, backache, flatulence, general debility, indigestion and nervous prostration, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which once removes such trouble. No other medicine in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles. Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She is daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years under her direction and since her decease has been advising sick women free of charge. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass. Remember that it is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that is curing women, and don't allow any druggist to sell you anything else in its place.

representatives from New Brunswick. It may be as The Globe suggests that no amount of talk can help the situation in the slightest degree. Apparently that was the case from beginning. But Sir Wilfrid Laurier expressed a wish some months ago to hear further deputations from New Brunswick on the subject. They proceeded to Ottawa at his request, and at the expense of the taxpayers of the Cities and Counties interested. It is not pleasant to be told now that Sir Wilfrid was even then trifling with the people. And it is scarcely decent to find The Globe applauding its leader in all this deception, notwithstanding its sympathy with the interests of Portland, Maine, and its connexions.

ANOTHER SUBTERFUGE.

When Rutherford B. Hayes was unjustly seated in the Presidential chair of the United States over Samuel J. Tilden, the Supreme Court of that country dealt itself a blow from which it took long to recover.

The Government of Canada is now giving indications that it is anxious to have the people of this country in the same way overridden by the highest tribunal in the land in respect of the exparte facto interpretation of the acts creating the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan. The Supreme Court is to be asked to interpret an act which has been considered by such able jurists as the late Christopher Robinson, R. L. Borden, Frederick Monk, and Hon. F. W. G. Haultain to be absolutely at variance with the spirit of the British North America Act.

The validity of the acts incorporating the two new provinces is to be tested by an appeal to the Supreme Court. The friends of autonomy will not be intimidated or coerced by any legislative measure which may be passed by the government majority in the Canadian parliament. An appeal can be made to the Imperial Privy Council, and there is no reason for thinking that such an appeal will not be made. The attempt to drive the people of Alberta and Saskatchewan along a given path will never be successful. If may win temporarily, but it cannot continue to escape the censure of the Canadians who are most vitally interested. All of the political subterfuges that can be resorted to will not suffice to satisfy the voters of the two provinces affected that they have been given honest treatment. There may be a period of quiescence, but the demand for genuine autonomy will be insistent, and cannot be disregarded by any government at Ottawa.
