Victoria, Friday, September 29, 1893. THE LIBERAL LEADER.

Hon, Wilfrid Laurier has completed his tour of Ontario, in which province he addressed a large number of meetings. There is abundance of independent testimony to show that Mr. Laurier's tour has been a success in every respect. His personality is sure to gain him respect and esteem wherever he goes, and although he already stood well with the people of Ontario, it is safe to say that his late visit to the province has made him many new friends and strengthened the affection of the old ones. But apart from the personal popularity which Mr. Laurier is gaining every day, it is quite evident that the political message he had to deliver was well received by the Ontario people at large. There is a general feeling among them that protection has had its day and that it will not profit the country to continue the experiment longer. With this belief rapidly gaining ground, it is not strange that the Liberal leader's declarations in favor of genuine tariff reform should be well received in Ontario, as in other parts of the country. So good a judge of the situation as Dalton McCarthy estimates that only four per cent, of the whole population is benefited by the protective policy. What wonder, then, that the other 96 per cent. begin to think it is time for a change? That feeling, after all, is the main cause of the hearty welcome extended everywhere to the Liberal leader, and Sir John Thompson will be pretty sure to find out before his tour is concluded that none but the "old guard" are ready to hail with acclaim his avowed purpose to stand by the wornout idea of protection.

It is announced in connection with the close of Mr. Laurier's Ontario tour that he intends to pay a visit to this province and address a number of meetings here. It is needless to say that he will be heartily welcomed and that he will find himself in close sympathy with the people. The majority of British Columbians are Liberal at heart and only need a free opportunity to make their true sentiments known. Assuredly the people of this province have no real incentive to range themselves on the side of "protection," for they are among the 96 per cent. who under Mr. McCarthy's classification are made to contribute to the profits of the other four per cent. They have every reason to wish that the trade barriers may be thrown down. For this reason they will welcome the message which Mr. Laurier comes to deliver, and because of his personal qualities they will welcome the man him-

MR. GLADSTONE'S POSITION.

Mr. Gladstone has told the people of Great Britain, by the speech delivered yesterday at Edinburgh, what his government's intentions are in regard to the lords and the home rule bill. His speech was in close accord with the one delivered by Home Secretary Asquith at Althorpe Park some days before the action of the house of lords was taken, but with the certain knowledge of what that action was to be. The observations of the two ministers show that the government had not waited on the formal decision of the "upper house" with regard to the bill to come to a determination as to their own future course. The Liberals refuse-and rightly -to concede to the peers the privilege of bringing about a dissolution and forcing an appeal to the people just when it suits them. The lords have no such preprogative; to yield to their arrogant pretensions on this point would mean, as Mr. Gladstone said, an overturning of the constitution, and if the lords insist on claiming such an extension of their powers they will be apt to receive a disagreeable disciplining at the hands of the people. No reasonable person can find fault with the government's refusal to accept the lprds' mandate in the place of the mandate which it received from the electorate. The two are in direct conflict, and the responsible ministers are bound to obey the voice of the people. As to the issue, there can be little doubt that Mr. Gladstone's confidence is well founded. In every instance where the aristocratic branch of the legislature has objected to the execution of popular reforms it has in the end either sullenly surrendered or been ignominiously put to flight. No man could better than Mr. Gladstone have cited the array of historical precedents which clearly points to the outcome of the present conflict. Home rule will win the day, even if it has to march to victory over the political bones of the house of lords.

Alexander Shaw, Q. C., who was member for South Bruce in the house of commons from 1878 till 1882, and was one of the most faithful supporters fo the Conservative government, has now announced that he can no longer follow Sir John Thompson. Undoubtedly a good many Conservatives have come to the same decision as Mr. Shaw, though they do not openly announce the fact. Sir John the Third will find that he has not been able to keep together all the following of Sir John the First when the time for his first general election

Sir John Thompson will have anything but an easy time of it in the Ontario stamping tour which he has just commenced. The Mail is of opinion that he "is about to undertake the difficult task of saying the same thing in fifteen or sixteen different ways in lifteen or sixteen different places. This is one the feats of statesmanship which many attempt but few accomplish." The Tory Hamilton Spectator says much the same thing when it observes: "It is not to be expected that the premier can constantly say new things. The satisfactory thing is that he says the old things in a perfectly satisfactory way. He demonstrates that the Dominion is more prosperous than any other country, and his demonstration is perfect." By the time Sir John has got through his "demonstration" in fifteen different places he may himself come to realize its fail-

The Manitoba school case is likely to come first at the sitting of the supreme court at Ottawa next week. The printed case makes a somewhat imposing volume of 154 pages. It bears the title: "In the matter of certain statutes of the province of Manitoba, relating to education-referred by the Governor-General in council to the supreme court of Canada for hearing and consideration." The printed case embraces the order-in-council for reference to the court and all the various orders-in-council referring thereto: the memorials received by the government on the subject, setting forth the appeals, letters to the Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba and the list of statutes of Manitoba referring to education. All the affiravits in the case of Barrett vs. Winnipeg are included, together with the judgments rendered in the Manitoba court, in the supreme court of Canada and by the judicial committee of the privy council, as well as the affidavits and judgments in the case of Logan vs. the city of Winipeg.

There has been some queer juggling n connection with the entrance of European immigrants into the United States through Canada. The Washington government has insisted on these being inspected either at the United States border or at the points to which Canadian steamboats bring them. Of course it is more convenient for the railway companies to have the inspection made at the place of landing, since otherwise they run the risk of conveying the immigrants a long distance only to have them left on their hands. To this end an arrangement was made between Mr. Stump, the United States Superintendent of Immigration, and subordinate Dominion officials that United States officials should be allowed to make the inspection when the immigrants landed, but the Canadian government repudiated the agreement, though it is now said to have been drawn up by Sir John Thompson himself. Thereupon the United States authorities threatened to exercise their power to forbid the entrance of immigrants by way of Canada and require that they should be allowed to enter the country only at ocean ports. This would have cut off some business from the Canadian carriers, and in consequence of their pressure the Dominion government has "come down," thus adding another surrender to their record. The government has not formally yielded to the commands of Uncle Sam, but it has given the railway and steamship companies to understand that it will not interfere with the new arrangement whereby United States inspecting officers will be stationed at Canadian ports.

DEPRESSION. To the Editor: The report of the meeting of the Board of Trade called to discuss the establishment of a cold storage warehouse for Victoria represents some of the gentlemen as deploring the nonprogression of Victoria, and offering as "panacea" their idea that immigration to the province should be encouraged One gentleman (the chairman) thought Victoria's retrogression was owing to the excessive cost of living. Such a statement is an evasion of cause, as the gentleman knows that the real cause is the excessive employment of Chinese, and that white people cannot get employment here on that account. The plea usually made by employers of Chinese is that they cannot get men. The day has long gone by since white labor was scarce on the coast. Canada has helped to explode the fallacy that Chinese labor was cheaper than white. It seems a bitter thing to know that there are men who represent the largest manufacturing and business interests in the city who have no regard for the interests of those who have to depend upon the white working men, and not the government or city, to buy their materials. Such men may profess to be concerned in the prosperity of the city, but they only look to the profits of the present. What do they care if hundreds of stores and houses are empty? If idaily business failures occur? That people who would come and help build up our city are kept away? If our children are forced to run the streets for lack of an opportunity to learn a trade; Perhaps I am a little too strict-I feel that I am-and when Vancouver has absorbed the business of Victoria I feel that those gentlemen will call a meeting of the Board and in the fulsomeness of their exuberant benignity pass resolutions deploring Victoria's decadence, build their colossal refrigerator, and thencrawl into it. Of course other cities have suffered the same as our through the universal depression. the same time there has been plenty of work that could have been done here by white men instead of Chinese. I am one of many who have tried to employment in the brickyards and lumber mills without success; they had all the help they wanted (Chinese). In conclusion, if the chairman of the Board of Trade is as solicitous for Victoria's prosperity as he would lead us to be lieve, let him get rid of the Chinese in his shoe factory and give white men, girls and boys a chance to live here, and add to the prosperity of our city. Ottawa, Sept. 26.—In fair cool weather perfect for playing lacrosse, upon one of the finest lacrosse arenas in the Dominion, and in presence of an immense concourse of people, the famous champion team, the Capitals of Ottawa, and the equally famous champions of the Pacific coast, the lads in blue and white from Victoria, lined up for what proved to be probably the greatest game of lacrosse ever played in Canada. The haut ton of the capital was present, and contingents from the surrounding towns. Play began promptly on time and was very fast throughout. The following is the Fifth game-Victoria in 6 minutes. The team which the Victorias played to day was a mixed combination of Capitals, Ottawas and Stars. At the lowest comoutation 10,000 people looked on and applauded. Owing to the roughness of Saturday's game in Montreal the Capitals were in a very dilapidated condition. only H. Carson, Devine and Ketchum of the champions participating in to-day's Lord Aberdeen faced the ball ar 3:40 The first game, won by the Canitals, showed that honors were very evenly divided. In the second game the visitors showed up well, and it looked as though they would score very quickly but the Capital home, seeing a good opening, Macnaughton and Ditchburn played well in this game.

The third game saw the Victorias on their mettle and as pietty a piece of playing as was ever seen here was indulged by the visitors, when they scored in three minutes. The fourth game was taken so quickly that the visiting team had no time to show form, the Capitals scoring in one minute and a half.

In the fifth game the Victorias showed iderful improvement, and after Mac naughton had made one of his famous old-time runs, they scored in six minutes. The sixth game was unfinished when time was called. This is the first de feat the visiting club has sustained on their tour. They are a good team and made friends while in the city. Ditchburn and Cheyne were loudly applauded as they came down from the dressing room.

The report was in circulation this morning that Lacey of the Capitals had died in consequence of the injuries inflicted apon him by the mob at Montreal on Satorday. A despatch from Ottawa this afternoon announces that there was no truth in the report.

President Ellis after receiving news of he result of the match telegraphed to Field Captain Cullin suggesting that a challenge be issued to play the Capitals game for the championship. If the challenge is accepted the match would last two hours.

COMING HOME.

It is not likely that the Victoria lacrosse team will play another match with the Capitals, although local enthusiasts think that if they had a two hour match they could defeat the champions of Canada. Many of the men are anxious to return home, having been away longer than they expected. It is expected that at least seven or eight members of the feam will be here next week. The others will return later, while one or two may remain in the east for two or three conths. Everybody is satisfied and in act, enthusiastic over the showing made by the boys in blue and white. It is probable that as soon as they all seturn nome they will be entertained in some manner by their admirers in the meantime the ladies are endeavoring to devise some scheme by which they can show their admiration of the team
