Mr. Coaker Draws Blank.

The amazing spectacle of whole body of men making themselves laughing stocks for the whole island, has occurred at Port Union, where the Fishermen's Protective Union, Supreme Council, in solemn conclave assembled passed a large series of resolutions, rash and verely censuring a clergyman of Bonavista district for writing a letter to which he did not at all set his hand, nor had he any thing to do with either the authorship or dictation. There is a strong inuendo in these resolutions framed by Mr. Coaker and accepted by his servile followers, and if the clerical gentleman so insanely, maliciously and falsely accused of being the writer of the letter signed "Anglican." which appeared in the columns of the Telegram recently, does not take measures to protect his high calling and personality, it will appear passing strange to those who know the identity of him who is aimed at in the resolution in these words. "Be it resolved that this meeting of the delegates of the F.P.U. Councils in Bonavista District, severely condemns and censures the clergyman who wrote that neferious letter, and further, that he should be invited to attend more attentively to the duties of his calling and cease his work as

It will be noticed that only the potent, grave and euridite signiors of Bonavista District signed this resolution; and so cocksure were they of having discovered the identity of "Anglican" that they hesitated not a moment in making a most uncalled for and offensive attack genial District Judge was born in St. Morris this morning with attempted on a Minister of the Church. The powers that may be used against him is beginning to fill the heart of Mr. Coaker, Why are resolutions pledging allegiance so necessary? Is not the word of the members of the F.P.U. equally as binding as their oaths? Bonavista Councils will stand by Coaker, they claim, Assuredly they will, until it suits their own good time to cast him off. Then they, with others, will be demanding that he walk the plank.
