YOU CAN GROW BIGGER CROPS AND BETTER CROPS

on your land if you set about to do this in an intelligent manner. There are three points to which you must give careful and particular attention: Proper Cultivation, Crop Rotation, and the Proper Use of the Right Kind of Fertilizers. To secure best results you must attend to all three of these. No matter how well your land is cultivated, or your crops regulated, unless you use in the proper way the right kind of fertilizers, you cannot secure the best results.

Harab Fertilizers

are the right kind of fertilizers. Made from animal products, they return to the land the plant food which has been taken from it. They are organic fertilizers and for this reason act much more naturally than inorganic or chemical fertilizers. This difference in action can be very well compared to the difference between the action of a food and a stimulant on a human being.

Harab Fertilizers are Foods and will have no injurious after effects. They will not sour your land.

If you have tried other brands and are dissatisfied you will do well to give our goods a trial. They bring results. If you have never tried fertilizers you will be very wise to start now by trying Harab Fertilizers. Write us for full particulars. Our goods are put up as a finely ground powder in 125 lb. sacks. Can be handled without any trouble in an ordinary seed drill, or can be scattered by hand. We guarantee our goods to contain the plant foods represented, not only with you, but with the Government.

If we have no agent near you we want one. Write us for terms, prices, commission, etc.

pride withheld from him. When she remained silent he sighed, and said with marked coldness—

“Faith, Madame, since it distresses you, we will not speak of it. . . . As for Armand, I pray you have no fear. I pledge you my word that he shall be safe. Now, have I your permission to go? The hour is getting late, and . . .”

“You will at least accept my gratitude?” she said, as she drew quite close to him, and speaking with real tenderness.

With a quick, almost involuntary effort he would have taken her then in his arms, for her eyes were swimming in tears, which he longed to kiss away; but she had lured him once, just like this, then cast him aside like an ill-fitting glove. He thought this was but a mood, a caprice, and he was too proud to lend himself to it once again.

“It is too soon, Madame!” he said quietly; “I have done nothing as yet. The hour is late, and you must be fatigued. Your women will be waiting for you upstairs.”

He stood aside to allow her to pass. She sighed, a quick sigh of disappointment. His pride and her beauty had been in direct conflict, and his pride had remained the conqueror. Perhaps, after all, she had been deceived just now; what she took to be the light of love in his eyes might only have been the passion of pride, or, who knows, of hatred instead of love. She stood looking at him for a moment or two longer. He was again as rigid, as impassive, as before. Pride had conquered, and he cared naught for her. The grey of dawn was gradually yielding to the rosy light of the rising sun. Birds began to twitter; Nature awakened, smiling in happy response to the warmth of this glorious October morning. Only between these two hearts there lay a strong, impassioned barrier, built up of pride on both sides, which neither of them cared to be the first to demolish.

He had bent his tall figure in a low ceremonious bow, as she finally, with another bitter little sigh, began to mount the terrace steps.

The long train of her gold-embroidered gown swept the dead leaves off the steps, making a faint harmonious sh—sh—sh as she glided up, with one hand resting on the balustrade, the rosy light of dawn making an aureole of gold round her hair, and causing the rubies on her head and arms to sparkle. She reached the tall glass doors which led into the house. Before entering, she paused once again to look at him, hoping against hope to see his arms stretched out to her, and to hear his voice calling her back. But he had not moved; his massive figure looked the very personification of unyielding pride, of fierce obstinacy.

Hot tears again surged to her eyes, and as she would not let him see them, she turned quickly within, and ran as fast as she could up to her own rooms.

Had she but turned back then, and looked out once more on the rose-lit garden, she would have seen that which would have made her own sufferings seem but light and easy to bear—a strong man, overwhelmed with his own passion and his own despair. Pride had given way at last, obstinacy was gone; the will was powerless. He was but a man madly, blindly, passionately in love, and as soon as her light footstep had died away within the house, he knelt down upon the terrace steps, and in the very madness of his love he kissed one by one the places where her small foot had trodden, and the stone balustrade there, where her tiny hand had rested last.
