ROMAN CATHOLIC ARCHBISHOP OF TORONTO WAS INSTALLED WITHOUT GREAT CEREMONY

Most Rev. Neil McNeil Presented With Addresses on Behalf of the Priests and Laity of the Diocese at St. Michael's Cathedral—Catholic Extension Society His First and Most Careful Study.

His grace, the new Roman Catholic Archbishop of Toronto, Most Rev. Neil McNeil, was installed yesterday morning in his high office at St. Michael's Cathedral yesterday morning, when high mass was celebrated by a priest of the church, Mgr. Stagni, the papal legate to Canada. Advent being a penitential season, there was not quite so elaborate a ceremonial as might otherwise have been the case, but the installation was impressive and dignified. Among the clergy present and participating, were the vicar-general, Mgr. McCann; Bishop Dowling, Hamilton; Bishop Fallon, London; Dean Hand, Dr. Kidd, administrator, and Fathers Canning, Minshaw, McGrath, Whalen, Frishton, Williams, Burke, William McCann, etc. At 10:45 the procession entered, while the "Rece Sacerdos" (Emil Rey, op. 22) was sung. At 11 the enthronement took place, and the clergy present did homage to the prelate. The vicar-general read an address on behalf of the clergy of the diocese, bidding his grace a hearty welcome to continue his good work carried on by his illustrious and saintly predecessors. Justice Kelly read the address of the Catholic laity, a large number of whom were admitted to the sanctuary, among them being J. J. Foy, A. C. Macdonell, M. P., M. J. Haney, Frank Mussen, Dr. McMahon, John Orr, etc.

His grace spoke at some length from a pulpit at the head of the centre aisle. He thanked them for the kindness of a welcome which was not a mere expression of compliment, but a genuine expression of good will. Some six months ago had come to his desk a document he recognized as from Rome, and he found in it what had never entered his mind to expect, the exercise of the supreme power given to St. Peter, which now unfolded him from the sea of Vancouver and bound him to the sea of Toronto. He recognized more clearly than they did in Rome how imperfect he was comparatively for his task, but he relied not on himself but on the power given by the Lord. A bishop or archbishop sent to a see in which he had not been before was given no special mandate; no line of policy was laid down; no program was placed in the hands of a bishop at Rome. There were the office and the ordinary everyday duties, and he was told to go and execute them.

Most Careful Study.
"I suppose I might say what I have to do," remarked his grace, "just to see that things are kept going along the lines of the Lord's Prayer, the 'Hail Mary' and the 'Agnus Dei'."

REACH CRISIS IN NEGOTIATIONS FOR PEACE

Turkish Demand for Re-Provisioning of Adriatic Port May Lead to Serious Break at Conference—Allies Are Able to Renew War With Vigor.

LONDON, Dec. 22.—(Can. Press.)—The crisis of the peace conference will be reached at the session tomorrow. If the Turks decide to waive their demand for the revictualing of Adriatic ports, the allies will present their terms for peace. The conference can then proceed to the discussion of its real business.

The Turkish Cabinet met today and telegraphed instructions to the Ottoman delegation. All the delegations held conferences at their hotels and despatched long cipher telegrams to their governments.

The allies oppose the Turkish request for the provisioning of Adriatic ports, not only for the reason that this would give the enemy a great advantage in event of the resumption of fighting, which would not have been earned by arms, but on technical grounds, but because the delegates have not the power to reopen military questions, which the Tchatale conference who signed the armistice dealt with.

Turkey to Make Appeal.
The opening of another chapter of warfare is a step which the allies do not invite, but for which they profess to be fully prepared. While suspicion exists that the Turks have been sparing to gain time since the conference assembled ten days ago, the consensus of opinion is that the Turkish Government will recognize the situation and conclude peace, and that the political situation in Constantinople dictates that course. The advice which the principal powers have been giving to Turkey is in the direction of peace.

The Bulgarians declare that if the Turks are not ready to come to terms and if none of the powers offers acceptable mediation, the allies are ready to resume the war immediately with fresh vigor, greater vigor and a deeper feeling that they will achieve ultimate victory, because, as they themselves express it, they are fighting not only for the independence of the Balkans, but for western civilization against the traditional eastern enemy.

Allies' Position Strengthened.
The allies claim that their military position has been greatly strengthened, and if they must reopen the war they can muster between Adrianople and Tchatalja 350,000 men, including 100,000 Bulgarians, who are veterans of the November battles, 150,000 fresh and well-drilled Bulgarians anxious to emulate their brothers in arms, 60,000 Serbians and 40,000 Greeks, who can be landed at Bledagatch and Enos at a moment's notice.

Most of the military men here believe that the allies will not attack the Tchatale lines, which have been reinforced with fresh troops, and the fortifications strengthened, but will await the attacks of the Turks behind their entrenchments, while pressing the siege of Adrianople and forcing its capitulation.

The Greek community in London gave a banquet tonight in honor of the Greek delegates.

SERVIA TO SECURE FREE ADRIATIC PORT

Premier of France Says Satisfactory Guarantees Will Be Given—Lauds Britain's Fair Dealing.

PARIS, Dec. 21.—(Can. Press.)—Premier Poincare, in the chamber of deputies today, explained that the port on the Adriatic to be allowed Serbia will be free and neutral. It is to be connected with Serbia by an international railway under the control of the powers, and all merchandise, including munitions of war, will pass by customs duties. He continued: "The European powers wish to assure to Serbia certain indispensable guarantees so that she may live and breathe."

Premier Poincare expressed satisfaction with the agreement over the Adriatic outlet for Serbia, expressing the opinion that it "eliminates one of the principal causes for European discord."

England's Fair Dealing.
There was, he said, no ground for the fears on the part of some Frenchmen that England at times pursued an isolated policy which did not conform with the policy of France. He said: "England acted openly and loyally."

He assured the house that France would continue to use her every energy in favor of peace, but was determined nevertheless to safeguard and maintain French traditions in the Orient, and above all, to keep watch over that sacred and intangible thing known as the national honor.

He was greeted at the conclusion of his speech with great applause from all parts of the house.

Jean Jaures, the socialist leader, eulogized the premier for his efforts in favor of peace.

GEO. W. GRIFFITH DIES SUDDENLY

Ontario Representative of Dr. Barnardo's Home For 23 Years Was Seized With Heart Trouble.

George Wilson Griffith, J. P., the well-known representative of the Dr. Barnardo Home, died very suddenly on Saturday afternoon. He spent the morning at his office at the home. After returning to his house, Lansdowne avenue, in the afternoon he complained of illness and Dr. A. C. Bennett was summoned. He expired from heart failure shortly after the doctor arrived.

Mr. Griffith was connected for twenty-five years with the Dr. Barnardo Home. Until two years ago he made annual visits to as many as possible of the boys who were placed out with Canadian families. For the past two years he has been engaged in the Toronto office of the institution.

Mr. Griffith was an esteemed member of St. Mark's Anglican Church, and the members of the family had the sympathy of a wide circle of friends in their sudden bereavement.

The funeral will take place from his son's residence, 16 Grove avenue, tomorrow morning to St. John's Cemetery, Norway. Rev. W. L. Armitage, rector of St. Mark's Church, will officiate.

BRANTFORD MOB FOUGHT BATTLE WITH POLICE

Station Was Besieged by an Infuriated Crowd Following Arrest of Indian, and Only Mayor Hartman's Threat to Have Riot Act Read Stopped the Hostilities.

BRANTFORD, Dec. 22.—(Special.)—A turbulent mob attacked the police and smashed up the police station here on Saturday night in a riot which lasted two hours and finally culminated in the release on bail of Charles Walling, an ex-bartender, alleged to have been one of the ringleaders of the riot. The trouble was precipitated when Sanford Maracle, a back Indian, was arrested, although Constables Stewart and Stanley were nearly wrestled into the canal by the Indian and the lawless element which surrounded the officers.

A crowd of several hundred followed the party to the police station, where the police later came out and charged with batons in an effort to effect a break-up. It was during this melee that Walling was arrested, and the crowd later demanded his release.

Walling finally got out at 12:30 a. m. after revolvers had been fired and the police station battered in. Several of the officers had narrow escapes from missiles hurled thru the windows. Eighteen prisoners, chiefly disorderlies, were in the lock-up wondering if the mob would reach the iron doors between them and freedom.

The police appealed to the firemen to turn the water on the mob, but Mayor Hartman refused to give his consent to this procedure.

Fire Chief Lewis and Mayor Hartman appeared on the scene. Both addressed the crowd, the mayor stating that he did not want to find it necessary to read the Riot Act.

Infectious Pamphlet.
The epidemic of infectious pamphlets in their contention that more men are required for the city.

The department in general has recently been subjected to attacks by a local pamphlet issued weekly, and this has seemingly had the effect of arousing the passion of the lawless element against the force. Alderman charges of police extravagance amongst the police board have not helped matters any.

Another cause for the outbreak was the recent examination of a factory girl suspected of infanticide following the finding of a baby's body in the Grand River. This matter has been taken to the courts.

The riot will doubtless result in strengthening the hands of the police force.

Hundreds visited Queen street today to have a look at the badly damaged police station and indignation was expressed on all sides over the occurrence.

FOR LANDLORDS—AND LANDMARKS
From The Toledo Blade.
The American public will probably be a little slow in grasping the fact that after the first of the year, it may ship eggs, butter, lard, fish, fresh meat, dressed chickens, ducks, turkeys and geese, vegetables, just out of the garden, berries, orchard products and scores of other perishable commodities by mail. Yet, one thoroughly understood, we may expect that Uncle Sam will be operating warrens rivaling the huckster's in point of succulence, the butcher's as a spur to appetite and the expressman's when it comes to strange and hidden mysteries.

CAPTAIN AND 22 MEN PERISH IN WRECK OFF NEWFOUNDLAND FIVE SURVIVORS BRING NEWS

Steamer Florence of Furness Line Struck on Ledge and Captain Barr and Crew Were Prevented From Landing in Boats by Inaccessible Cliffs of St. Shotts—Later Second Mate and Four Men Found a Break in the Rocks.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Dec. 22.—(Can. Press.)—Capt. Barr and 21 of the 27 members of the crew of the Furness Line steamer Florence, from Halifax, N.S., for St. John's, lost their lives in the wreck of the vessel on the ledge west of St. Shotts during a northwest gale last Friday. Five exhausted survivors, who reached land in a boat, brought the news to Trepassy tonight.

The steamer carried no passengers. Capt. Barr of the steamer and all his men reached shore after the vessel struck, but the lofty, inaccessible cliffs of St. Shotts prevented their escape. The big tide, backed up by the southwest gale, made it impossible to remain there, and all hands were obliged to put back to the ship, which was pounding heavily.

Capt. Barr felt confident that the wind would go down, but Second Mate J. Hedley volunteered to take four men in one of the ship's boats and seek a more favorable landing place further along the coast. In the heavy sea then running the captain was unwilling to risk more lives, and gave his consent to the second mate's expedition with reluctance.

FOUND BREAK IN CLIFFS.
With great difficulty Hedley piloted his small boat along the coast until he saw a break in the rugged line of cliffs. Pointing the nose of the boat directly into the surf he avoided the outlying rocks and on the crest of a great breaker ran his craft in without being upset. Tumbling out hastily to avoid being sucked back by the undertow, the mate and his four men dragged their boat up the beach out of reach of the sea and made their way back along the cliff to where their steamer lay. The wind and sea in the meantime had increased. The combers broke continually over the decks of the vessel, which was grinding heavily on the jagged rocks.

Hedley and his men searched in vain for some path by which the cliff might be scaled or the crew of the Florence helped. The coast in that vicinity was uninhabited. The few fishermen's huts were deserted for the winter and Hedley had to take refuge for the night in one of these abandoned shacks. At daybreak Saturday Hedley found that the wind had been steadily increasing. Hurrying back to the point off which the Florence lay, he could see no sign of the steamer. Considerable of her cargo of lumber was floating along the shore, but no boats were visible.

ALMOST EXHAUSTED.
After the five survivors had made a long but fruitless search along the shore for some trace of their shipmates they started for St. Shotts, the nearest inhabited place, several miles distant. Two of them were so exhausted from the cold and exposure that they had to be assisted by their comrades. These two were left at St. Shotts to recuperate, while the others pushed on to Trepassy, whence they sent word of the disaster to this city. They are not expected to arrive here before the middle of the week.

Besides Mate Hedley, the survivors are: Seaman W. Wight, C. Malmquist, E. Taylor and T. Snedding.

The steamer Florence was built in Sunderland, England, in 1889. She was 293.5 feet long, 40.2 beam, with a depth of 26.9 feet.

PARCELS POST AND FARM MARKETING

From The Toledo Blade.
The American public will probably be a little slow in grasping the fact that after the first of the year, it may ship eggs, butter, lard, fish, fresh meat, dressed chickens, ducks, turkeys and geese, vegetables, just out of the garden, berries, orchard products and scores of other perishable commodities by mail. Yet, one thoroughly understood, we may expect that Uncle Sam will be operating warrens rivaling the huckster's in point of succulence, the butcher's as a spur to appetite and the expressman's when it comes to strange and hidden mysteries.

The post office department is laying down a set of rules, based upon postal experience and common sense, which are to regulate the shipment of food-stuffs thru the mails. Eggs may be sent any distance if enclosed in secure, wreck-proof cartons. Vegetables which might decay will be carried within certain limits. You may send fresh meat only to localities within your own zone. There is no restriction upon the mailing of cured, salted or smoked meats and fish.

The use of the parcels post for the shipment of food is suitable for their present use. We may expect farmers, especially farmers' wives and daughters, to work up special retail markets of their own. They will have boxes, cartons, strong boxes and many of the sort suitable for their purpose. They will have a pretty thorough knowledge of the mail trains, of the hours of distribution and the system of delivery, besides knowing to a penny what the charges should be.

If Uncle Sam's back is not bent over with his load and if he is not kept busily moving at his new job, it will be because the farmer people have overlooked an opportunity. We scarcely think they will let it go by.
