Well Done, Australia!

Australia has just offered another infantry brigade of 4,500 men to the Imperial authorities. This is in addition to her offer of 10,000 men in April last, and the 60,000 men she has already at the front. She is experiencing difficulties, but it is not in the supply of men who have offered at the rate of 500 a day, but in clothing and equipping them. For a Colony with a population of less than 5,000,000 she is doing well, and setting a good pace for Canada to follow. Another good point about her recruiting is that 80 per cent of the men are native born. But like all the Colonies her contribution of men are much below the proportion of men supplied by the British Isles, reckoned on the basis of population.

The Sketch Portrait and the Semi-tint Sketch are the most up-to-date in Artistic Portraiture. See specimens in the vestibule at S. H. PARSONS & SONS, Photographers, corner of Water & Prescott Sts. A good selection of Mouldings for framing these and other pictures in stock.—jun12,3i,eod

Supreme Court.

(Before Full Bench.)
The King vs. Frederick Edward Day, alias Dewey Day.—This is an indictment for the murder of one Edward Spears, aged 12 years, who was shot on the evening of May 19th, and who died on the evening of June 1st. The Attorney General appears for the Crown; W. J. Higgins for the accused. The following jury are sworn: M. J. Nolan, John Marshall, Frederick Angel, James R. Chalker, William J. Sinnott, James Branscombe, William Parsons, George Snow, Thomas Thistle, Nicholas Kennedy, Levi Chafe and Edward Neary.
The Attorney General states the case for the Crown. The first witness called was Henry Sawyers, of 20 Colonial Street, a boy 13 years old. He stated that he was playing near the Highlanders' Armoury on the evening of May 19th. With him were Edward Spears, the deceased; Charlie Spears, Fred Crowe and Nicholas Murphy. The witness and Fred Crowe went into the Armoury on the evening in question. Witness was ordered out. He did not go whereupon the prisoner pushed him out the door. Witness then threw a stone at the door. The prisoner called the prisoner names. Witness heard the report of a gun and saw the boy Spears lying on his back and bleeding from the forehead. Witness stated that the gun was pointed towards the boys at the time of the shooting. He saw Edward Spears stagger for a little while before he fell.
Upon being cross-examined by Higgins, Counsel for the accused, witness stated that he used to go to the Highlanders' Armoury often to see his brother drilling. He knew that the prisoner was working there, but did not know that he had charge of the place. Upon re-examination by the Counsel for the prosecution, witness stated that he had heard Edward Spears call the prisoner names.
The next witness was James J. Vey, photographer. He stated that he had gone to the place at the request of Inspector General Sullivan, who also accompanied him, and had taken photographs of the surroundings. Several photographs were then produced, identified by the witness, and some of them were put in as evidence.
The next witness to be called was Charles Spears, 13 years old, cousin of the deceased, who lived with him and called him his brother. He was playing near the Armoury on the evening of May 19th, with Edward Spears, the deceased, Fred Crowe, Henry Sawyers and Nicholas Murphy. He saw Henry Sawyers and Fred Crowe enter the Armoury. He saw the boy Sawyers being put out by the prisoner. He saw the prisoner in the window later, saw him point the gun and heard the report. Witness examined the photographs and recognized the place.
Upon cross-examination by Higgins, witness said that he knew no particular reason why the prisoner should be on his terms with the deceased.
Upon re-examination by the Attorney General, he stated that he heard Edward Spears sing out "Can't lose" to the prisoner, after he had told the boys to go away.
Fred Crowe, 16 years old, was the next witness. He stated that he and Henry Sawyers went into the Armoury on the evening in question. Sawyers was ordered out by the prisoner; he was told he could remain. Sawyers would not go, but the prisoner put him out. Witness then was sent on a message for one of the volunteers, and when he came back the boy Spears had been shot.
The next witness was Ambrose Noseworthy, of 87 King's Road. Witness said he lived opposite the Armoury. About 7 o'clock on the evening of May 19th, he looked out of the window and saw the prisoner leaning out the second window of the Armoury with a gun in his hands. The prisoner was pointing the gun down the street. He noticed how the prisoner held the gun in front of him, with the stock toward the muscle of the right arm. He illustrated the position for the court. He stated that the boy did not have his head or eye on the sight of the gun. He heard the report, and on looking down the street saw the boy Spears lying on his back. He put on his boots and hurried over. He found the child bleeding from the forehead, and thought that he was dying. Witness with some others who had rushed to the scene took the boy into the Armoury. Witness then went for a doctor. He summoned Dr. Knight who, upon examining the boy first suggested calling the ambulance, but later took the child into his motor car and drove him to the hospital.
The next witness was John Noseworthy, son of the former witness, who lives at 87 King's Road. He visited the scene after the shooting, and knew nothing of what had taken place previously.
Priscilla Greene was the next witness sworn. She lived at 85 King's Road, opposite the Armoury. She saw Dewey Day late in the afternoon, firing at crows. She also saw him get a key and go into the Armoury about 7.30 p.m. Witness saw him open the window. He fired once at pieces of pot on the street.
Court takes recess till 2.30 p.m.

Private Edward Dwyer (10532), 1st Battalion, The East Surrey Regiment, for most conspicuous bravery and devotion to duty at "Hill 60," on April 20. When his trench was heavily attacked by the German grenade throwers he climbed on to the parapet, and, although subjected to a hail of bombs at close quarters, succeeded in dispersing the enemy by the effective use of his hand grenades. Private Dwyer displayed great gallantry earlier on this day in leaving his trench, under heavy shell fire, to bandage his wounded comrades.

Private Robert Morrow (10531), 1st Battalion, Princess Victoria's (Royal Irish Fusiliers), for most conspicuous bravery near Messines, on April 12, when he rescued and carried successfully to places of comparative safety several men who had been buried in the debris of trenches wrecked by shell fire. Private Morrow carried out this gallant work on his own initiative and under very heavy fire from the enemy.

Since 1907, Barmen, Germany, a city of 172,000 inhabitants, has used an incinerator for disposing of its garbage, including not only kitchen waste, but rags, paper, old clothing, and other refuse of a great city. An account by Vice-Consul Julius Paster states that the plant has given excellent satisfaction, and has not only removed the useless material in a sanitary way, but has yielded two products of value—a good quality of sand for bricks and building purposes, and a supply of electricity. After burning for an hour in the furnaces, the refuse is reduced to slag, which is broken and ground into the sand of various grades. The gases from the burning, with a temperature of 1200 deg. to 1500 deg. C, pass to two boilers, and generate steam for a 600 h.p. turbine, with an axle directly connected to that of a 400 kilowatt dynamo. The electric current is sold for less than one cent per kilowatt hour to the municipal electric works, by which it is retailed to the public at two and three-fourth cents. The furnaces dispose of about 22,000 tons of garbage annually, and this supplies 11,000 tons of slag or clinkers and 1,700,000 kilowatt hours of electricity.

HOUSEHOLD NOTES.
As groceries are put away they should be checked up to see that everything came in good condition. Hens' nests should be kept as carefully clean as a canary bird's cage. Work in the garden is better for health and complexion than almost any medicine. Don't forget to see that the locks of drawers and wardrobe cupboards are in good condition. If impossible to pay ready money, settle your bills promptly at the end of every week.

HOUSEHOLD NOTES.
Salt in whitewash makes it stick. Laundry bags of Turkish towelings are excellent. Don't buy cheap bedding, or your money will be wasted. Green peas with dumplings make an agreeable summer dish. Study the markets and buy things which are in season. Don't have a dado or use large-patterned wall-papers in a low-ceilinged room. Lemon juice is a powerful germicide, and rich in organic salts. Many vegetables can be canned as easily as fruits for winter use. Do your own marketing if possible; no one else will do it so well. The good housewife plans to lessen her work during the summer time. Never keep goods in paper parcels; store everything in jars and tins.

Five New V.C.'s.

Posthumous Honor for Brave Airman, who Died from Wounds Received During the Flight.

The King has awarded the Victoria Cross to two officers and three men serving with the Expeditionary Force "for their conspicuous acts of bravery and devotion to duty." Two of the awards are for deeds of heroism on "Hill 60."

Second Lieutenant W. B. Rhodes-Morehouse, of the Royal Flying Corps, has not lived to receive the honor bestowed upon him, for he died of wounds received during the flight which gained for him the coveted distinction.

The recipients of the medal are as follows:

Second Lieutenant William Barnard Rhodes-Morehouse, Special Reserve, Royal Flying Corps. For most conspicuous bravery on April 26, in flying to Courtrai and dropping bombs on the railway line near that station. On starting the return journey he was mortally wounded, but succeeded in flying for 35 miles to his destination, at a very low altitude, and reported his successful accomplishment of his object. He has since died of his wounds.

Second Lieutenant Geoffrey Harold Woolley, 9th (County of London) Battalion, The London Regiment (Queen Victoria's Rifles), Territorial Force. For most conspicuous bravery on "Hill 60," during the night of April 20-21. Although the only officer on the hill at the time, he successfully resisted all attacks on his trench, and continued throwing bombs and encouraging his men till relieved. His trench during all this time was being heavily shelled and bombed, and was subjected to heavy machine gun fire by the enemy.

Corporal William Anderson (8191) 2nd Battalion, Alexandra, Princess of Wales' Own (Yorkshire Regiment). For most conspicuous bravery at Neuve Chapelle on March 12, when he led three men with bombs against a large party of the enemy who had entered our trenches, and by his prompt and determined action saved, what might otherwise have become, a serious situation. Corporal Anderson first threw his own bombs, then those in possession of his three men (who had been wounded) amongst the Germans, after which he opened rapid fire upon them with great effect notwithstanding that he was at the time quite alone.

Private Edward Dwyer (10532), 1st Battalion, The East Surrey Regiment, for most conspicuous bravery and devotion to duty at "Hill 60," on April 20. When his trench was heavily attacked by the German grenade throwers he climbed on to the parapet, and, although subjected to a hail of bombs at close quarters, succeeded in dispersing the enemy by the effective use of his hand grenades.
