OLD TIME WEATHER.—A high wind brought snow yesterday afternoon and evening. Today the wind has continued to increase, and at times it is almost blowing a gale. The thermometer at many places has fallen below zero, and this and the fact that the snow is steadily drifting has sufficed to keep the streets clear. This is really the first seasonable weather St. John has experienced this winter, and from the way the mercury is now descending the cold snap promises to last.

A Little Girl Crushed to Death.

A very sad accident happened in Rankin's shipyard at the foot of Simonds street yesterday afternoon. A number of men employed by Mr. J. Sullivan, were engaged in preparation for the building of one of the scows for the city dredge. They had raised one end of a large piece of pitch pine timber on a hogshead and were about to raise the other end of the stick. Two little twin girls who with their grandmother were gathering chips in the shipyard, ran under the end of the timber resting on the hogshead just as the other end was being raised and as they did so the heavy piece of timber slipped off and knocked them both down.

One of the twins, Gladys Whelpley, had fallen on a piece of timber lying on the ground and the heavy piece of pitch pine fell right across her back and shoulders. The other twin was more fortunate as she fell in a hollow and was able, with her grandmother's help, to crawl out. Three men had all they could do to lift the timber that pinioned the other child to the ground.

She was carried to her home on Simonds Street, and Dr. Christie summoned, but the poor child lived only about three minutes. Her face was horribly scraped and bruised where she had struck the lower timber so hard, and her jaw and neck were broken, and her shoulders and breast bones all crushed.

The child was seven years old, and a daughter of Mr. Daniel Whelpley. The body will probably be taken to the Reach.

Coroner Berryman was notified, but after learning the particulars of the accident from the workmen, he decided that an inquest was not necessary.

Railway Coal Stealing.

For a long time past large quantities of coal have been taken from the I. C. R. coal cars. About a year ago several boys were before the police magistrate on a charge of stealing it, but as the railway authorities did not wish to press the charge they were cautioned and allowed to go. For a time no more was taken, but they have again commenced to steal. The I. C. R. authorities obtained the services of a detective who watched for the coal stealers, and this week his vigilance was rewarded by seeing several boys carrying coal from the cars in baskets. As a consequence James Kilpatrick, Geo. James, John Davis, Joseph Campbell, Bert Riley, A Shaw, Wm. Beers and Walter Hooper, boys ranging from five to fifteen years, appeared before the court yesterday.

Mr. E. McLeod appeared for the I. C. R. He said that the practice of stealing coal had been going on so long that it was time to put a stop to it, but as some of the boys were so small, their parents should be fined. The parents of some of the boys were present and denied any knowledge of the thieving. One stated that his boy had been in Coldbrook when the detective said he saw him. One of the boys said he had taken the coal but it had been for a Mrs. Fraser. The other boys also stated that they were taking it for other persons. Information will likely be laid against them as the Railway authorities are determined to stop the stealing. The case will be taken up about the 15th.

The Nova Scotia Central.

Of this railway extending from Middleton to Lunenburg, which was ... last month, a correspondent of the Halifax Herald says:—The route has not yet been advertised; but every train that has been sent over it has been a paying train. Through passenger rates are offered from Shelburne and Queens to Halifax, and many people from those counties come over the Nova Scotia Central. The road will be a valuable feeder to the Windsor & Annapolis; and that road, under the judicious management of Mr. King, is now in a fair way to become popular with the people, and a good paying investment for the company. The chief traffic which the Nova Scotia Central expect to carry, comprises (1) lumber. Of this there are 12,000,000 now in sight. On some of this they get a double haul. The logs have to be carried to the mill, and then manufactured lumber shipped to Bridgewater or Lunenburg for export. (2) Cordwood. There is a great demand for this in the New England market and regular packets are to be run from Bridgewater or Lunenburg. (3) Hemlock bark. (4) Ship timber for the score or more fishing schooners annually built in Lunenburg county shipyards. (5) Iron ore. The managers expect to carry thousands of tons of iron ore from the last deposits on the Canaan and Cleveland Mountains to Lunenburg where it will be transhipped by vessel to New Jersey. The ore can be loaded from the mine right on to the car, and can therefore be carried at a low rate of freight. (6) Agricultural products. Lunenburg county finds a market for a large numbers of cattle in Halifax. The new facility for transportation will greatly increase the traffic. (7) General merchandise and food supplies. The railway will create its own traffic.

Skating.

Hugh McCormick will remain in Minneapolis during the winter.

He is a great favorite at that place, and the odds are ten to one that he wins the next race with Paulsen.

A Minneapolis despatch says: "Jas. Donoghue skated five miles in seventeen minutes and eight seconds. This beat the best previous world's record by nine seconds."

The record referred to is Frank Dowd's 17.17. made on a 12-lap track at Montreal. But, says the Toronto Globe, the fake business has been cultivated so extensively at Minneapolis that Donoghue's new record will be subject to considerable suspicion until substantiated.

However, it will not, even when authenticated, be the best in the world, for Norsenga, the Norseman, has just set the mark at 16.48 2-5. This was at the tournament of the Dutch Skating Association at Amsterdam, where the track was properly measured and the time taken by experts.

Death of Councillor Daniel McEvoy.

The death of Mr. Daniel McEvoy, which occurred last evening after an illness of about two months, will be sincerely regretted by an extended circle of friends and acquaintances. Mr. McEvoy was born in Ireland 61 years ago and came to this country when about four years of age. He followed the trade of a carpenter and builder until 1852 when with Charles Moore he entered into business on Charlotte street, between King and Union. In 1855 he retired from the firm and renewed his former occupation. In 1862 he built the Three Mile House which he has occupied ever since though about four years ago its management passed into the hands of his son. For the last three years Mr. McEvoy had represented the parish of Simonds in the municipal council.

INFLUENZA IN ST. JOHN.

LA GRIPPE HAS ARRIVED — THE MAJORITY OF THE PHYSICIANS INTERVIEWED.

Two Doctors Have Been Attacked by It —One Physician Has Seven New Cases Within 24 Hours.

Influenza or la grippe is the fashionable disease the world over just now, and for some weeks there have been rumors that the epidemic has been getting a foothold in St. John. Everybody who gets a cold in the head, feels a chill down his back or is in any way indisposed, at once concludes that the Parisian "la grippe" has spotted him as a victim. The very changeable weather that has prevailed here lately has been almost sufficient of itself to bring on an epidemic of throat and lung affections.

A GAZETTE reporter interviewed a number of our prominent physicians, today and from the information gleaned, it appears that there is really some foundation for the general belief that the influenza is becoming epidemic in St. John.

Dr. P. R. Inches told the reporter that he had a number of cases, but considering the changeable weather we have been having, he did not think that the disease was more prevalent than might be expected.

Dr. Foster McFarlane also has a number of cases, none very severe, and he was inclined to think that there was yet no epidemic here.

Dr. Boyle Travers had only a few mild cases and believed that he had not yet met any of the real la grippe.

Dr. Murray MacLaren had met a large number of cases of influenza lately, some quite severe. He was of the opinion that it is much more prevalent than is usual at this season.

Dr. C. A. McQueen had several cases but was not of the opinion that they were different from the ordinary influenza.

Dr. W. W. White only had a few mild cases, and does not believe it to be epidemic in the city yet.

Dr. G. A. Hetherington had no hesitation in saying that the genuine Parisian influenza or la grippe is already quite prevalent in St. John. Within 24 hours he had seven new cases. Strong men had been stricken down suddenly, and in some instances several members of a family were attacked by it at the same time. He is attending Dr. Emery, who has quite a severe attack of "la grippe." When the reporter called on Dr Charles Holden he was informed that that gentleman was suffering from a severe attack of la grippe. He has been completely prostrated for about three days.

Dr. Wm. Bayard says that he has met with quite a number of severe cases of influenza among his patients. He has no doubt that it is the same type as that which has been so prevalent in other places. There is the cold in the head, pain over the eyes and soreness of the chest and bones, and general prostration of strength. In his practice it is the most prevalent among females. There is one case under his charge that may prove fatal, but should that be the case he would not be inclined to assign "la grippe" as the cause of death as the patient has been otherwise affected. He has noticed quite an increase in the number of those affected during the last ten days, but was of the opinion that the epidemic had not yet become so prevalent as to cause much alarm.

Dr. J. E. March has met with over 15 cases within a week all quite severe, the persons attacked as a general thing being confined to their beds for two or three days.

Dr. Gilchrist has met with a number of cases of influenza, but none of a severe type.

Dr. Matthew Macfarlane had several cases about Fairville, some of quite a severe type,

Rev. Mr. Titcombe, pastor of the church of the Good Shepherd, was attacked by "la grippe" last week. He was unable to attend to his pastoral duties on Sunday and is still unwell.

Dr. Gray of Fairville says that there are quite a number of cases of influenza among his patients. It is much more prevalent than usual at this time of year and is of a severe type.

"Yes," replied Dr. Addy, to the enquiry of THE GAZETTE reporter, "there is considerable influenza in the city. I am attending as many as ten or twelve cases of la grippe myself; I can call it no other name since the symptoms are exactly as set down for that disease—a violent headache, pains in the back, chills and sometimes a tendency to congestion of the lungs, or pleurisy.

Sometimes, too, the patient is badly flushed and feverish. There is a very violent cold epidemic in this city now, but the influenza is being felt to a greater degree than for a long time. I was called to my first case of la grippe about Sunday or Monday last".

Dr. D. E. Berryman told the reporter that he had three cases of influenza within a week. He has none on hand just now.

"There certainly is an epidemic in this city," said Dr. John Berryman, this afternoon, "which is characterized by very peculiar symptoms. I do not think there has ever been anything exactly like this disease here before. People may go to bed well and wake up with chills, sore bones, and an irritated throat, but they recover after about twelve hours, if the right remedies are applied. The cases are generally mild, and if the disease shows no worse form than it has up to the present, I think there will be no trouble in getting it under hand. The symptoms of all the cases are so uniform, and so marked that these must be plainly of the one type, but I cannot see that they are just as described by the newspapers of those places where la grippe is epidemic."

Dr. Sheffield in answer to the reporter's questions said he had a number of mild cases of influenza in which however, he saw no symptoms of a peculiar nature. He thought that this disease was prevalent this year to a greater extent than for some years, but did not think any cases were violent. He had been visiting influenza patients for a week or more.

BETWEEN ST. JOHN AND NEW YORK.

New Steamer Line Which May Diminish Similar Trade in Boston.

(Boston Herald Jan. 8)

Much interest has been taken here in regard to the effect on home trade of the permanent organization of the corporation which is to manage the new steamship line between St. John and New York, recently incorporated in New Jersey under the title of the New York, Maine & New Brunswick Steamship Company. Its capital stock is stated to be $500,000, and it is said to be fully paid up. The company's steamers will ply between New York, Rockland, Bangor and Bar Harbor, Eastport and St. John. The Lucy P. Miller, which is to run between New York and Bangor, is the same steamship which has plied between these ports for the past two years or thereabouts, touching at Rockland, Belfast and Bucksport. The establishment of this line has been under consideration for some time, and as its route is not designated, it seems practically but a continuation of that traversed by the Lucy P. Miller during the last year or two. The corporations representing the Sound and eastern lines consider the final establishment of this line a direct opposition to themselves, and if sufficient evidence of this is given, they will act as one body, meeting the opposition at every point, with fully perfected facilities for satisfying the wants of the people. The lines comprised in the Sound and eastern corporations have established a certain rate, and abide by that as a point of equity. As far as is now understood, the new line is to be used exclusively for freightage, and there is no question in the minds of those qualified to judge but that it will considerably diminish home trade of this kind, as well as curtail the business of the little packets running between St. John and New York.
