Here's good news for the Aylesford folks. F. E. Harris & Co., Ltd., have just received another lot of Sure-Pop Corn Cure—the kind that does cure. If you have a troublesome corn or burning callous or disfiguring wart get a bottle of Sure-Pop and in a day or two your trouble will be ended.

A meeting of the creditors of George W. Balsor was held at the Court House on Saturday afternoon and received a statement from the Assignee. There appears to be sufficient in the estate if it can be disposed of at reasonable figures to pay the creditors in full. The meeting was most harmonious and the business will likely be settled at once. The creditors adjourned to meet on Saturday next at 3 p. m. at the Court House.

You will remember the comfort it gave you, long after you have forgotten the little price you paid for it. I know that to be a fact. During the past five years I have sold many gross of Sure-Pop Corn Cure with the distinct understanding that it would cure or the money would be refunded, and I have never heard it spoken of except in the highest praise. You can always get Sure-Pop here, or I will mail it to you on receipt of price. J. D. Clarke, Druggist, Kentville.

CHILD'S SAD DEATH

The death of Eleanor Gertrude, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wynman Porter, of Kentville, occurred on Wednesday night at the home of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Richardson, Queen Street, Mrs. Porter, accompanied by her little girl, has been visiting her parents and the child was in her usual good health up to yesterday, when it was noticed, in the afternoon, that she did not appear quite well. Nothing serious, however, seemed to be the matter until after supper, when a sudden change was noticed and the doctor sent for immediately. He said it appeared to be one of those sudden cases of pneumonia which at times develop so rapidly, but even then did not anticipate the worst. A change for the worse took place at about 10 o'clock and before midnight the little one had passed away. — Copied from Sydney Record.

VERNON A. GRIERSON

On May 1st, Miss K. A. Grierson, Belcher Street, received notification from Ottawa that her nephew, Vernon A. Grierson had been wounded on April 9. The following day word came that he was missing, and on Friday last a third telegram "killed in action" dispelled the hope that he might be in a hospital somewhere in England or France. His death is a severe blow to his aunt with whom he has always lived, and much sympathy is expressed for her in the loss of her nephew who was the light of the home.

He had completed his second year at Dalhousie before he enlisted in the Highland Brigade, and had hoped to take up the study of medicine. But his country call came first and he went overseas. Shortly before the close of the past year he was transferred to the senior battalion and had been at the front for several months. He had been recommended by his commanding officer for a commission and it was due to reach him early in April. He had enjoyed two holidays in Scotland visiting at his grandfathers old home and his descriptive letters of life there and the reception given the Canadian cousins was most interesting. He had a brilliant future before him, an unblemished record behind one of the finest young men to leave Canada—Alas! to return no more.
