Killing a Calf.

A Port Hope despatch: A youth named Guy Grant, 16 years of age, met with | her room, 302 West 51st street, with a rabber tube in her mouth that led from a gas jet. On the bed beside the body were two pictures of a man. The same man's likeness was in a locket hung from a chain about the woman's neck.

According to the janitress the woman came there four months ago and said that she was an actress, her home was in Canada. The man whose pictures were found in the room was a frequent visitor to the house up to several weeks ago. The dead woman was about 35 years old and a blonde.

In a gold locket about her neck was a miniature of the same face. Occupants of the house recognized it as that of a margwho had called upon Mrs. Williams frequently, and whom the woman had introduced as her husband. One picture was that of a young man in the uniform of the Canadian police.

ON'T THROW MONEY

THE SETTING HEN—Her failures have discouraged many a poultry raiser.

You can make money raising chicks in the right way-lots of it.

Way—lots of it.

No one doubts that there is money in raising chickens with a good incubator and Brooder.

Users of the Chatham Incubator and Brooder have all made money. If you sail ching to the old idea that you can successfully run a poultry business using the hen as a hatcher, we would like to reasen with you.

In the first place, we can prove to you that your actual cash loss in eggs, which the 20 hens should lay during the time you keep them hatching and broading, will be enough to pay for a Chatham Incubator and Brooder in five or six hatche, to say nothing, whatever of the larger and better results attained by the use of the Chatham incubator and Brooder.

If you allew a hen to set, you loss at least clight weeks of laying (three weeks hatching and five weeks taking care of the chickens), or say in the eight weeks of he chickens, or say in the eight weeks che would lay at least three dozen eggs. Lot the Chatham lacubator on the hatching, while the hen goes on laying eggs.

Our No, 3 Incubator will hatch as many eggs as twenty setting hens, and do it better. Now, bere is a question in arithmetic:—

worth 15 cents per dozen? Ans. $9.60.
Therefore, when the Chatham Inenbator is hatching the number of eggs that twenty hens would hatch, it is really earning in each for you $8.00, beades producing for your profit chicks by the wholesale, and being ready to do the same thing over again the moment each hatch is off.

Son the second of the chatham and let the Chatham Incubator to the hatching?

There are many other reasons why the Chatham Incubator that the chatham Incubator and Brooder outclasses the setting hen.

Casadam incusator and Brooder eutolasses the setting hen.

The hen sets when she is ready. The Chatham Incubator is always ready. By planning to take off a hatch at the right time, you may have plenty of broilers to sell when broilers are scarce and prices at the top notch. If you depend on the hea, your clauks will grow to broilers just when every other her's chekes are being marketed, and when the price is not se stiff.

stiff.

The hen is a careless mether, often leading her chicks amongst wet grass, bushes, and in places where rats can confiscate her young.

The Chatham Brooder behaves itself, is a perfect mother and very rarely lesses a chick, and is not infested with lice.

Altogether, there is abediutely no reasonable reason for continuing the use of a hon as a lastcher and every reason why you should like a Chatham Incubator and Brooder.

We are making a very special offer, which it will pay you to investigate.

THE CHATHAM INCURATOR—Its success has encouraged many to make more money than they ever thought possible out of chicks.

Farmer Should Raise Poultry

Almost a very farmer "keeps hens," but, while he knows that there is a certain amount of profit in the business, even when letting it take care of itself, few farmers are aware of how much they are losing every year by not getting into the poultry business in such a way as to make real anoney out of it.

The whole move-ment seems to me a Chinese upheaval, national in scope. It is foolish to say the boycott or the reform movement in they are losing every year by not getting into the poultry business in such a way as to make real money out of it.

The setting hen as a hatcher will never be a conserved success. Her business is to lay expression of the state of the property of the prop oat interfering with their regular household duties.

The market is always good and prices are never low. The demand is always in excess of the supply and at certain times of the year you can practically get any price you cane to ask for good broilers. With a Chatham Incubator and Brooder you can start hatching in the right time to bring the chickons to marketable broilers when the supply is very low and the prices accordingly high. This you could never do with hens as hatchers.

We know that there is money in the poultry business for every farmer who will go about it right. All you have to do is to get a Chatham Incubator and Brooder and start it. But perhaps you are not prepared just now to spend the money. This is why we make the special offer.

IS THIS FAIR?

We know there is money in raising chickens. We know the Chatham Incubator and Brooder has no equal.
We know that with any reasonable effort on your pert, you cannot but make money out of the Chatham Incubator and Brooder.
We know that we made a similar offer last year and that in every case the payments were mot cheerfully and promptly, and that in many casos money was accompanied by letters expressing satisfaction.
Therefore, we have no hesitation in making this proposition to every honest, earnest man
