So certhat all the sophistries of Sir Louis tain is the organ that the Govern-Davies and the other Grit orators | ment candidates are to be defeated are powerless to stem the adverse torrent of public feeling. Hence they plainly see that a supreme effort must be made to carry the elections; consequently they have recourse to the usual tactics of Gritism, in desperate cases, viz., boodle. They undertake to bribe the people, if possible, with their own money. Jobs on the roads and bridges are given out with a lavish hand. What a nice time of year this is to repair the roads; what great benefit will accrue from money paid out for road making just now! The most bare faced and scandalous corruption is attempted in this direction, as is evidenced from the followas is evidenced from the following petition circulated for signathe money paid the 30 men for that occasion, as they all know to mixing up the mud and snow, their cost. It appears that Premier Farquiarson incimated at a public meeting at Wood Islands a few days ago, that it was the policy of the Government to borrow more money omdebentures. This is the Government's method of making revenue and expenditure meet, by increasing the public debt and adding to the annual interest. Surely $600.000 is a sum quite sufficient to have saddled on the Province, by our Girtrulers, and it requires the most brazen faced efforntry to further insult the people by telling them that this enormous debt is to be increased. THE WAR!

At Belmont, Cape Colony, some score of miles from Kimberly, Gen. Lord Methuen's flying relief column has had a bloody but most successful fight. Lord Methuen, on the 23rd, telegraphs:—

this morning in a strong position on three ridges, which was carried successfully, the last attack being prepared by shrapnel The infantry behaved splendidly, and received support from the Naval brigade and artillery. The enemy fought with courage and skill. Had I attacked later I should have had severe losses. The victory was complete. I have 40 prisoners. I am burying a good number of Boers, but the greater part of the killed and wounded were taken away by their omrades. I have a large number of was three officers and 35 men killed, 22 officers and 120 men wounded and 18 men

STORY OF THE FIGHT.

The entire western troops moved on the Orange River Thursday morning-two npanies of mounted infantry and a dechment of Lancers, who were sent to hold a farm. Their pickets prevented Beers from advancing. The Boers ired cannon and the British artillery arrived on the scene and silenced the Boers fire. At two in the morning the Guards brigade moved steadily forward to a hill a few miles east of Belmont station. The Scots and Grenadiers advanced to within fifty yards of the base, when the Boers poured in a scathing fire, which staggered he Guards momentarily, but quickly reovering, they returned a deadly fire into the Boers. The duel was continued for half an hour. When the artillery commenced the Boers evacuated their front position and the Scots Guards rushed the hill with the bayonet and amid lusty

The 9th Brigade then moved forward in extended order, and the Boers started a terrible cross fire from the surrounding hills. The Coldstreams supported by the Scots, Grenadiers, Nothumberlands and Northamptons, stormed the second position in the face of a constant and effective Boer fire. The 9th brigade then advanced the artillery in the meantime, maintain ing excellent practise. The British infan try never wavered, and when a tremenlous cheer notified them of a charge, the Boers fled and succeeded in gaining a cange of hills in the rear, in spite of the ncers flanking movement. The infantry age in gallantly faced the ire, and the N val brigade came into acion for the first time at a range of 1,800 yards. The infantry was well supported by the artillery, and the Boers, unable to stand the death-dealing voiley, retired their second position, whereupon Lieut. Wilcox, of the Coldstream Guards, went orward and was immediately shot down. The Boers twice repeated the same tactics This was the first great battle fought on Uape soil, and the victory would have been much more decisive if the British had had more cavalry. Gen. Methuen ordered the burial of the Boer dead found by the British, The wounded were well THE WHITE FLAG TREACHERY. Further despatches from Belmont, con firming the treacherous use by Boers of the white flag, are arousing indignation

Che troops engaged are bitterly complaining, and it is feared the result will be the refusal to give the Boers quarter. Gen. W thuen has sent a message to the Boer commander saying: "I must ask you to ers. I must warn you not to use the lum-dum bullets nor use the flag of truce treacherously. Such action is cowardly a the extreme an l I cannot countenance All accounts confirm a splendid charging of the British infantry, the Scots entering the fight with drums beating and fifes playing. The second ridge was the strongest position. The Boers were shelered behind ramparts of bonders. Nevertheless the Guards advanced steadily
