THE GOLDEN AGE.

A writer in the Ottawa Citizen sizes up the advent of the bone-dry golden era as follows:
It is noticed that Mr. J. H. Burnham of Peterboro intends to move, at the first sitting of the committee on the Prohibition Act, that prohibition be extended to cover cards, tobacco and feathers.
It is a worthy proposition but Mr. Burnham is not comprehensive enough. Let us make a grand sweep at once, let us make Utopia arrive with one fell swoop. We well know the after effects of a night's debauchery of chewing gum, and who has not suffered from an evening's dissipation, say after five or seven ice cream sodas.
Think of the editor languishing behind prison bars for publishing a comic section in his paper. At last we begin to live. Close the theatres, picture shows, prohibit football and other ruffianly games. Let us walk pure and healthy, streets free from the horrible stench of a beautiful Havana cigar.
Abolish corsets, high heels, peep-bo blouses, face powders and other vainglorious monstrosities. Crime will vanish. Policemen and the clergy will swell the already increasing ranks of the unemployed, for their services will not be needed.
Oh, that I had had a father like Mr. Burnham, I should now be playing my harp and preening my wings, or else be a charge to the public at Brockville. I for another clime, to make room for a Dago.

Profiteering.

(The Western Independent.)
The investigation into profiteering that is now being conducted throughout Canada is largely a farce. The powers of the commission are meagre, and little is expected in the way of benefit to the consumers to result from the harmless questioners. Sometimes a new system of bookkeeping designed to dodge the income tax is discovered, and at times profits of the profiteering kind are revealed in spite of the guarded commission, but nothing comes out of it.
An enquiry into the price of clothes made by the Toronto Commission showed that some dealers were making 50 per cent. on boys' suits and clearing $20 on a suit of men's clothes which cost $57.00. Incidentally the dealers showed that this was nothing out of the ordinary.
Now if our government was sincere over profiteering it would take this matter seriously. The small retailer is not much of a profiteer. Why not investigate the banks, the railroads and the manufacturers, and then act on the findings?
If profiteering be wrong then small profiteering must be condemned as well as the great. Would it not be wise to move toward the abolition of profits entirely? It seems to us that these investigations were planned to be failures, and were instituted to make the people think that something was really being done in the way of reducing the price of living.

WHO IS BEHIND MRS. PANKHURST?

(Democrat in Statesman.)
Who is behind Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, and why does she select Winnipeg as the centre of her mission as an anti-Bolshevist? Canadians are well able to mind their own business and to look after their own affairs.
Of all people Mrs. Pankhurst is least qualified to assume the role of champion of law and order. Before the term Bolshevist was coined, Mrs. Pankhurst was a militant suffragist who defied the law and resorted to resistance in order to bring about a change in woman's status. Her methods then differed in no material respect from those she now classifies as Bolshevism. On whose invitation does Mrs. Pankhurst come to Canada to lecture against Bolshevism? Where, in Canada, is the Bolshevist to be found? Mrs. Pankhurst, as the apostle of mob violence and the champion Direct Actionist in the British Isles, before the war, cuts a pathetic figure as travelling delegate for Judge Gary and the Steel Corporation.
If Canada and the United States require any defence against "arch-enemies of civilization", it is not to the Tory emissaries of the Big Interests that the law-abiding peoples of these countries will turn for advice and direction. If labor strikers, in the eyes of Mrs. Pankhurst, are "Reds" and "Bolshevists", there is no reason why Mrs. Pankhurst should leave England in order to make war upon "ultra-radicals". Labor in this country may require Mrs. Pankhurst to show her credentials. By whom is she commissioned to tour this continent? Who supplies the funds?

Let Mrs. Pankhurst be satisfied to rest on her laurels as the champion law-breaker of pre-war days. She will find it difficult to convince the worker of her sincerity and disinterestedness in condemning in Labor the use of weapons much more moderate and legitimate than those resorted to by the Pankhurst sisterhood. When Mrs. Pankhurst was in the heyday of her militancy she found no friends or support among the Big Interests in whose behalf she is now playing the role of the penitent law-breaker.

While Mrs. Pankhurst is invading Canada and teaching us how much better she understands Canada than the people who live here, her clever daughter, Miss Christabel Pankhurst, is making war upon the English proletariat. She stated recently that the working girl who bought nice clothes and ornaments, and who insisted upon wearing the nice things which more fortunate women enjoyed, was a much better type than the girl who joined the ranks of labor agitators.

The Pankhursts profess to be engaged in the task of levelling up the social scale, but their real mission is to prevent any change in the relations between the toiler and the capitalist that will lead to the democratization of industry. If the Pankhursts have no better part to play as emancipated women who have now the franchise, we, as Canadians, can well understand their defeat in the last elections in Britain. They are not trusted by the British workers. With the credentials of the Steel Trust in her pocket, Mrs. Pankhurst will find Canada a rocky road to travel.

"IN THE DAY'S NEWS"

Admiral Lord Jellicoe, who is due to arrive in Canada within the next few days, is one of the British naval officers who won fame and rank in the late war. In the early part of the conflict he was in command of the home fleet. Later he was appointed First Sea Lord, in which post he served until December, 1917. Admiral Jellicoe had seen much active service since he first entered the navy at the age of thirteen. Three times has he narrowly escaped death. The first escape was in 1880, when his boat capsized in a high sea as he was attempting to rescue the crew of a wrecked ship off Gibraltar. The second escape was from the ill-fated Victoria, when that ship collided with the Camperdown. The last occasion was in the Boxer Rebellion, when he got a bullet through the top of one of his lungs.

Will Be Lonely.

"Mamma," said little 5-year old Stanley, "do only good little boys go to heaven?"
"Yes, dear," replied the mother.

"Well," continued the youthful observer, "if that's the case boys must be rather scarce up there."
Had Enough of Them.
"I hear a noise in the cellar," said the timid wife. "I think you'd better go down and investigate it."
"Nothing doing," replied the tired man. "I'm sick of serving on investigation committees."

NURSE MAKES

FACTS PUBLIC

Was Told Operation Was Her Only Hope—"Tanlae is Wonderful," She Says.

"Speaking from personal experience," said Mrs. D. L. Travis, a well known nurse, residing at 721 Seventh Ave., Peoria, Ill., in a conversation, recently, "I know Tanlae to be a most valuable medicine and feel it my duty to give the facts to the world."
Mrs. Travis is only one of a great many in her profession who have endorsed Tanlae. She has been nursing the sick for eighteen years and her statement, coming as it does, from one of such wide experience, will be read with interest everywhere.

"It is my honest belief," continued Mrs. Travis, "that there are millions of people who, if they only knew Tanlae as I do since using it myself, would lose no time in relieving themselves of their misery as I have done."
"The way I happened to know of Tanlae was through a noted physician. At this time I was suffering from what was said to be chronic appendicitis, which had been bothering me for over eight years. I would become so nauseated—almost deathly sick—after eating that it was a common thing for me not to be able to retain my food. I am speaking now of the last stage of my suffering, after reaching the condition where an operation seemed unavoidable. But, previous to this time I had been very poor and it was an effort for me to stay on my feet and practice my profession. I did it under the strain of suffering and when I came off from a severe attack of the disease, I was out, exhausted, and nervous that I thought each case would be the last."

"Finally, a few months ago, I gave up completely, took to my bed, and arrangements were being made for an operation, as it was thought I would never recover without it. At this point my physician and friend advised me to try Tanlae for a few days. Knowing he would not advise me wrong I ordered a bottle at once and two days later my suffering was letting up. Those terrible pains began to leave, the swelling and bloating commenced to go down and in a day or two more I changed from liquid diet to some more nourishing and substantial food. From that time on I recovered in a way that was a veritable astonishment to those who attended me. In all I have taken about seven bottles of this medicine and to-day I am as well as one can be. My lost strength has returned, my nerves are perfectly calm and no one could get more restful sleep than I do. My appetite is fine. I enjoy all my meals and I never suffer in the slightest degree with my stomach, or in any other way. Nothing would keep me from praising this wonderful medicine."

Tanlae is sold in Kitchener by E. O. Ritz and Co., in Galt by R. W. McKinnon, in Hespeler by Jno. R. Phil, in New Hamburg by W. H. Boultie, in Wainwright by H. E. Hamilton, in Westbourne by A. E. Richert and Co., in Preston by H. L. Frick, in Waterloo by A. B. Lenn, in Doon by L. C. Bullock.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is sign you have been eating too much meat.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and clogged. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve a clogged drain, by removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells, your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water seals and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.
