APARTMENT HOUSE FOR VICTORIA IS ASSURED

Promoters Meeting With Success
 In Floating Stock of the Company

The organization of the company having the new apartment house in hand is proceeding apace. There have been many applications for stock and the success of the enterprise is assured. The provisional board of directors is composed of the following: Joshua Klugman, W. H. Parsons, H. A. Bulwer, J. A. Hinton, and S. Johns. The plans for the new building have been prepared by F. M. Eastenbury and present a very attractive appearance. The building will occupy a space about 120 feet square and will be surrounded by well laid out gardens and tennis courts. There will be in all about sixty-five suites of rooms in the building, running from one large room and a bath to five rooms and a bath.

Never has the need for such an enterprise been so felt as at the present time. People desirous of obtaining accommodation for a small family have been unable to secure dwellings suitable. The supply of the smaller class of houses is about exhausted. Recently applications have been received by the provincial government, the mayor and the secretary of the tourist association for assistance in obtaining accommodation of this kind but all have been unable to do much for the applicants. Furnished flats will meet the needs of the many visitors from the east and middle west who come here with the intention of spending a number of months but who do not care to remain the entire time in a boarding house or hotel.

According to the plans which appear on another page, the building will present an attractive appearance, the face of the walls being broken frequently by bow windows. A covered colonnade with a broad flight of steps leading up to it forms the entrance.

WILL NOT SEND FRUIT TO THE SUMMER FAIRS

Provincial Government Will Leave This to Enterprise of Districts

The provincial government has decided that the summer fairs held in Winnipeg and other central points of the prairie provinces do not this year afford an advantageous opportunity for an exhibition of British Columbia fruit, and, therefore, no exhibits will be officially sent. The reason for this is the lateness of the season, which has prevented the fruit from maturing as early as usual, with the result that the dates of these fairs are too early for plums, pears, peaches and apples, which means that cherries are the only ripe fruit with which to make a display indicative of what can be done in British Columbia soil.

This province will, however, be represented at the summer fairs, the districts of Victoria and Kootenay having undertaken to furnish exhibits of their own accounts. The provincial government will reserve its energy for the fall fairs when the most creditable exhibits procurable will be collected and shown to the best advantage.

Will Reside Here
 John Dilworth, a ranch owner in the Kelowna district, who recently purchased some valuable farm property at Gordon Head, and a home in Victoria returned to the city Friday evening, accompanied by his son, prepared to take up his permanent residence here. Mr. Dilworth retains considerable interest in Kelowna, and will visit that district occasionally.

HAS DIFFERENT TALE TO TELL OF TROUBLE

Prisoner in Greek Assault Case Says He Was the Victim

With his head bandaged, and a slightly sort of smile coming and going over his pale face, V. Steenestere, the Greek fruit and candy merchant, who on Thursday night was felled to the floor of the Regent Saloon by a blow with a cudgel, was the most conspicuous figure in the prisoner's dock in Magistrate Hall's court Friday morning.

B. Marmas, also a Greek, the man who inflicted the punishment, sat outside the dock and looked the part of a hero eager for an opportunity to appear in the limelight.

There was an unusually large gathering in the auditorium of the court room, but deferred entertainment was its only reward. Neither the accused or his accuser were represented by counsel and the limitations of their knowledge of English made it impossible for the chief justice to shape a case for presentation to the court. Both parties were advised to secure counsel and to agree on an interpreter in order that the trial might be proceeded with this morning.

The charge against the prisoner is "threatening to do previous bodily harm," and two ugly looking knives with which Marmas alleges that the threat was made, were on exhibition in the court room.

It is understood that the prisoner has a story of the trouble to tell which differs materially from that furnished the police by the complainant, and published in the Colonist yesterday morning.

The man with several vowels in his surname lays claim to being a peaceable citizen who is harassed continually by certain of his fellows who have a grudge against him. He says that while he was drinking in the Regent barroom he was assaulted by Marmas without provocation, that he went to his store and returned armed with a knife, in order that he might protect himself against further assault. He had only one knife. He merely showed this to Marmas as a warning not to attack him again, making no attempt to use it.

The display had a quieting effect on Marmas till Steenestere turned to leave the place, and then the cudgel was thrown and the damage done. The police will endeavor to have a couple of independent witnesses present when the case is called this morning.

SUPPOSED SUICIDE CAUSES EXCITEMENT

Drunk Disorbs at Water's Edge, Giving Rise to Wild Rumors

A suicide mystery disturbed the police for a considerable time early Saturday morning. Firstly a constable reported that a man had been seen rushing madly toward the Hudson's Bay wharf on the inner harbor without hat or coat. Secondly a pair of trousers were found at the edge of the wharf, turned as though removed hurriedly.

"Suicide," said the constable and he telephoned for assistance.

With drag nets, ropes and appliances to drag the harbor the constables descended upon the wharf. Near the Burns house a pair of suspenders were found, and a note attached to the neck.

"Were there any rings to indicate that someone had made a hole in the water when you found the pants?" queried one of the constables.

"Was there any note left on the edge of the wharf?" asked another.

"Let's search the pockets," said another.

They did and found some letters. The residence of the gentleman was visited. He had not been there. His bed remained undisturbed and it was morning.

Surely it's a case for the coroner, thought the constables.

Ultimately the mystery was solved. It seems that the owner of the suit of clothes which were scattered as schoolboy throws the trail in a paper chase, was passing the Hudson's Bay wharf before the sun rose. He was found in a down town hotel sleeping off the effects of the night work.

But he was unable to get back home until the constables delivered the clothes they found.

BUILDING OPERATIONS ARE NOW BEING RUSHED

Most of Work in Progress is Outside the Fire Limits

Building operations are being rushed at the present time throughout the city, the greatest volume of business being done outside the fire limits. The system of registration by which only those who are doing work within the limits which comprise the business district of Victoria, are compelled to lodge copies of their plans with the city assessor and obtain permits, does not apply to the vast majority of the buildings which are now being erected.

A gentleman remarked to a Colonist reporter: "People who pay attention to the building permit figures are somewhat misled as to the amount which is going on in this city as compared with other centres in Canada. There are thousands of dollars worth of building done within the city limits. These permit figures are not in all cities of the west and middle west and in Vancouver, a permit has to be obtained for nearly every piece of building done within the city limits. These permit figures are not in all cities of the west and middle west and in Vancouver, a permit has to be obtained for nearly every piece of building done within the city limits. These permit figures are not in all cities of the west and middle west and in Vancouver, a permit has to be obtained for nearly every piece of building done within the city limits."

The average cost of the ordinary two story residence in the neighborhood of $2,000. The local contractors have been busy all spring on houses of this description, while the architects of the city are pressed for time to prepare the plans demanded.

Were these to be included in the list of building permits, the statistics would occupy a different position with relation to the other cities of the Dominion.

It is in this list that the investor is most carefully in judging the activity of real estate and the chances for investment.

PARKS BOARD PAYS A VISIT TO BEACON HILL

Looked Over Ground With View To Adopting Plan For Improvement

The Parks Board after their preliminary meeting the evening before got into harness Friday morning.

At ten o'clock all the members assembled at the end of the Beacon Hill car and commenced a pilgrimage around the park.

From the ocean front to the lake, from the street line to the bear pit, the grounds were covered. The anti-trust protesters and various suggestions as to their care and improvements in their quarters offered.

The board will shortly visit the other parks and the balance of the year will be devoted as far as the parks are concerned to evolving a thorough system of development.

The attention of the board will in the meanwhile be largely directed to the matter of the new park to be contemplated during the present year.

HAS COME TO TAKE UP RESIDENCE HERE

Arthur Kenah, Late of London, England, Will Make Victoria His Home

Arthur V. Kenah, late of London, England, has arrived in the city and will take up residence here. Mr. Kenah, who is a son of Rev. Samuel Kenah, M. A., B. N., who lately retired from active service when senior chaplain and naval instructor of the British navy, is a chartered accountant by profession. He contemplates practicing his profession here as Victoria in his estimation is one of the most beautiful spots in the entire world, and has a great commercial future before it.

Mr. Kenah has not to rely on his own opinion alone, for his father, who visited Canada during the years of his service, entertained the same opinion. Mr. Kenah is for the present visiting Mr. and Mrs. Beresford Hogg, Mrs. Hogg, a cousin of Lord Charles Beresford, and her son traveled with him to join her husband who has spent the last eight months in this city.

Mr. Kenah practised his profession for a number of years in London, the continent having visited most of the continental cities. He speaks French, German and Russian and is an authority upon amateur photography, many of his treatises and articles upon the latter subject being supported in the photographic journals of Great Britain and America. It was his knowledge of the latter which helped to secure him one of the best positions he has held, that of auditing and executing trade control of the British and foreign branches of the Kodak company.

Local Author's Work

FINED FOR SPEEDING AUTO ON STREET

Driver Attains Speed of Forty Miles an Hour and Pays Fifteen Dollars

Four hundred yards in 20 seconds, a rate of a mile in one minute and 28 seconds, or forty and ten-elevenths miles an hour, is the registered speed at which H. Palmer, on the evening of Wednesday last, drove his motor car along Fort Street.

The timekeeper was a policeman, and he declared in court Friday morning that he held his watch faithfully to the fraction of a second and afterwards accurately measured the distance covered in the time mentioned. He was prepared to make his statement under oath, but this was not required of him. The speeder who was before the magistrate on a charge of violating the Motor Vehicles Speed Regulation act, which allows for only ten miles an hour, pleaded guilty.

The messenger of the garage, to which the automobile belongs, was present in court, and said that he had traveled faster than was permissible, he could not have driven his car at the rate recorded by the constable as it had a limit of thirty miles an hour.

Chief Langley said he was riding his bicycle along Fort street on the evening in question. He was going at a rate of about six miles an hour when Palmer, in his automobile, flew past him. He had no means of registering the speed of the automobile, but he knew that it went more than three blocks in the time that it took him to go one, and after he had been passed he had increased his own speed to a rate of about eight miles an hour. The chief was not satisfied with the garage manager's assurance that Palmer was a careful driver. He said he had noticed him on other occasions, and had seen him making curves on the street when there was no necessity for it.

"Asked if he had anything to say for himself the accused said he knew he had done wrong, but he wanted to test his speed."

Magistrate Hall remarked on the danger of such speed as Palmer had made, and said he was not only endangering the lives of pedestrians but also his own, and if it was necessary, in testing a car, to drive it faster than in future he would select some less dangerous place than Fort street. He fined Palmer $15.

There is no dust nuisance in connection with the Sunshine furnace. Because the Sunshine is fitted with a dust filter (see illustration).

When you rock down the ashes (no back-breaking shaking with the Sunshine) what dust arises is drawn across the ash-pan up the dust-flue, then across the fire-pot to the smoke-pipe, as shown in illustration, where it immediately ascends to the outer air.

Only two things to remember in connection with this operation—open both the dust and direct draft dampers.
