"Why don't you try to invent an airship?" Thomas Alva Edison was asked recently.

"Why don't I try?" responded Mr. Edison. "Why, I did try thirty years ago. I looked into it from every side. We knew then the principles of gliding just as you have them now, but we didn't have an internal combustion engine."

Speaking on his rules of life the great inventor said:

"With my system of living I expect to live 150 years."

"My system is based on proper living, sleeping and clothing."

"I am in bed six hours, all of it good, solid sleep. It's enough."

Special Evening Telegram.

LONDON, Aug. 20.
A great wave of relief swept over the country last night, when shortly after eleven the announcement was made from the Board of Trade offices that the Railway strike had been settled, and that the men would return to work immediately. Telegrams were quickly despatched to all the important railway towns, bearing the information, and crossed in transit messages to London describing strike riots in Llanelli and other of the small towns in the Kingdom. Most of the credit for the settlement rests on the shoulders of David Lloyd George, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, who, in his statements in parliament, and in interviews with managers and men worked for conciliation, when all the other interested parties seemed to have given up all hope. A joint committee of five members, composed of two representatives of the railway companies, two of the members of the unions, and a non-partisan chairman, will be appointed on Tuesday to investigate the workings of the Conciliation Act of 1907, which the men claim is at the root of all their grievances. This device overcomes the men's objections to a Royal Commission, which they contend has always been in practice a synonym for delay. So far as there is any technical advantage in the compromise, it appears to be in favor of the men.

Harbor Grace Notes.

During yesterday's high wind a schooner owned by Mr. Stewart, of Bell Island, and waiting here to go on the ship, drifted from her anchorage and went down across the Point of Beach. She fortunately went in on a sand bank and was floated off without much damage.

The ladies of St. Andrew's Church are arranging for a garden party to take place on Thursday, Aug. 31st, at the beautiful grounds of Donnelly Hall, kindly offered by Mrs. Archibald. The garden party will no doubt be a very enjoyable affair.

The whaler Port Saunders captured another whale this week, and to-day with the westerly wind our citizens are reaping the only benefit Harbor Grace gets from this factory—a most offensive odor—if such can be called a benefit.

The s.s. Solway arrived here at 10.30 on Thursday night, and after a short delay continued her trip to Labrador.

Miss Annie Murphy, of St. John's who spent a couple of weeks here with friends, left for home on Thursday. Miss Gertie Murphy, also of St. John's, will remain a few days longer and take in our Regatta.

Wednesday next will be a good day to visit Harbor Grace. Our annual Regatta will take place, and as probably six or seven boats will contest the different races, most interesting contests may be expected. Mr. H. F. Shortis, on account of his long connection with Harbor Grace, was at a recent meeting of the committee elected an honorary member. Mr. Shortis is enjoying his trip and will be able to give your St. John's people some tips as to how races should be conducted when he returns.

To-day being Regatta Day on Bell Island, a number of our people are home, preferring a day at home to staying on the Island and seeing the races.

The funeral of the late Master Stephen Foley took place on Thursday afternoon and was attended by a large number of citizens, as well as by the C. C. C., of which he was a member. CORRESPONDENT.

Groceries Stolen From a Torbay Man

Richard Carroll had a parcel of groceries stolen from his wagon Saturday evening while he was visiting a provision store nearby. He vowed he would not go to his home in Torbay till he found the thief. He told his tale to Sgt. Savage, and about an hour afterwards a man named William Carey was brought before him for identification. "That's the man," said Carroll. "He was standing near my carriage when I went into the shop." Some of the missing property was found on Carey, who it appears was released from the Penitentiary a few days ago, having served more than one term for larceny.
