

DEW DROPS

VOL. I.

TORONTO, AUGUST 14, 1897.

No. 33.

SAVED FROM DROWNING.

In the summer time it is great fun for children to go in paddling in the brooks and streams. This they should never do unless their parents or older brother or sister are near to help them. Little Tommy Tomkins forgot this and got into deep water and was nearly drowned. An older boy, who knew how to swim, took Tommy on his back and brought him to shore. We hope it will be a lesson to Master Tommy never to go in paddling without leave.