BIGGER PLANT FOR HALIFAX. Dominion Coal Company to Build Towers and Otherwise Increase Facilities

It is announced that the Dominion Coal Company is to enlarge its Halifax plant and three ninety foot towers will be set up on rails on the face of the wharf. They will permit of seven times as much work as with the old derricks. All the existing shafts will be swept away space made for a huge coal pile, and all the latest bunkering appliances erected on the wharf. The three towers will be built of wood and steel and will run on rails covering the face of the wharf. Cars will be run from underneath them to the coal heap in the rear and a 45-foot boom erected midway on each of these towers will control the cars to and from the vessel at the wharf. Attached to each boom will be a clam shovel which will hold at least a ton of coal. With the three towers working steadily 200 tons of coal can be taken out of a vessel every hour, as compared with the old plant which seldom gets more than 175 tons out in ten hours. In bunkering 1,500 tons a batch can be stowed in ten hours as against 200 tons under the old system. The towers will be somewhat similar to those now in use at Montreal and St. John. It is understood that the work will be completed in two or three months.

WHAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN

A Carleton county boy writes from Aroostook county to the Carleton Sentinel:—"If you will grant me space in your valuable paper I would like to ask the farmers of Carleton county, and throughout New Brunswick, what has become of their market for potatoes. Potatoes today are bringing $1.50 a barrel in Maine and only sixty-five cents in Carleton—quite a difference. Mr. Farmer—all this is lost on account of listening to the hot air from tory speakers a little over a year ago. Oats in the U. S. bring seventy-five cents a bushel—twenty-five cents more than in N. B. Loose hay is selling at $14 a ton—which is $4 more than Carleton county farmers get. These are facts, Mr. Farmer, and if you voted against reciprocity make yourself right when you get the opportunity. "And Mr. Editor, I would like to ask many of the farmers where their boys are at present—I can tell them that they are, many of them, working in the potato fields of Maine at from $3 to $4 a day. Where is there a Carleton county man at these wages? Why, sir, some of them leave their own potatoes at the mercy of the frost and go to the country where big wages are paid—Canada could pay the same wages if the people would turn a deaf ear to tory hot air and vote right. We can have the boom in N. B. as well as in Maine."

WEALTHY HUSBAND FOR ST. JOHN GIRL

John Moore, Who Made Fortune in Klondike, to Wed Miss Hurley

According to the Bangor Commercial there is good fortune for Miss Anne Hurley of St. John. The paper says:—"John H. Moore, who left Bangor to seek his fortune in the gold fields of the Klondike in 1898, is back here again for the first time since he left, fourteen years ago. He will remain in the city for a few days and then go to St. John and Frederickton, where he will spend a month with relatives. Then he will pass through here again on his way to Boston where he intends making his home in the future. Moore is fifty-two years old and has accumulated enough in the far northwest to keep him comfortably for the remainder of his life. "And I feel I'm entitled to a little rest after what I've gone through since I last saw Bangor," he said to a reporter on Wednesday.

Mr. Moore, who has worked for a number of seasons in the Maine logging camps, is said to have made a fortune of $200,000 in company with a number of other Maine men who went to the Klondike in 1898. He passed to Dawson in the days when that flourishing town was in its infancy. Together with Fred Cannon of Seattle, he left Dawson and made his way up the Yukon river to Snake creek. The two located a camp some fifty miles up the creek and spent the winter in trapping. That spring they staked out some mining claims and returned to Dawson. The following winter Mr. Moore spent in Dawson, working in a grocery store at fabulous wages. But the cost of living was proportionately high and he was no better off financially than he would have been working in Maine, he says. The third year Mr. Moore and Cannon, his partner, interested a wealthy Tacoma man in their mining property and started to develop it. Modern mining machinery came a little later, after their first work had proved that the claims could be operated profitably.

In 1910 Mr. Moore sold his share of the property for $20,000. He had never realized a good sum from them. During the last two years the new owners have found the claims to be worth even more than anyone had any idea and during the present summer they refused an offer of $300,000 for the mining property. "I am perfectly satisfied with what I got for my share," said he. Mr. Moore came down to Seattle in August and spent three weeks there before starting for New England. He visited Spokane, Regina, and Winnipeg. He will be married in Boston November 3 to Miss Anna Hurley of St. John and will make his home in that city.

ST. JOHN'S BISHOP TO THE PACIFIC IN NEAR FUTURE

Rumor Today is Very Strong and Announcement Expected Soon

There has been more or less of the indefinite about the appointment of the elevation of His Lordship Bishop Casey to Archbishop of Vancouver, but it is reported today through authoritative channels that the matter is not to be had, that the matter has been concluded and that the church in St. John must give her reverend bishop to the west. It is expected that public announcement will be made very soon, though it was rumored today that it was not decided as to when His Grace would leave for the west, whether by air or by sea. His Grace would arrive in St. John. But on the main fact the report today seemed to leave no room for doubt. His Grace Archbishop Howley of St. John's will, and Father St. John arrived in the city today and will be guests at the Palace for a few days.
