Mrs. Worden, Mr. Titus, Mr. Cairns, and others will sing at the meeting in the Every Day Club room tomorrow evening at 8.30 o'clock. The musical programme will be the feature of the evening, and will take up most of the hour. There will be a temperance meeting as usual at four o'clock on Sunday afternoon. Ladies are welcomed at these meetings.

A TEMPERANCE LESSON FROM UNION STREET

Children, Hungry and Cold, Tried to Per- and in a position to let the barber do suade Their Drunken Father to go Home.

Yesterday a little boy and girl, aged 7 and 5 years, could have been noticed looking eagerly about on Union street in search of somebody. At last their eyes rested on a big hulk of a man coming out of a saloon. They immediately ran and grasped his hands and began to beg him to go home.

They continued down Union street until they reached the corner of Waterloo street, when the man stopped and began to pull away from the little ones. At last he succeeded and went into the near by rum shop. The children followed and the little boy looked into the par through the doors whilst the tot of a girl flattened her face against the window.

The wind was cold and the boy had the reached the same as last year. He is quite certain that there will not be a falling off, but is inclined to believe that an increase will be found.

following causes:—Heart disease, 4; commissioned officers of No. 8 Field Ambulance Corps.

An Easter-tide carol service will be held tomorrow evening in St. Mary's church, when the S. S. Lenten offerings will be presented by representatives of the classes. There will be special music, including a solo by Miss Hilda Galley.

Some trouble on the electric wires in Carleton early this morning caused the fire bells to ring. A number of persons hearing the alarm hastened to the street but the irregular ringing of the bells conveyed the knowledge that it was not a regular alarm.

In the police court this morning Hugh Cox and Julia Claybour, two drunks, were fined the usual amounts. Julia has only been out of jail a short time. She finished a long term for being drunk, fighting and sticking a hatpin into a policeman's hip.

The steamer Bengore Head, Captain Campbell, arrived in port this morning from Belfast, via Port Talbot. She is in the harbor and will load general cargo for Ireland.

The Pickford and Black steamer Cruro arrived off Partridge Island about noon from the West Indies. The steamer will dock this afternoon. Besides mails and passengers the steamer has a large general cargo on board.

Sunday, April 21st, will be observed in nearly all the Episcopal churches in St. John as a missionary Sunday.

Special preachers will fill the various pulpits, including Bishop Richardson, Rev. Dr. Normah Tucker, Canons Cowie, Newnham and Montgomery. The amount apportioned for Home, Canadian and Foreign Missions among the St. John churches is rather more than $5,000, and it is expected that a large part of this sum will be raised on the Missionary Sunday.

If within a few years, a titled Oriental, bearing many decorations from the illustrous Emperor of all China, arrives in America for the purpose of conducting diplomatic negotiations, and if that distinguished individual bears underneath his flowery titles the cognomen of Hum Oak, there will be a few people in St. John who will express no surprise. They are prophesying a future such as this for the intelligent young student who has just left St. John. Hum Oak is not a laundry Chinese. He came here for an education and was well supplied with money to pay his living expenses. He had not to work, but was able to give his whole time to learning, and the result has been that this young Celestial who only a few years ago knew absolutely nothing of Canadian customs or language, is now perfectly at home anywhere, and in conversation speaks with most creditable fluency.

Hum Oak has learned all he thinks can be taught him in Centennial school and left this week for Montreal where he will continue his studies for a few years previous to returning to China.

He sticks to his long hair, not by his own desire, but because of a promise made to his mother, in China, which he feels he cannot break. But Hum is ready to argue the matter out Hum is ready to argue the matter out with his parents whenever he returns, and hopes that he will be released,
