

HEADQUARTERS FOR DRY GOODS!

LADIES' MISSES' AND CHILDREN'S BOOTS. MEN'S AND BOYS' WALKING SHOES. LADIES' AND MISSES' WINTER VESTS. LADIES' WINTER SACQUES AT REDUCED PRICES.

W. S. LOGGIE COY, LIMITED.

Miramichi and the North Shore, etc.

Mr. Wessner's excellent company had good success during the week they were here.

THE CHERRIES—The Battle line S. S. Cherrona, Capt. Masters, was spoken Jan. 2 in the 46. ton. 22, with two blades of propeller broken. She is bound from Galveston to Havre.

SALMON NEWS WORK—The drawing of Mrs. Christina Walsh's salmon nets, came off at her residence in the Hardwoods, on New Year's eve. Mr. Benjamin Martin, son of Ed. River (Hardwick) was the lucky winner.

A PLUMBER FOR CHATHAM—Mr. L. E. Dryden, plumber and tinsmith, of Sussex, is now in the employ of Mr. G. E. Marquis, and will be doing plumbing work in any part of the county. He comes highly recommended. Mr. Marquis is the only man in the county who has a plumber in his employ.

AN APPRECIATIVE ADDRESS was presented to Mr. Fleming J. Johnson on Wednesday evening, 4th inst., by his late fellow employees of the Dominion Pulp Company, the occasion being the severance of his connection with that establishment as book-keeper and paymaster. The address was accompanied by a purse of $40—in two $20 gold pieces.

THE DEATH OF C. A. PALMER, C. C. of St. John, took place at his residence in Hampton on Saturday morning last. He was the only son of ex-Judge, Hon. A. L. Palmer, and was 47 years of age. He had a large practice in marine insurance and shipping cases and was besides, at one time, largely interested in shipping. He leaves a widow, formerly Miss Ada Saxton, and two sons.

SEED WHEAT—It is reported that the local government will buy of F. X. J. Michaud, of Beauceville, all the large crop of wheat raised on Father Michaud's farm at Beauceville. The grain is of excellent quality, and is said to be superior to any locally better than any imported seed. Father Michaud may be said to have perfected this wheat, having grown it successfully for a good many years.—Review.

MIRAMICHI MARBLE WORKS—Now is the time to place your orders for cemetery work and avoid the spring rush. We have now on hand and coming of the largest stocks of marble and granite monuments, headstones and tablets over on the north shore, all from the latest designs and worked from the best material the market can produce. Call and get our prices. They are right. JOHN H. LAWLER & CO.

UNRIVALLED TOURIST SLEEPING cars for the accommodation of passengers holding second class tickets, are run by the Canadian Pacific Railway on Trans-continental Express train, leaving Windsor Station, Montreal, at 2 p.m. every Thursday and running through to New York on Wednesday night, also on Saturday night, leaving Windsor Station, Montreal, at 2 p.m. every Friday from Carleton Place to New York. Passengers to Calgary and west thereof accommodated in these cars on payment of small additional charge for berth; each berth will accommodate two passengers.

HYMNICAL—One of the most interesting social events of the season on the Miramichi occurred at Newcastle on Wednesday evening last week, when Miss Bessie Wheeler was united in marriage with Dr. Clifford E. Fish of Melrose, Mass., formerly of Newcastle. The marriage took place at the residence of Robert Ritchie Esq., uncle of the bride. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. William Aikens. The happy couple left on the express at noon for their future home in Melrose, followed by the good wishes of a large circle of friends.

COURT MIRAMICHI L. O. F.—The following officers have been elected by Court Miramichi, No. 165, L. O. F., Newcastle: John Clark, C. R. T. W. Crocker, V. C. R. Rev. F. G. Snow, R. S. Howard Williston, P. S. E. Lee Street, Treasurer, J. H. Pithney, Chap. W. A. Clark, S. W. R. C. McMurtry, J. W. A. McLean, S. E. R. Beckwith, J. J. Robert Nicholson, C. Phy. J. H. Fleming, C. D.

NEWCASTLE DIVISION, No. 45, S. of T., has installed the following officers: Thos. A. Clark, W. E. A. Baskin, R. S. James Russell, R. S. Beane Gromley, A. R. S. Daniel McFarlane, Treasurer, W. J. Sutherland, P. S. W. A. Clark, Chap. M. Lawrence, Con. O. N. Brown, A. C. H. B. Anslow, I. S. Donald McFarlane, O. S. Minnie Maltby, P. W. P.

A RUNAWAY CASE—A Mention despatch of Monday says: "Dr. White, veterinary surgeon, has suddenly left Moncton, and a number of persons mourn his departure. The doctor had been practicing his profession here for some time, and was to have been married on Saturday to a young lady at Fox Creek. Friday night he hired a horse from William Steeves and drove to the girl's house, and they drove away together and no trace of them has since been obtained. It is said that White stuck a large number of people, and a city constable armed with a warrant has started after him up north. The doctor's brother, Arthur White, is under arrest charged with being an accomplice. His profession entirely ignores the fact that he is a constable. Arthur was only recently discharged from the Massachusetts General Hospital. He saw active service before Santiago."

COMPLAINT IN MAKE of the failure of the hulls usually employed in the Miramichi, to do their work. They might as well not be employed at all, so far as their being of any use in helping patrons of the performance there, in the sense for which they check books. They generally meet the jumping patron and officiously take his check and look at it. They go with or follow him to the row in which his seat is, and he is permitted to take any seat that is vacant, regardless of the number of the seat on his check. The result is confusion and very daughter, was a scholar of junior proficiency. Mr. McCoy, as some of our readers, doubtless, know is at present in British Columbia. He has taken charge of the work of the Presbyterian church in Cascade City, one of the growing towns in the Kootenay district. It is improving very rapidly. It already has water works, electric light, board of trade, etc. The natural surroundings are of the best. A water power of 20,000 horse is furnished by a large stream from a canyon. The soil and climate are good, and when the C. P. R. (main line) comes over Crown's Nest Pass) is completed, it is expected will be in May, the matter of exress and ingress will be quite easy. Mr. McCoy likes the west very much.

We are quite sure that the numerous friends of Mr. and Mrs. McCoy and their family on the Miramichi will be glad to hear of their continued well-being and wish them every success in the good work they are sure to be engaged in.

Miscon. A few years ago, the inhabitants of Miscon Island, were spasmodically surprised by finding the ruins of houses buried under the sand. Some, disregarding the concession that they were giving to their conjectures, immediately asserted, that the island was once the refuge of pirates. Others went so far as to say that it was inhabited before the Deluge, and as a corollary of their statement, deduced a proof of the deluge. As we recall to mind that about the year 1629, Acadie, being then claimed by the French, there being fishing stations erected on the northern coast of our province. Miscon, possessing a commodious sheltering place, was chosen as the rendezvous. In a short time rude houses were erected, and commerce became very flourishing. However, after a few years of strife for Acadie, the fishing posts were abandoned, and the houses gradually tumbled to ruin. It is therefore evident that banditti roving along the coast in quest of booty would not prove the Deluge, and no reliance, no reliance, therefore, should be placed on those mere conjectures which are far from being substantiated by facts.

Miscon again received new comers about the year 1813, and since that time has made very little progress. The industry of the people is fishing. Agriculture is about completely neglected and, consequently, the gorge in summer and starve in winter seems to be the lot of its inhabitants. JAMES G. ROBINSON, Norman Elder.

Organization of Chatham Curling Club for the season's play was made on Monday evening. The Club now stands thus:

R. A. Lawlor, President. M. S. Hooker, Vice. W. Wilson, Secretary. E. Johnson, Treasurer. Geo. Dean, Skip. E. Johnson, Skip. R. Murray, H. M. Keady, A. J. Finn, H. S. Macdonald, P. A. Noonan, Dr. John McDonald, H. McLean, D. Chesman, Skip. Alex. Barr, Skip. W. T. Lewis, H. W. Landon, Geo. Christie, Art. McKendry, W. C. Winslow, H. Anderson, Norman Elder.

Organization of Chatham Curling Club for the season's play was made on Monday evening. The Club now stands thus: R. A. Lawlor, President. M. S. Hooker, Vice. W. Wilson, Secretary. E. Johnson, Treasurer. Geo. Dean, Skip. E. Johnson, Skip. R. Murray, H. M. Keady, A. J. Finn, H. S. Macdonald, P. A. Noonan, Dr. John McDonald, H. McLean, D. Chesman, Skip. Alex. Barr, Skip. W. T. Lewis, H. W. Landon, Geo. Christie, Art. McKendry, W. C. Winslow, H. Anderson, Norman Elder.

Organization of Chatham Curling Club for the season's play was made on Monday evening. The Club now stands thus: R. A. Lawlor, President. M. S. Hooker, Vice. W. Wilson, Secretary. E. Johnson, Treasurer. Geo. Dean, Skip. E. Johnson, Skip. R. Murray, H. M. Keady, A. J. Finn, H. S. Macdonald, P. A. Noonan, Dr. John McDonald, H. McLean, D. Chesman, Skip. Alex. Barr, Skip. W. T. Lewis, H. W. Landon, Geo. Christie, Art. McKendry, W. C. Winslow, H. Anderson, Norman Elder.

Organization of Chatham Curling Club for the season's play was made on Monday evening. The Club now stands thus: R. A. Lawlor, President. M. S. Hooker, Vice. W. Wilson, Secretary. E. Johnson, Treasurer. Geo. Dean, Skip. E. Johnson, Skip. R. Murray, H. M. Keady, A. J. Finn, H. S. Macdonald, P. A. Noonan, Dr. John McDonald, H. McLean, D. Chesman, Skip. Alex. Barr, Skip. W. T. Lewis, H. W. Landon, Geo. Christie, Art. McKendry, W. C. Winslow, H. Anderson, Norman Elder.

Organization of Chatham Curling Club for the season's play was made on Monday evening. The Club now stands thus: R. A. Lawlor, President. M. S. Hooker, Vice. W. Wilson, Secretary. E. Johnson, Treasurer. Geo. Dean, Skip. E. Johnson, Skip. R. Murray, H. M. Keady, A. J. Finn, H. S. Macdonald, P. A. Noonan, Dr. John McDonald, H. McLean, D. Chesman, Skip. Alex. Barr, Skip. W. T. Lewis, H. W. Landon, Geo. Christie, Art. McKendry, W. C. Winslow, H. Anderson, Norman Elder.

Organization of Chatham Curling Club for the season's play was made on Monday evening. The Club now stands thus: R. A. Lawlor, President. M. S. Hooker, Vice. W. Wilson, Secretary. E. Johnson, Treasurer. Geo. Dean, Skip. E. Johnson, Skip. R. Murray, H. M. Keady, A. J. Finn, H. S. Macdonald, P. A. Noonan, Dr. John McDonald, H. McLean, D. Chesman, Skip. Alex. Barr, Skip. W. T. Lewis, H. W. Landon, Geo. Christie, Art. McKendry, W. C. Winslow, H. Anderson, Norman Elder.

Organization of Chatham Curling Club for the season's play was made on Monday evening. The Club now stands thus: R. A. Lawlor, President. M. S. Hooker, Vice. W. Wilson, Secretary. E. Johnson, Treasurer. Geo. Dean, Skip. E. Johnson, Skip. R. Murray, H. M. Keady, A. J. Finn, H. S. Macdonald, P. A. Noonan, Dr. John McDonald, H. McLean, D. Chesman, Skip. Alex. Barr, Skip. W. T. Lewis, H. W. Landon, Geo. Christie, Art. McKendry, W. C. Winslow, H. Anderson, Norman Elder.

Organization of Chatham Curling Club for the season's play was made on Monday evening. The Club now stands thus: R. A. Lawlor, President. M. S. Hooker, Vice. W. Wilson, Secretary. E. Johnson, Treasurer. Geo. Dean, Skip. E. Johnson, Skip. R. Murray, H. M. Keady, A. J. Finn, H. S. Macdonald, P. A. Noonan, Dr. John McDonald, H. McLean, D. Chesman, Skip. Alex. Barr, Skip. W. T. Lewis, H. W. Landon, Geo. Christie, Art. McKendry, W. C. Winslow, H. Anderson, Norman Elder.

Organization of Chatham Curling Club for the season's play was made on Monday evening. The Club now stands thus: R. A. Lawlor, President. M. S. Hooker, Vice. W. Wilson, Secretary. E. Johnson, Treasurer. Geo. Dean, Skip. E. Johnson, Skip. R. Murray, H. M. Keady, A. J. Finn, H. S. Macdonald, P. A. Noonan, Dr. John McDonald, H. McLean, D. Chesman, Skip. Alex. Barr, Skip. W. T. Lewis, H. W. Landon, Geo. Christie, Art. McKendry, W. C. Winslow, H. Anderson, Norman Elder.

Organization of Chatham Curling Club for the season's play was made on Monday evening. The Club now stands thus: R. A. Lawlor, President. M. S. Hooker, Vice. W. Wilson, Secretary. E. Johnson, Treasurer. Geo. Dean, Skip. E. Johnson, Skip. R. Murray, H. M. Keady, A. J. Finn, H. S. Macdonald, P. A. Noonan, Dr. John McDonald, H. McLean, D. Chesman, Skip. Alex. Barr, Skip. W. T. Lewis, H. W. Landon, Geo. Christie, Art. McKendry, W. C. Winslow, H. Anderson, Norman Elder.

Organization of Chatham Curling Club for the season's play was made on Monday evening. The Club now stands thus: R. A. Lawlor, President. M. S. Hooker, Vice. W. Wilson, Secretary. E. Johnson, Treasurer. Geo. Dean, Skip. E. Johnson, Skip. R. Murray, H. M. Keady, A. J. Finn, H. S. Macdonald, P. A. Noonan, Dr. John McDonald, H. McLean, D. Chesman, Skip. Alex. Barr, Skip. W. T. Lewis, H. W. Landon, Geo. Christie, Art. McKendry, W. C. Winslow, H. Anderson, Norman Elder.

able and friendly course. No man cared to believe that he was in this and to be stung out for the purpose. Ald. Loggie thought the matter might be arranged without resort to that proposed, but the public interest must be preserved. Ald. Flanagan disclaimed any desire to compromise his own or his constituents' interests, but he had no objection to do it, but must do what he conceived to be his duty to the public, regardless of that gentleman or anybody else.

Ald. McIntosh made a similar disclaimer. He assumed that Mr. Snowball meant him as the person who had put aid. Flanagan forward as the mover in this matter, but said it was not so. As a seconder of the resolution he had taken equal responsibility with the mover. There was little to be said now, as they had discussed the matter for two hours in another place. Ald. Snowball could settle it all if he would only hand over the deed which he claimed defined the line, for that certain branch of the matter went to show that nobody so far knew exactly where the street originally was, its width or other necessary particulars. He disclaimed any desire to antagonize Mr. Snowball, but claimed that when that gentleman had reasons to believe that $150,000 was to be spent by the Town for a water and sewerage system he put the fence there to try the honesty of the council—to find out how many "limberbacks" there were among the aldermen—how many of them would have been for the poor and another for the rich, and could be handled. He might be called "stiff-backed," but he would never be called a "limberback."

A poor man put up a post 2 feet on Wellington street and the Street Commissioner made a mark on the ground to show that nobody so far knew exactly where the street originally was, its width or other necessary particulars. He disclaimed any desire to antagonize Mr. Snowball, but claimed that when that gentleman had reasons to believe that $150,000 was to be spent by the Town for a water and sewerage system he put the fence there to try the honesty of the council—to find out how many "limberbacks" there were among the aldermen—how many of them would have been for the poor and another for the rich, and could be handled. He might be called "stiff-backed," but he would never be called a "limberback."

A poor man put up a post 2 feet on Wellington street and the Street Commissioner made a mark on the ground to show that nobody so far knew exactly where the street originally was, its width or other necessary particulars. He disclaimed any desire to antagonize Mr. Snowball, but claimed that when that gentleman had reasons to believe that $150,000 was to be spent by the Town for a water and sewerage system he put the fence there to try the honesty of the council—to find out how many "limberbacks" there were among the aldermen—how many of them would have been for the poor and another for the rich, and could be handled. He might be called "stiff-backed," but he would never be called a "limberback."

A poor man put up a post 2 feet on Wellington street and the Street Commissioner made a mark on the ground to show that nobody so far knew exactly where the street originally was, its width or other necessary particulars. He disclaimed any desire to antagonize Mr. Snowball, but claimed that when that gentleman had reasons to believe that $150,000 was to be spent by the Town for a water and sewerage system he put the fence there to try the honesty of the council—to find out how many "limberbacks" there were among the aldermen—how many of them would have been for the poor and another for the rich, and could be handled. He might be called "stiff-backed," but he would never be called a "limberback."

A poor man put up a post 2 feet on Wellington street and the Street Commissioner made a mark on the ground to show that nobody so far knew exactly where the street originally was, its width or other necessary particulars. He disclaimed any desire to antagonize Mr. Snowball, but claimed that when that gentleman had reasons to believe that $150,000 was to be spent by the Town for a water and sewerage system he put the fence there to try the honesty of the council—to find out how many "limberbacks" there were among the aldermen—how many of them would have been for the poor and another for the rich, and could be handled. He might be called "stiff-backed," but he would never be called a "limberback."

A poor man put up a post 2 feet on Wellington street and the Street Commissioner made a mark on the ground to show that nobody so far knew exactly where the street originally was, its width or other necessary particulars. He disclaimed any desire to antagonize Mr. Snowball, but claimed that when that gentleman had reasons to believe that $150,000 was to be spent by the Town for a water and sewerage system he put the fence there to try the honesty of the council—to find out how many "limberbacks" there were among the aldermen—how many of them would have been for the poor and another for the rich, and could be handled. He might be called "stiff-backed," but he would never be called a "limberback."

A poor man put up a post 2 feet on Wellington street and the Street Commissioner made a mark on the ground to show that nobody so far knew exactly where the street originally was, its width or other necessary particulars. He disclaimed any desire to antagonize Mr. Snowball, but claimed that when that gentleman had reasons to believe that $150,000 was to be spent by the Town for a water and sewerage system he put the fence there to try the honesty of the council—to find out how many "limberbacks" there were among the aldermen—how many of them would have been for the poor and another for the rich, and could be handled. He might be called "stiff-backed," but he would never be called a "limberback."

A poor man put up a post 2 feet on Wellington street and the Street Commissioner made a mark on the ground to show that nobody so far knew exactly where the street originally was, its width or other necessary particulars. He disclaimed any desire to antagonize Mr. Snowball, but claimed that when that gentleman had reasons to believe that $150,000 was to be spent by the Town for a water and sewerage system he put the fence there to try the honesty of the council—to find out how many "limberbacks" there were among the aldermen—how many of them would have been for the poor and another for the rich, and could be handled. He might be called "stiff-backed," but he would never be called a "limberback."

A poor man put up a post 2 feet on Wellington street and the Street Commissioner made a mark on the ground to show that nobody so far knew exactly where the street originally was, its width or other necessary particulars. He disclaimed any desire to antagonize Mr. Snowball, but claimed that when that gentleman had reasons to believe that $150,000 was to be spent by the Town for a water and sewerage system he put the fence there to try the honesty of the council—to find out how many "limberbacks" there were among the aldermen—how many of them would have been for the poor and another for the rich, and could be handled. He might be called "stiff-backed," but he would never be called a "limberback."

A poor man put up a post 2 feet on Wellington street and the Street Commissioner made a mark on the ground to show that nobody so far knew exactly where the street originally was, its width or other necessary particulars. He disclaimed any desire to antagonize Mr. Snowball, but claimed that when that gentleman had reasons to believe that $150,000 was to be spent by the Town for a water and sewerage system he put the fence there to try the honesty of the council—to find out how many "limberbacks" there were among the aldermen—how many of them would have been for the poor and another for the rich, and could be handled. He might be called "stiff-backed," but he would never be called a "limberback."

A poor man put up a post 2 feet on Wellington street and the Street Commissioner made a mark on the ground to show that nobody so far knew exactly where the street originally was, its width or other necessary particulars. He disclaimed any desire to antagonize Mr. Snowball, but claimed that when that gentleman had reasons to believe that $150,000 was to be spent by the Town for a water and sewerage system he put the fence there to try the honesty of the council—to find out how many "limberbacks" there were among the aldermen—how many of them would have been for the poor and another for the rich, and could be handled. He might be called "stiff-backed," but he would never be called a "limberback."

A poor man put up a post 2 feet on Wellington street and the Street Commissioner made a mark on the ground to show that nobody so far knew exactly where the street originally was, its width or other necessary particulars. He disclaimed any desire to antagonize Mr. Snowball, but claimed that when that gentleman had reasons to believe that $150,000 was to be spent by the Town for a water and sewerage system he put the fence there to try the honesty of the council—to find out how many "limberbacks" there were among the aldermen—how many of them would have been for the poor and another for the rich, and could be handled. He might be called "stiff-backed," but he would never be called a "limberback."

A poor man put up a post 2 feet on Wellington street and the Street Commissioner made a mark on the ground to show that nobody so far knew exactly where the street originally was, its width or other necessary particulars. He disclaimed any desire to antagonize Mr. Snowball, but claimed that when that gentleman had reasons to believe that $150,000 was to be spent by the Town for a water and sewerage system he put the fence there to try the honesty of the council—to find out how many "limberbacks" there were among the aldermen—how many of them would have been for the poor and another for the rich, and could be handled. He might be called "stiff-backed," but he would never be called a "limberback."

A poor man put up a post 2 feet on Wellington street and the Street Commissioner made a mark on the ground to show that nobody so far knew exactly where the street originally was, its width or other necessary particulars. He disclaimed any desire to antagonize Mr. Snowball, but claimed that when that gentleman had reasons to believe that $150,000 was to be spent by the Town for a water and sewerage system he put the fence there to try the honesty of the council—to find out how many "limberbacks" there were among the aldermen—how many of them would have been for the poor and another for the rich, and could be handled. He might be called "stiff-backed," but he would never be called a "limberback."

able and friendly course. No man cared to believe that he was in this and to be stung out for the purpose. Ald. Loggie thought the matter might be arranged without resort to that proposed, but the public interest must be preserved. Ald. Flanagan disclaimed any desire to compromise his own or his constituents' interests, but he had no objection to do it, but must do what he conceived to be his duty to the public, regardless of that gentleman or anybody else.

Ald. McIntosh made a similar disclaimer. He assumed that Mr. Snowball meant him as the person who had put aid. Flanagan forward as the mover in this matter, but said it was not so. As a seconder of the resolution he had taken equal responsibility with the mover. There was little to be said now, as they had discussed the matter for two hours in another place. Ald. Snowball could settle it all if he would only hand over the deed which he claimed defined the line, for that certain branch of the matter went to show that nobody so far knew exactly where the street originally was, its width or other necessary particulars. He disclaimed any desire to antagonize Mr. Snowball, but claimed that when that gentleman had reasons to believe that $150,000 was to be spent by the Town for a water and sewerage system he put the fence there to try the honesty of the council—to find out how many "limberbacks" there were among the aldermen—how many of them would have been for the poor and another for the rich, and could be handled. He might be called "stiff-backed," but he would never be called a "limberback."

A poor man put up a post 2 feet on Wellington street and the Street Commissioner made a mark on the ground to show that nobody so far knew exactly where the street originally was, its width or other necessary particulars. He disclaimed any desire to antagonize Mr. Snowball, but claimed that when that gentleman had reasons to believe that $150,000 was to be spent by the Town for a water and sewerage system he put the fence there to try the honesty of the council—to find out how many "limberbacks" there were among the aldermen—how many of them would have been for the poor and another for the rich, and could be handled. He might be called "stiff-backed," but he would never be called a "limberback."

A poor man put up a post 2 feet on Wellington street and the Street Commissioner made a mark on the ground to show that nobody so far knew exactly where the street originally was, its width or other necessary particulars. He disclaimed any desire to antagonize Mr. Snowball, but claimed that when that gentleman had reasons to believe that $150,000 was to be spent by the Town for a water and sewerage system he put the fence there to try the honesty of the council—to find out how many "limberbacks" there were among the aldermen—how many of them would have been for the poor and another for the rich, and could be handled. He might be called "stiff-backed," but he would never be called a "limberback."

A poor man put up a post 2 feet on Wellington street and the Street Commissioner made a mark on the ground to show that nobody so far knew exactly where the street originally was, its width or other necessary particulars. He disclaimed any desire to antagonize Mr. Snowball, but claimed that when that gentleman had reasons to believe that $150,000 was to be spent by the Town for a water and sewerage system he put the fence there to try the honesty of the council—to find out how many "limberbacks" there were among the aldermen—how many of them would have been for the poor and another for the rich, and could be handled. He might be called "stiff-backed," but he would never be called a "limberback."

A poor man put up a post 2 feet on Wellington street and the Street Commissioner made a mark on the ground to show that nobody so far knew exactly where the street originally was, its width or other necessary particulars. He disclaimed any desire to antagonize Mr. Snowball, but claimed that when that gentleman had reasons to believe that $150,000 was to be spent by the Town for a water and sewerage system he put the fence there to try the honesty of the council—to find out how many "limberbacks" there were among the aldermen—how many of them would have been for the poor and another for the rich, and could be handled. He might be called "stiff-backed," but he would never be called a "limberback."

A poor man put up a post 2 feet on Wellington street and the Street Commissioner made a mark on the ground to show that nobody so far knew exactly where the street originally was, its width or other necessary particulars. He disclaimed any desire to antagonize Mr. Snowball, but claimed that when that gentleman had reasons to believe that $150,000 was to be spent by the Town for a water and sewerage system he put the fence there to try the honesty of the council—to find out how many "limberbacks" there were among the aldermen—how many of them would have been for the poor and another for the rich, and could be handled. He might be called "stiff-backed," but he would never be called a "limberback."

A poor man put up a post 2 feet on Wellington street and the Street Commissioner made a mark on the ground to show that nobody so far knew exactly where the street originally was, its width or other necessary particulars. He disclaimed any desire to antagonize Mr. Snowball, but claimed that when that gentleman had reasons to believe that $150,000 was to be spent by the Town for a water and sewerage system he put the fence there to try the honesty of the council—to find out how many "limberbacks" there were among the aldermen—how many of them would have been for the poor and another for the rich, and could be handled. He might be called "stiff-backed," but he would never be called a "limberback."

A poor man put up a post 2 feet on Wellington street and the Street Commissioner made a mark on the ground to show that nobody so far knew exactly where the street originally was, its width or other necessary particulars. He disclaimed any desire to antagonize Mr. Snowball, but claimed that when that gentleman had reasons to believe that $150,000 was to be spent by the Town for a water and sewerage system he put the fence there to try the honesty of the council—to find out how many "limberbacks" there were among the aldermen—how many of them would have been for the poor and another for the rich, and could be handled. He might be called "stiff-backed," but he would never be called a "limberback."

A poor man put up a post 2 feet on Wellington street and the Street Commissioner made a mark on the ground to show that nobody so far knew exactly where the street originally was, its width or other necessary particulars. He disclaimed any desire to antagonize Mr. Snowball, but claimed that when that gentleman had reasons to believe that $150,000 was to be spent by the Town for a water and sewerage system he put the fence there to try the honesty of the council—to find out how many "limberbacks" there were among the aldermen—how many of them would have been for the poor and another for the rich, and could be handled. He might be called "stiff-backed," but he would never be called a "limberback."

A poor man put up a post 2 feet on Wellington street and the Street Commissioner made a mark on the ground to show that nobody so far knew exactly where the street originally was, its width or other necessary particulars. He disclaimed any desire to antagonize Mr. Snowball, but claimed that when that gentleman had reasons to believe that $150,000 was to be spent by the Town for a water and sewerage system he put the fence there to try the honesty of the council—to find out how many "limberbacks" there were among the aldermen—how many of them would have been for the poor and another for the rich, and could be handled. He might be called "stiff-backed," but he would never be called a "limberback."

A poor man put up a post 2 feet on Wellington street and the Street Commissioner made a mark on the ground to show that nobody so far knew exactly where the street originally was, its width or other necessary particulars. He disclaimed any desire to antagonize Mr. Snowball, but claimed that when that gentleman had reasons to believe that $150,000 was to be spent by the Town for a water and sewerage system he put the fence there to try the honesty of the council—to find out how many "limberbacks" there were among the aldermen—how many of them would have been for the poor and another for the rich, and could be handled. He might be called "stiff-backed," but he would never be called a "limberback."

A poor man put up a post 2 feet on Wellington street and the Street Commissioner made a mark on the ground to show that nobody so far knew exactly where the street originally was, its width or other necessary particulars. He disclaimed any desire to antagonize Mr. Snowball, but claimed that when that gentleman had reasons to believe that $150,000 was to be spent by the Town for a water and sewerage system he put the fence there to try the honesty of the council—to find out how many "limberbacks" there were among the aldermen—how many of them would have been for the poor and another for the rich, and could be handled. He might be called "stiff-backed," but he would never be called a "limberback."

A poor man put up a post 2 feet on Wellington street and the Street Commissioner made a mark on the ground to show that nobody so far knew exactly where the street originally was, its width or other necessary particulars. He disclaimed any desire to antagonize Mr. Snowball, but claimed that when that gentleman had reasons to believe that $150,000 was to be spent by the Town for a water and sewerage system he put the fence there to try the honesty of the council—to find out how many "limberbacks" there were among the aldermen—how many of them would have been for the poor and another for the rich, and could be handled. He might be called "stiff-backed," but he would never be called a "limberback."

A poor man put up a post 2 feet on Wellington street and the Street Commissioner made a mark on the ground to show that nobody so far knew exactly where the street originally was, its width or other necessary particulars. He disclaimed any desire to antagonize Mr. Snowball, but claimed that when that gentleman had reasons to believe that $150,000 was to be spent by the Town for a water and sewerage system he put the fence there to try the honesty of the council—to find out how many "limberbacks" there were among the aldermen—how many of them would have been for the poor and another for the rich, and could be handled. He might be called "stiff-backed," but he would never be called a "limberback."

able and friendly course. No man cared to believe that he was in this and to be stung out for the purpose. Ald. Loggie thought the matter might be arranged without resort to that proposed, but the public interest must be preserved. Ald. Flanagan disclaimed any desire to compromise his own or his constituents' interests, but he had no objection to do it, but must do what he conceived to be his duty to the public, regardless of that gentleman or anybody else.

Ald. McIntosh made a similar disclaimer. He assumed that Mr. Snowball meant him as the person who had put aid. Flanagan forward as the mover in this matter, but said it was not so. As a seconder of the resolution he had taken equal responsibility with the mover. There was little to be said now, as they had discussed the matter for two hours in another place. Ald. Snowball could settle it all if he would only hand over the deed which he claimed defined the line, for that certain branch of the matter went to show that nobody so far knew exactly where the street originally was, its width or other necessary particulars. He disclaimed any desire to antagonize Mr. Snowball, but claimed that when that gentleman had reasons to believe that $150,000 was to be spent by the Town for a water and sewerage system he put the fence there to try the honesty of the council—to find out how many "limberbacks" there were among the aldermen—how many of them would have been for the poor and another for the rich, and could be handled. He might be called "stiff-backed," but he would never be called a "limberback."

A poor man put up a post 2 feet on Wellington street and the Street Commissioner made a mark on the ground to show that nobody so far knew exactly where the street originally was, its width or other necessary particulars. He disclaimed any desire to antagonize Mr. Snowball, but claimed that when that gentleman had reasons to believe that $150,000 was to be spent by the Town for a water and sewerage system he put the fence there to try the honesty of the council—to find out how many "limberbacks" there were among the aldermen—how many of them would have been for the poor and another for the rich, and could be handled. He might be called "stiff-backed," but he would never be called a "limberback."

A poor man put up a post 2 feet on Wellington street and the Street Commissioner made a mark on the ground to show that nobody so far knew exactly where the street originally was, its width or other necessary particulars. He disclaimed any desire to antagonize Mr. Snowball, but claimed that when that gentleman had reasons to believe that $150,000 was to be spent by the Town for a water and sewerage system he put the fence there to try the honesty of the council—to find out how many "limberbacks" there were among the aldermen—how many of them would have been for the poor and another for the rich, and could be handled. He might be called "stiff-backed," but he would never be called a "limberback."

A poor man put up a post 2 feet on Wellington street and the Street Commissioner made a mark on the ground to show that nobody so far knew exactly where the street originally was, its width or other necessary particulars. He disclaimed any desire to antagonize Mr. Snowball, but claimed that when that gentleman had reasons to believe that $150,000 was to be spent by the Town for a water and sewerage system he put the fence there to try the honesty of the council—to find out how many "limberbacks" there were among the aldermen—how many of them would have been for the poor and another for the rich, and could be handled. He might be called "stiff-backed," but he would never be called a "limberback."

A poor man put up a post 2 feet on Wellington street and the Street Commissioner made a mark on the ground to show that nobody so far knew exactly where the street originally was, its width or other necessary particulars. He disclaimed any desire to antagonize Mr. Snowball, but claimed that when that gentleman had reasons to believe that $150,000 was to be spent by the Town for a water and sewerage system he put the fence there to try the honesty of the council—to find out how many "limberbacks" there were among the aldermen—how many of them would have been for the poor and another for the rich, and could be handled. He might be called "stiff-backed," but he would never be called a "limberback."

A poor man put up a post 2 feet on Wellington street and the Street Commissioner made a mark on the ground to show that nobody so far knew exactly where the street originally was, its width or other necessary particulars. He disclaimed any desire to antagonize Mr. Snowball, but claimed that when that gentleman had reasons to believe that $150,000 was to be spent by the Town for a water and sewerage system he put the fence there to try the honesty of the council—to find out how many "limberbacks" there were among the aldermen—how many of them would have been for the poor and another for the rich, and could be handled. He might be called "stiff-backed," but he would never be called a "limberback."

A poor man put up a post 2 feet on Wellington street and the Street Commissioner made a mark on the ground to show that nobody so far knew exactly where the street originally was, its width or other necessary particulars. He disclaimed any desire to antagonize Mr. Snowball, but claimed that when that gentleman had reasons to believe that $150,000 was to be spent by the Town for a water and sewerage system he put the fence there to try the honesty of the council—to find out how many "limberbacks" there were among the aldermen—how many of them would have been for the poor and another for the rich, and could be handled. He might be called "stiff-backed," but he would never be called a "limberback."