CALCUTTA. Dec. 30, 1910.—The final polo game of the tournament here was played to-day, the Tenth Royal Hussars defeating the Calcuttas by a score of 10 to 2. A large crowd of society folk saw the contest.

The Hussars played a splendid game, but it must be said that the Calcutta quartet, altho overmatched, did unusually well in the face of continuous ill luck.
Following is the record of the Tenth Hussars' victories in polo tournament: Punjab, open, in 1906-7-3-9; inter-regimental in the same years; Allahabad, 10.10: Poona, open and junior, 1905; championship, 1910. The line-up of to-day's game follows:

BASEBALL GOSSIP.

Walter Johnson, the Washington pitcher, says he will not sign a contract unless he receives a salary of $7000 for the coming Johnson hung up a world's recseason. Johnson hung up a world's record for strike-outs last year, and believes that without him the Washingtons would have been last in the American League race. When he learned that Christy Mathewson had signed with the Giants for the reputed salary of $10,000 a year, Johnson decided to hold out. The Washington Club has agreed to pay $6500 to Johnson, but the big pitcher remains obdurate, and declares that the other $500 must be handed over before he will agree to go south.

Some baseball men are ready to predict that Connie Mack, manager of the Athletics, will be hard up for star pitchers before Decoration Day rolls around. They seem to believe that Plank, the noted left-hander, has seen his best days, and that Morgan, who was supposed to be overworked last year, will fail to show his best form. They also feel sure that the Indian, Bender, will go back considerably, and that Mack will have to depend a greater part of the time upon big Coombs. It is needless to say that these prophets are not citizens of Philadelphia.

Much is expected of Chalmers, the New York State League pitcher, who joined the Philadelphia Nationals last fall, President Fogel recently turned down an offer of $7000 for Chalmers made by a rival club. Chalmers is a New Yorker, who learned to pitch on the Harlem lots. He led the New York State League pitchers last year in point of effectiveness, winning twenty-five games, and losing six, an average of .906. He showed great form against the Giants in a game he pitched on the Polo Grounds in October.
