Portlands v. Roses
Manager Hane of the Roses, has received word from Gilden, the Millinocket pitcher, that he will be on hand for the game with the Portlands on Friday and Saturday. Gilden is the man who made such a good impression when he pitched for the Roses against the Haverhill team. The Roses will also have a fast third baseman here to fill Howe's place. Two rattling good games are expected.

TURF AND TRACK NOTES.

It is said at Saratoga that Jockey O'Neill has not been engaged for next season by any person, because his father, a resident of St. Louis, explicitly states that he has not been approached by any person to sign the necessary papers, the boy being a minor. It is said that an effort will be made to engage O'Neill by one of the most powerful stables on the turf. Trainers and rail birds at the Saratoga track are now inclined to believe that James R. Keene has the winner of the Futurity in his stable. Jas. Rowe, trainer for Mr. Keene, is among those who believe that the famous white and pink dots will pass the judges stand in the Futurity. Mr. Rowe expects Israelite to take the two year classic. Israelite was worked recently, "clocks" showing the following figures: 0.484, 1.01, 1.134, 1.284. The colt concluded the work well within himself.

A GREAT SENSATION.

LONDON, Aug. 26.—The report of the royal commission of the South African war of which Lord Strathcona was a member, published today makes a great sensation, despite the fact that parliament was on a holiday. The commission pays every tribute to Canadian and Australian contingents, and says it received much evidence indicating the high qualities and value of the over-sea colonial troops, especially the first contingents, and adds, "They were picked bodies of men, chosen from among a large number of applicants, chiefly of the kind well suited to the conditions of war in South Africa. If, as an important witness said, they were not so useful as the British troops for serious attack which had to be driven home, they on the whole were more akin to the Boer than the regular in individual resourcefulness and ability to look after themselves. With their instinct for country intelligence in scouting and despatch riding, and so forth, if properly trained and disciplined they would readily become as fine a body of mounted infantry as any general could desire to command. They are in fact, half soldiers by their upbringing." The commission regrets that want of method on the part of military authorities in the treatment of irregulars and the propensity to belittle over sea colonialists, though it confesses that most of the 60,000 colonials raised in South Africa itself were hardly worth the money they cost the imperial treasury, namely $40,000,000 or thrice the sum paid to the over-sea contingents. The commission pays a tribute to the royal military college of Kingston, as an efficient and most useful institution, which has turned out some distinguished men, though the number trained there is necessarily small.

KENNEBECASIS FERRY.

A number of gentlemen, among whom are Capt. A. T. Mabee and his brother, Capt. Fred Mabee, sometime ago interested themselves in the matter of providing an efficient ferry service between Rothesay and several other points on the Kennebecasis. As a result it is expected that by next week the new service will be in operation. The trim little steamer Marguerite will be placed on the route, which will be from Rothesay to Moss Glenn, Clifton and the Willows. The Marguerite, which will be under the command of Capt. Chas. McLean, has recently undergone a complete overhauling and is now in first-class condition in every respect. No doubt the establishment of this service will be good news for many who have felt the need of just such a service. The time table of the service has not yet been published, but the best possible plan for the trips of the Marguerite will be adopted.

DOMINION PARLIAMNET.

OTTAWA, Aug. 1.—Mr. Clancy's speech on the Grand Trunk Pacific was a strong endorsement of Mr. Borden's policy in regard to the Fleiding's proposal to hand over $11,300,000 to an actuary, he asked Cartwright to endorse the handing over of such a large amount to a private concern, but Mr. Clancy declined to commit himself. Referring to the government scheme, Mr. Clancy denounced it as an ill-considered and inconsiderate one. He showed that Ontario had numerous railways passing through undeveloped country, and contended that more colonization roads were needed. Every one of the roads would be feeders to extend the Intercolonial. The Grand Trunk Pacific from Winnipeg to Quebec would be 64 miles longer than from Winnipeg to Montreal by the enlarged Intercolonial and water route. Mr. Clancy defended Mr. Blair and asked if Russell was paid the price of a judgeship by blackguarding the ex-judge. Referring to Borden, Mr. Clancy said that the conservative party was not living on the deeds of the past leaders of the conservative party. They were living on the merit of a great policy advocated by a great leader, whom the party could rely with as much confidence as on the great leaders who preceded him. Mr. Borden had shown himself equal to the task of framing a policy which challenged criticism and enjoyed the confidence of the great majority of Canadians.

Mr. Rache (Marquette), speaking for the west, read resolutions from the Grain Growers' Association, extracts from liberal newspapers and interviews given by prominent liberals, including Bickerdike, M. P. of St. Lawrence, and Duniston of Montreal, to show how strong the feeling was in favor of Borden's policy. He congratulated the leader of the opposition on not having folded his arms and retired behind the lines of toria vedras as Laurier had done in the Manitoba school question. Mr. Borden had chosen the better part, and had courageously given the country a policy worthy of one who followed in such an acceptable manner the great leaders of the conservative party.

Sir William Mulock followed in a general attack on the opposition policy and in defence of the government's scheme. Mr. Mulock opposed improvements to the Atlantic ports as suggested by Mr. Borden. He did not think the country could afford it. If St. John and Halifax were made free ports it would throw too great a burden on the people of Ontario. If the opposition policy was adopted it would mean the expenditure of $55,000,000. Mr. Mulock also opposed the development of ocean ports by constructing government elevators, which he declared would be disastrous to private enterprises. He declared the government had a mandate from the people to build a road. Why were the liberals returned to power? A voice said, "God knows it was a mistake."

Mr. Bell replied and expressed his appreciation of Mr. Mulock's conversion to an appreciation of the needs of Canada after having spent most of his life in trading his country. Mr. Bell answered Mulock's opposition to making Atlantic ports free by calling attention to the recent action of the government in making them free. Mr. Mulock under the circumstances had made himself ridiculous. Speaking of the cost of the opposition, Mr. Bell gave figures to show that it would cost $20,000,000. This would connect Halifax with Winnipeg and would allow the property purchased to remain in the hands of the government. These figures had been supplied from a reliable source and were not the result of guess work, which characterized Mulock's ridiculous statements. The conservative party were not afraid to spend money, but they wanted to see it properly spent.

Mr. Bell showed that the much vaunted backing which was to come from the Grand Trunk was moonshine. The company had only paid dividends on one quarter of its stock and could not manage to meet its obligations on the remaining three-quarters. How, then, was it going to pay interest on the government's investment when it could not pay its own shareholders. Mr. Wade moved the adjournment at midnight.

NOTES.

Mr. Blair arrived here tonight, as he expected to vote on the Grand Trunk Pacific resolutions.

Captain Bernier is still here, anxiously awaiting supplementary estimates, in which he expects substantial vote for his proposed North Pole expedition. So far he has been promised $11,964 in money and $538,433 in goods to help him with his project.

Robt. Reford of Montreal, has accepted the chairmanship of the proposed transportation commission, which Sir Wm. Van Horne refused. The public accounts committee held its closing meeting today. On motion of Mr. Clancy a cordial vote of thanks was tendered to D. C. Fraser for his impartial conduct as chairman, but evidence was offered to show that figures were frequently changed so as to make them balance.

Lord Strathcona paid a flying visit to Ottawa today.

Cap Sullivan is here. In the liberal room tonight he was received with great applause and there was hand-shaking all round.

HALIFAX POLITICS.

HALIFAX, Aug. 26.—The liberal managers here have been busy today spreading stories that R. L. Borden preferred J. C. O'Mullin to A. B. Crosby as a colleague in the election campaign in this county. There is absolutely no truth in these stories. Mr. Crosby has been twice elected mayor of Halifax, his second election being with a greatly increased majority, and he is popular with all classes. But the delegates apparently believed that a candidate with more leisure than the mayor would have still better prospects of success, and they chose Mr. O'Mullin. In response to an enquiry Mr. Borden telegraphed as follows: "Statement that I wanted another candidate is absolutely false from beginning to end. I did not interfere in the slightest way with the selection of a candidate, nor did I use any influence directly or indirectly in favor of either Mr. Crosby or Mr. O'Mullin. Both are capable and estimable gentlemen, and either of them would make an excellent representative of the great metropolitan county of Halifax. I have stood on public platforms with each of them both in dominion and provincial campaigns, and I can testify to the splendid ability which each of them has displayed in dealing with the public questions of the day."

BOARD OF TRADE RESOLUTION.

At a meeting of the council of the board of trade last evening the following resolution was presented and after discussion was referred to a full meeting of the board to be held on Friday afternoon at three o'clock:

Whereas it is of vital importance to the development of the over-sea traffic of Dominion that its exports should be shipped via Canadian ports, and

Whereas, under the terms of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway contract now under consideration by the Dominion parliament, routed freight may be shipped via foreign ports, and

Whereas there is reason to fear that a very large portion of the freight from the West by the proposed railway may be routed via such foreign ports contrary to the declared policy of the Dominion government, that the products of the Dominion should be exported via Canadian ports only, both in summer and winter, THEREFORE

RESOLVED: that in the opinion of the St. John Board of Trade the contract should be so varied that it be made imperative that all freight originating on the line of the proposed railway or its branches and carried by the railway for export shall be shipped via Canadian ports.

Further resolved: that copies of this resolution be sent to the senators and members of the house of commons for the province of New Brunswick.

WHOSE IS THE FAULT?

In June last Thos. L. Hay resigned as chairman of the slaughter house commission, but as yet the government have not appointed any one to fill the vacant position. Commissioner Drake is acting as chairman at present. The commissioners are anxiously awaiting the announcement as to who the new chairman will be.

Mr. Hay resigned because he was of the opinion that the members of the board did not quite agree with his ideas as to the erection of the proposed new abattoir. In Mr. Hay's opinion the entire commission under the present circumstances should resign and let the common council and board of health run matters to suit themselves. They were not making any progress at present, and if ever the city of St. John was in a proper place to have the meat for local consumption killed in. The present houses are dirty, they lack proper drainage and the water supply is nil.

Mr. Hay thinks the commissioners, should resign and show the public that they are not the parties who are preventing the erection of a proper abattoir.

BEARS AT LEPREAUX.

Bears are plentiful about Lepreaux, in fact the place seems to be overrun with them. The supposition is that they have been driven from the woods because of the lack of food, the forest fires having destroyed much of their supply. Within the past two or three weeks Andrew Catherwood has lost a cow, a calf and a sheep, and other farmers have suffered losses. Mr. Catherwood's cow was killed within less than a hundred yards of his house. On Tuesday two bears were killed, one by Philip Tier and another by the Lynch Bros. The latter was a monster and the skin is said to have measured ten feet one way by 8 1-2 the other. Nimrods who are looking for lively sport cannot do better than go to Lepreaux bear hunting. The only drawback to the sport is that the skins are not of any value at this season of the year.
