

country. The broad, rolling, rugged... language of Canada... rings and...

DECLARED TO BE ULTRA VIRES

ate Dismissed Alexander Cow in Police Court This Morning His Reasons For Doing So.

Alexander cow case has been provided that he keeps his pre-sonary condition and thereby no infringement of the Public By-Law the defendant may keep cows as he pleases at his dairy...

As was beginning to assume an ancient aspect, having been less prominently before the public past several months. It arose in a plethora of complaints made by the dairy in proximity to residences...

Consequently declared sub-section 76 of by-law No. 344 ultra and could not consequently consider it.

AND BRITISHES QUICKLY HEALIED. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills applied to a cut, burn, scald or like injury will instantly heal the pain and will heal the skin...

WHOLESALE MARKET. Following quotations are Victoria prices paid for farm products...

Dr. Stewart & Co. Wholesale Fruit and Provision Merchants

40 YATES ST., VICTORIA.

Tennis, Boating, Cycling and Outing Suits

All Summer Goods To be run off to make room for New Fall Goods Now on the Way At Cost For Cash This Month B. Williams & Co., 68-70 YATES STREET.

ANNUAL EXHIBITION HELD AT DUNCANS

EXHIBITS AS NUMEROUS AS IN FORMER YEARS

Early Date of Fair Interfered Somewhat With Display of Fruit and Vegetables—The Prize List.

The annual exhibition of the Coviclian Agricultural, Horticultural and Poultry Society, held at Duncans on Friday and Saturday, was not so successful as in former years. This, however, cannot be attributed to those who had charge of the fair...

In regard to the exhibits, they were just as numerous as heretofore, but almost all the fruit in particular, showed signs of being over-ripe...

The display of roots was perhaps the most extensive exhibit of the show. This display, as with the fruit, also suffered from the fact that the show was held rather early.

The sports arranged for the afternoon were carried out most successfully. The programme included bicycle races, foot contests, etc., as well as some very interesting gymkhana events.

PRIZE WINNERS.

- A complete list of the prize winners follows: Horses. Best draft brood mare, foal at foot—G. T. Corfield 1, A. B. Wilson 2...

- Best two cucumbers—A. Pimbury 1, G. W. Lilley 2. Best two vegetable marrow—A. Pimbury special, A. B. Wilson 1, A. Pimbury 2.

- Best pedigree Southdown ram—T. W. Lilley. Best pedigree ram—Mrs. G. A. Richards. Best Oxford ram—A. Bonnell.

- Best pair of geese—G. T. Corfield 1, A. McKinnon 2. Best pair Light Brahms—G. T. Corfield 1 and 2.

- Best six stalks endlage corn—A. R. Wilson 1, G. T. Corfield 2. Best sample of timothy seed, not less than ten pounds—James Alexander.

- Best three roots "Magnum Bonum"—W. Forrest and James Alexander 1, John McPherson 2.

- Best six mangolds, Globe or Yel. Tankard—W. Forrest and James Alexander 1, John McPherson 2.

- Best six mangolds, Globe or Yel. Tankard—W. Forrest and James Alexander 1, John McPherson 2.

- Best collection of garden vegetables—A. R. Wilson 1, Mrs. J. Humphreys 2. Best pure bred Shorthorn cow—W. C. Brown.

- Best collection of fruit—A. Pimbury 1, G. H. Hadwen 2. Best winter apples, 5 kinds, 5 of each variety named—G. T. Corfield.

- Best apples, 5 Northey variety, autumn—G. T. Corfield extra, W. C. Duncan 1, A. B. Wilson 2.

- Best six stalks endlage corn—A. R. Wilson 1, G. T. Corfield 2. Best sample of timothy seed, not less than ten pounds—James Alexander.

- Best three roots "Magnum Bonum"—W. Forrest and James Alexander 1, John McPherson 2.

- Best six mangolds, Globe or Yel. Tankard—W. Forrest and James Alexander 1, John McPherson 2.

- Best six mangolds, Globe or Yel. Tankard—W. Forrest and James Alexander 1, John McPherson 2.

HON. J. C. BROWN ON THE ISSUES

HE DEFENDS HIS ADVENT TO CABINET

Mr. Joseph Martin Also Explains to New Westminster Electors Why He Is Now Dunsmuir's Ally.

A largely-attended meeting, called by Mr. Brown, was held in the opera house, New Westminster, on Saturday night, says the News-Advertiser. Mayor Scott occupied the chair, and Mr. Jos. Martin and Mr. Frank Burnett occupied seats on the platform.

TRUANTS' LOOK OUT!

Now that the school term is fairly under way it would not be out of the way to point out to truants that if the eagle eye of the police constable falls on them while engaged in their pleasant pastime they are extremely liable to be led to school by the ear. This cannot be over emphasized, and although the act does not exactly provide for the constable, the ear is by no means a very pleasant experience.

MONSTER ARCH ANCHORED.

A meeting of the decoration committee for the Royal reception was held in the city hall last evening to further preparations for that event. As a result of telegrams which have passed between the Mayor and Major Mando, it is evident that the proposal to present the addresses and confer the medals at the arch at the corner of Douglas and Yates streets will not be carried out, but will probably be done at the parliament buildings.

HAVE YOU A SKIN DISEASE?

Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Eczema, Itch, Barber's Itch, Ulcers, Blisters, Chronic Erysipelas, Liver Spots, Freckles, or other eruptions of the skin, are cured by Dr. Agnew's Ointment. It has done for others it can do for you—surely. One application gives relief—85 cents. Sold by Jackson & Co. and Hall & Co.—87.

to depart from his principles, but he advanced their interests. They knew that a consistent opinion of his course in the legislature. He asked if they thought their interests would have been as well conserved if he had gone to the government, tomorrow in hand on all occasions, without any regard to conserving the

The impression was sought to be conveyed by opponents that the Dunsmuir government was in power when he last appeared before the people. This was not so. The Martin government was in power. When the change took place, he was opposed only to one or two individuals in it, one of whom was Mr. Turner, who was now gone. Mr. Wells and some others were, on the other hand, his political friends.

As to his position, he considered in what way his principles would be advanced by defeating a government that had introduced a measure which he approved of so far as it went. He came to the conclusion that if we downed the government we would vote for the reactionary element in the House, as against the progressive element. It was a fair question to measure which satisfied his principles to some extent. While the distribution of the voting power in the province did not prevent a perfect representation in the House, he held that the present government was as good a combination as the House could afford. Judged by their works, he considered the reference to a fairly good one and he did not think the entry of Mr. Brown into the cabinet would work to its disadvantage. Contained in the present government were two of their old colleagues, Messrs. Wells and Prentice, and he saw no reason why the Martin party should not support it, having in view also the concessions made to their principles.

He did not believe that the government as organized would last a great many years, holding to the idea that the introduction of party lines was necessary to secure a stable administration. Until that time came, however, he could not see that the position could be taken that one man could not sit in the cabinet because some other man happened to be in it.

Among the audience in the front row were Messrs. McBride, McPhillips, Garden and Tatlow, M. P.'s. A remark of Mr. Martin's during his reference to the party lines had taken in the House, that seven government supporters had arranged to vote against it on the railway policy brought Mr. McPhillips to his feet to ask for names. Mr. Martin said he was prepared to give them, but preferred not to do so.

CRUSHED TO DEATH.

Teamster at Sawyard's Mill the Victim of Fatal Accident Yesterday Afternoon.

Thos. Burke, a teamster employed at Sawyard's mill, was yesterday afternoon the victim of an accident in which he received fatal injuries. He died just as he reached the Jubilee hospital in the ambulance.

It appears he was taking a wagon load of lumber on the log slip and was crushed between the lumber and the timbers of the slip. He was in great agony, and so badly injured that death occurred a short time after.

His work was to take lumber on the wagon from the stacks to the yard, driving under the slip as usual. He had been warned to get off the wagon when reaching the slip, but he refused to do so. One of the men, J. Harding, met him about three hundred feet from the slip, and exclaimed: "You're on the wrong road." Burke replied that he had been hurt while passing under the bridge.

CURED OF CHRONIC DIARRHOEA AFTER THIRTY YEARS OF SUFFERING.

"I have suffered for thirty years with diarrhoea and though in a past being cured," says John S. Holloway, of French Camp, Miss. "I had spent so much time and money and suffered so much that I had given up all hopes of recovery. I was so feeble from the effects of the diarrhoea that I could do no kind of labor, could not even travel, but by accident I was permitted to take a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and after taking several bottles I am entirely cured of that trouble. I am so pleased with the result that I am anxious that it be reached of all who suffer as I have." For sale by Henderson Bros., Wholesale Agents.

peculiar way. The Lieutenant-Governor was in an embarrassed position after the election, and out of the conglomeration of elements in the House he might naturally have turned to him, as having the largest following. He solved the difficulty by calling upon Mr. Dunsmuir, on an arrangement that the government should be appointed for one session on condition that they should pronounce upon no vexed questions. It was to have no policy, in fact. He was therefore not debarré from giving it support if he chose. The next session a policy was developed, and while it did not go to the full extent of

The Martin Programme

It certainly went in that direction. As to his position, he considered in what way his principles would be advanced by defeating a government that had introduced a measure which he approved of so far as it went. He came to the conclusion that if we downed the government we would vote for the reactionary element in the House, as against the progressive element. It was a fair question to measure which satisfied his principles to some extent. While the distribution of the voting power in the province did not prevent a perfect representation in the House, he held that the present government was as good a combination as the House could afford. Judged by their works, he considered the reference to a fairly good one and he did not think the entry of Mr. Brown into the cabinet would work to its disadvantage.

Contained in the present government were two of their old colleagues, Messrs. Wells and Prentice, and he saw no reason why the Martin party should not support it, having in view also the concessions made to their principles. He did not believe that the government as organized would last a great many years, holding to the idea that the introduction of party lines was necessary to secure a stable administration. Until that time came, however, he could not see that the position could be taken that one man could not sit in the cabinet because some other man happened to be in it.

Among the audience in the front row were Messrs. McBride, McPhillips, Garden and Tatlow, M. P.'s. A remark of Mr. Martin's during his reference to the party lines had taken in the House, that seven government supporters had arranged to vote against it on the railway policy brought Mr. McPhillips to his feet to ask for names. Mr. Martin said he was prepared to give them, but preferred not to do so.

Mr. McPhillips said he was not one of them. Mr. Martin said he had voted for Mr. Tatlow's motion that preference should be given to a competitive railway, which was a vote of want of confidence, and if carried would have defeated the government.

Mr. Tatlow said he had not introduced his motion until the Premier had announced that the government proposed to reserve itself the right to let the contract as it saw fit. He admitted that it was a want of confidence, and he contended that it was justified by the circumstances.

CRUSHED TO DEATH.

Teamster at Sawyard's Mill the Victim of Fatal Accident Yesterday Afternoon.

Thos. Burke, a teamster employed at Sawyard's mill, was yesterday afternoon the victim of an accident in which he received fatal injuries. He died just as he reached the Jubilee hospital in the ambulance.

It appears he was taking a wagon load of lumber on the log slip and was crushed between the lumber and the timbers of the slip. He was in great agony, and so badly injured that death occurred a short time after.

His work was to take lumber on the wagon from the stacks to the yard, driving under the slip as usual. He had been warned to get off the wagon when reaching the slip, but he refused to do so. One of the men, J. Harding, met him about three hundred feet from the slip, and exclaimed: "You're on the wrong road." Burke replied that he had been hurt while passing under the bridge.

CURED OF CHRONIC DIARRHOEA AFTER THIRTY YEARS OF SUFFERING.

"I have suffered for thirty years with diarrhoea and though in a past being cured," says John S. Holloway, of French Camp, Miss. "I had spent so much time and money and suffered so much that I had given up all hopes of recovery. I was so feeble from the effects of the diarrhoea that I could do no kind of labor, could not even travel, but by accident I was permitted to take a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and after taking several bottles I am entirely cured of that trouble. I am so pleased with the result that I am anxious that it be reached of all who suffer as I have." For sale by Henderson Bros., Wholesale Agents.