The fact that representatives of so many great mass of the population will be entirely unrepresented." The fact that representatives of so many boards of trade will meet at the immigration congress at Fredericton suggests the propriety of organizing a New Brunswick board of trade. It might very properly affiliate with a maritime board, but there are so many matters affecting New Brunswick and the Times. It pays to read the Times.

are so many matters affecting New Brunswick development which are of purely provincial concern that the formation of a provincial board would be a decided step in advance. The next few years will witness a general forward movement, and it will be the more general and the more rapid if the business men of all sections recognize the truth of the remark made by President Jennings of the Fredericton board at the recent conference in St. John. He said that all sectional jealousies should be abandoned. Towns were too much like the village merchant who feared to be on friendly terms with a competitor lest he should thereby lose trade. All must work unitedly for the general advancement of the province and each accept the share which it was fairly able to secure. That is the right sprit. Whatever benefits one part of the province is of some benefit to the

The coming summer should be a very busy one in New Brunswick. Aside from great public works, there seems an excel-If Premier Borden has a sense of humor, which many people doubt, he must derive considerable amusement from the fawning drivel that appears from day to day in the tory press.

A fair sample is a description of his meeting with the members of the Good meeting with the me

At a place called Strong, in Maine, we meeting with the members of the Good Roads' Association of Outario. We are first told, as a preduct to the great event, that "the great province of Ontario was there, the typical men, men from every county, councillors, ex-wardens and wardens, representing in a most essential way the yeomanry of Outario.' To them came Mr. Borden.

"When he mounted the dais in front of that gathering they seemed to realize they were about to hefr from a great man."

Of course they were not disappointed, for "Mr. Borden proved himself to be great men." His subject, we are told, "concerned the different provinces of the Confederation and the central power; it was a departure never thought of before by any government, and therefore an historical innovation."

What was this marvellous change this it was the great man was there to unfold? Nothing short of a proposal to grant from the overflowing coffers of Canada (with a $50,000,000 Fielding surplus) money to the provinces to ald in road construction. And there you are. Roads may be roads, and Acts may be Acts, but when a greaf man strikes an imperial note there is no more to be said. "Queen Mary," said the teacher to the class in the history lesson, "loved France so much that she declared the word Calais would be found written on her heart after she was dead."

Pausing a moment the teacher looked at a boy steadily.

"Jimmy Smith," she said, "you were not listening,"

"Oh, yes, I was," Jimmy replied.

"Well, what did Queen Mary say would be found written across her heart?"

"Kelly," was Jimmy's triumphant reply.—Tit Bits.
