PRESENTATION TO MAJOR PARKS About 3.30 o'clock this afternoon a large number of ladles and genite-men gathered round the marquee tent to attend the At Home given by Lt. Col. McLean and Mrs. McLean and to take part in the presentation to Major John H. Parks of a piece of plate. The plate is a sterling silver salver or tray, burnished in the centre and with a beautifully stamped border in a pattern of roses, daisies and shells. It is about thirty inches long by eigh-teen in. hes wide, and of an oval shape. In the centre the following inscription is nacely engraved: "Major John H.
