

The Daughter of the Dawn. By R. HODDER.

With 12 full-page illustrations by Harold Piffard.

Library 12mo, cloth, decorative cover . . . $1.50

This is a powerful story of adventure and mystery, its scene New Zealand. In sustained interest and novel plot, it recalls Rider Haggard's "King Solomon's Mines" and "She."

"Enthralling from beginning to end." — Philadelphia North American.

"It will appeal to all who enjoy the imaginative order of fiction." — Outlook.

"So elaborately and ingeniously drawn out that it is easier to believe it than to find a flaw in its verisimilitude." — Boston Transcript.

The Diary of a Year. PASSAGES IN THE LIFE OF

A WOMAN OF THE WORLD. Edited by Mrs. CHARLES H. E. BROOKFIELD.

Library 12mo, cloth, decorative cover . . . $1.25

The writer of this absorbing study of emotions and events is gifted with charming imagination and an elegant style. The book abounds in brilliant wit, amiable philosophy, and interesting characterizations. The "woman of the world" reveals herself as a fascinating, if somewhat reckless, creature, who justly holds the sympathies of the reader.

Jarvis of Harvard. By REGINALD WRIGHT

KAUFFMANN. Illustrated by Robert Edwards.

Library 12mo, cloth decorative . . . $1.50

A strong and well-written novel, true to a certain side of the college atmosphere, not only in the details of athletic life, but in the spirit of college social and society circles. The local color appeals not only to Harvard men, but to their rivals, the loyal sons of Yale, Pennsylvania, and Princeton.

Lauriel. THE LOVE LETTERS OF AN AMERICAN GIRL.

By HERBERT D. WARD.

With a portrait frontispiece in photogravure.

Library 12mo, cloth, gilt top . . . $1.50

"The sincere and unaffected charm of these letters from the pen of a genuine American girl cannot fail to give them an influence which mere love-letters could never exert." — From a Letter to the Publishers.
