TELFORD WAS SANDBAGGED.

The Mystery of Kingston, N. Y., Partially Kingston, N.Y., July 31.—The mystery in the case of Thomas Telford of this city, who suddenly disappeared in London July 8 while on his way to secure a Yegacy he claimed had been left him by the death of an aunt in Scotland, is partly cleared up by the receipt of a letter written to Dewitt Brothers, insurance agents of this city. The letter states that a man answering Telford's description had been found sandbagged in a London railway depot, having a sum of money and receipt for insurance dues paid to the above firm. On recovering in a London hospital the man called for "Totty," which is Telford's pet name for his little boy. There seems to be no doubt of Telford's identity, but there are many mysteries surrounding the case yet to be explained. The letter is signed by Lawrence Lyons. Telford's legacy is probably a myth, but it is believed he was duped by some designing persons who were after the money. The London authorities have been cabled to hold Telford, and he will be brought home. Solved in London.

Greatly Increased Loans From New York Banks-Heavy Business Done. New York, July 31.-The New York Financier says this week: The continued increase in loans of New York banks in the face of the present enormbanks in the face of the present enormous total reported is a feature that is beginning to attract attention in the clearing house statements. It was supposed that, following the $11,000,000 increase between June 26 and July 3, a decrease might be looked for, as the July settlement period is usually followed by a temporary contraction, but so far from shrinking, loans have made an additional gain of $10,000,000 during the month just ended, and if the movements of other heavy crop years are of any value in just ended, and if the movements of other heavy crop years are of any value in comparison, the upward trend should continue for from thirty to sixty days yet. The heavy business the New York banks are doing is not generally appreciated. Their reserve requirements are now $17,000,000 in excess of all the cash they reported on hand for the corresponding week one year ago.

Sporting Editor World: I see they are scrappin' about their teams in your Hotel League. Well, mebbe they have a license to scrap. But if they want to run up against a soft thing—nit—let them bicycle down here. You know I have a tug-of-war team entered for your hotel games. Well, they were trained so fine when the rain spoilt the games that I was obliged to give them a rest. So now they are only taking light exercise—pulling up elm stumps in the morning and drawing sawlogs in the afternoon. Yes, your Toronto team will have a soft snap—I don't think.

Earl Wagner expressed himself as much pleased with the third base playing of Greminger, and says that he would strengthen several National League teams. New York has had an agent watching Greminger's work, and as his report was favorable it is more than probable that Buffalo may lose the services of its cherubic third baseman. In case Greminger should become a Glant, he would continue to play third, Joyce going to first base in place of Bill Clark, who is putting up a poor game.—Buffalo Express.
