

Pekins were a large list and choice lot. Our time unfortunately would not allow us to go into the classes, but the whole exhibit reflects credit on the owners and the exhibitors of the diminutive pets. The same may be said of the exhibit in pigeons which attracted a great deal of notice from the visitors to the poultry house. The ladies being loud in their praises of the beauty of the specimens, and no wonder for they are very pretty indeed, and command unlimited admiration always. The superintendent, Mr. McNeil, of London, made the best of everything and is exceedingly popular with all, so the exhibitors who are so lucky to be present have as good a time as may be at the Provincial Fair.
