MOOSE JAW HOLDS FAIR

Moose Jaw, after all absence of several years from the list of real western fairs, is again in the ring this summer with not only a fair but a stampede from July 17 to 20. Total prize lists will approximate $20,000. There will be a livestock show, stamper, harness race meet, flower and dog show and big midway, vaudeville, athletic and balloon attractions. There will be one-way fares on the railroads and it is paid ample accommodation at fixed and reasonable prices has been provided for any number of visitors.

Work horses are often sick on Monday. Investigation of such cases has usually shown that the horse has been fed as much grain on Sunday when at rest as when at hard work. Reducing the grain feed one-fourth on days the horse does not work prevents this sickness, known as azoturia.

Making War on Insects

40 or nicotine sulphate. Either of these compounds should be used at the rate of one-half pint to 40 gallons of water in which two pounds of hard soap has been dissolved. If arsenate of lead or calcium arsenate is used in combination with either one as a food-poison for chewing insects, omit the soap. If small quantities are wanted for treating house plants, use one teaspoonful to one gallon of water in which two-thirds of an ounce of soap has been dissolved. House plants may be dipped in a pail containing the diluted solution, but it is better to apply the mixture by the use of a small sprayer. When spraying for aphids it is absolutely necessary to have the solution come in contact with the body of the insect, otherwise the work will be of no value. This can be most effectively done by holding the rod or hose of the sprayer so that the nozzle forces the solution upward on the under surface of the leaves. In order to secure satisfactory results, these solutions should be applied as soon as the aphids appear.

EXTRA PAY FOR CLEAN MILK

The Dominion Dairy and Produce Company, which is operated by the Dairy Branch, Department of Agriculture, and which supplies a large percentage of the milk used by the residents of Regina, Saskatchewan, has recently outlined an attractive and up-to-date method of paying for its milk supply. W. A. Wilson, Dairy Commissioner, has written each milk shipper that if at the end of the year he can show a clean bill of health for his cows, or in other words, can furnish a certificate from a qualified veterinarian showing that his cows are free from tuberculosis, he will be paid three cents per pound for each pound of butter-fat his milk has contained, in addition to the regular payments he has received during the year.

In addition to being paid extra for healthy cows he will receive two cents extra for each pound of butter fat, if his stable, milk house and general surroundings are sufficiently sanitary to score 75 points or over in a possible 100, in accordance with the score card used by the Health Department of the City of Regina. In connection with this inspection the Dairy Branch is co-operating with the City Health Department, and their reports on the inspection of these dairies will be used and will form a basis on which these extra payments will be made. "It is doubtful if this system has ever been tried in any other part of America, but the principle of paying dairymen to take extra care and pains in connection with their herds and milk shipments is right, and should work out to the satisfaction of milk shippers and also tend to materially improve the supply of milk.

The system of paying for quality is not new with the Dairy Branch of Saskatchewan, as during the past few years this system has been followed in connection with cream shipments at all creameries operated by the Dairy Branch. Three different standards have been made for cream, and those who ship the highest grade receive five cents per pound more for each pound of butter fat than do those who ship the lowest grade. This system has so improved cream shipments that it has enabled the Co-operative Creameries of Saskatchewan to produce a butter of exceptionally high grade, which sells on the British Columbia and Montreal markets at a considerable premium over local butter. In connection with milk shipments it is somewhat of an experiment, and is subject to later modifications, but should work out to the advantage of both producer and buyer.

If a system of permanent agriculture is to be established on our Western prairies and our future welfare depends upon its establishment, we must not carry our wheat system too far. We cannot waste the fertility of our soil and still have it. Today we are selling our soil at the rate of 25 cents per bushel of wheat. We individually can afford to do that for some time, but the state cannot afford to permit us to do it indefinitely.

Hog Breeder Gets Results

The following is a sample of the many letters received by The Guide telling of excellent results secured through their advertisements on this page:

I have had good results from your paper. Have sold my entire lot of pig stock only spring pigs left. The Guide sure reaches the class of people we want to do business with and a class of people that were half the price to pay for good stock, and by the amount of enquiries that came in everybody wants Chester White Pigs.

June 21, 1917.

The Guide's "Farmers' Market Place" is planned so as to co-operate with our readers in affording them an economical opening to wider markets. A glance at this page will show the many departments into which it is divided. This affords the prospective buyer a quick method of referring to the section in which he will find offerings in the line he intends to buy. Naturally he will look over all the advertisements in that particular section before making his choice.

This means that every advertisement will be read by every prospective buyer. This is the strong advantage of this classified section.

Advertising rates are given at the top of this page. Send in your order now accompanied by the amount for the number of times you wish your ad to run, and let The Guide demonstrate to you, as it has to hundreds of other farmers, how it can sell.
