J. M. BOND DIES SUDDENLY.

Prominent Guelph Merchant Expires While in Montreal.

Guelph, April 18.—Keen sorrow is occasioned by the sudden death at Montreal yesterday afternoon of John M. Bond, one of Guelph's prominent business men. Mr. Bond had gone to Montreal, where he had large interests, on business and was accompanied by James Miller, one of the partners in the Bond Hardware Co. He was in the Court House when he was taken suddenly ill and was removed to the hospital, where he died shortly afterwards. Mr. Bond was born in Ireland, sixty-nine years ago, and came to Canada to engage in the hardware business with Rice Lewis, of Toronto. In 1865, he came to Guelph and associated himself with the Mulholland Hardware Co. After three years, he assumed proprietorship of the business. A year ago Mr. Bond converted the business into a joint stock company. Mr. Bond was identified with almost every benevolent enterprise. A widow and five children survive.

USED MEN AT THE OFFICE UP WOMEN IN THE HOME CHILDREN AT SCHOOL AND TIRED OUT
 Every day in the week and every week in the year men, women and children feel all used up and tired out. The strain of business, the cares of home and social life and the task of study cause terrible suffering from heart and nerve troubles. The efforts put forth to keep up to the modern "high pressure" mode of life in this age soon wears out the strongest system, shatters the nerves and weakens the heart. Thousands find life a burden and others an early grave. The strain on the system causes nervousness, palpitation of the heart, nervous prostration, sleeplessness, faint and dizzy spells, skip beats, weak and irregular pulse, smothering and sinking spells, etc. The blood becomes weak and watery and eventually causes decline.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are indicated for all diseases arising from a weak and debilitated condition of the heart or of the nerve centres. Mrs. Thos. Hall, Kildon, Ont., writes: "For the past two or three years I have been troubled with nervousness and heart failure, and the doctors failed to give me any relief. I decided at last to give Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills a trial, and I would not now be without them if they cost twice as much. I have recommended them to my neighbors and friends."

THE ROCK OYSTER.

It is Found in Only Two Places, Spain and Oregon.

The rock oyster is found only on the coasts of Spain and of Oregon. At Yaquina bay, a favorite summer resort of Oregonians, digging rock oysters is a regular pastime. In the early morning before the sun is high crowds armed with picks and shovels wend their way to the famous rock oyster beds. The state geologist of Oregon says of the rock oyster:

"Its scientific name is pholas. Like all bivalves, it has right and left valves, each having on its middle portion a triangular, rasplike valve. It is this rasplike organ that enables it to excavate and keep its burrow open. The rasp is not hard enough of itself to cut the rock, but the hard quartz sand that rests in the folds of the rasp gradually wears away the stone as fast as needed, corresponding with the growth of the oyster. When the eggs are hatched in the sea water they look like small patches of jelly-fish and for several days swim about with the outlines of their future shells forming slowly about them. By instinct each looks for a vacant spot on a rock surface and when found he backs against it and goes into business. They do not prefer to all other bivalves for the table, and as they are found only in one place on the coast of Spain and at Yaquina, they are an unparalleled attraction."—Scientific American.

FOREIGNERS IN RUSSIA.

Obstacles That Are Placed in the Way of Their Investigations.

In relating an interview with a Russian official Ernest Poole says: "The chancellor smiled. 'Not long ago,' he replied, 'a gentleman came here with just such a letter. But meanwhile the governor had received different orders from some one else in Petersburg. The gentleman did not see the peasants.'"

"Let's get out of this," I said, speaking low in English. 'Let's hire a sleigh and just begin looking as we did in those other villages. At least we can see something before we get expelled.' "Unfortunately the chancellor caught my meaning."

"If you try to see the peasants by yourself," he said, "you will not only be watched by the police, but some at least of the peasants to whom you talk will be our spies. We have telephones to every village, and at two hours at latest we shall know not only whom you have seen, but also what you yourselves have said. Meanwhile you will have been seized and thrown into a village jail awaiting our orders." He smiled grimly. "Our village police are rough fellows. They would doubtless flog you both in jail before we could inform them who you were. Of course we should be sorry for this and should reprimand them. But in the meantime, you see, you would have been flogged."

DEADLY POISONS.

Some Queer Drugs and the Uses to Which They Are Put.

"The venom of the rattlesnake has been known to cure locomotor ataxia and scarlet fever," said a chemist. "Homeopathic physicians often prescribe it. 'You know the curara, the deadly poison that the South American Indians smear on their arrow tips? Well, curara is very helpful in hydrophobia. There is a seaweed called 'bladderwrack.' They make of this an anti-fat, a marvelous anti-fat. By the use of this anti-fat I know a man who reduced his weight forty pounds in three months."

"There is a deadly fungus, the fly agaric, that unfortunately people sometimes eat in mistake for mushrooms. They make a medicine nitrate, which, injected under the skin, causes a copious flow of tears. French actresses in weeping scenes, such as 'La Dame aux Camellias,' have sometimes used this drug."

"Cocaine causes wakefulness. I once worked forty-eight hours at a stretch, thanks to cocaine. Cocca stimulates, exhilarates and removes all desire for food or drink. An Alpine guide will chew fifty or sixty grains of this deadly drug before commencing a difficult ascent."

The Shorn.
 A friend of Maurice Barrymore related an incident of his last meeting with the brilliant actor, which occurred only a short time before his faculties began to fail. As they were parting the newspaper man asked the other, "Where are you to be found nowadays—at the Players?" "No," replied Barrymore; "I'm posted at the Players, but you can always find me at the Lambis. As a matter of fact," he added whimsically, "I'm posted at the Lambis, too, but they temper the wind there."

Old Words With New Meanings.
 After the teacher had carefully explained the familiar story she asked Tommy whether he expected to be among the sheep or the goats. "How's a feller to tell," answered Tommy, "when his maw calls him a lamb and his paw says he is a pesky kid?"

A Poer.
 Nell—Supposing, Uncle Septimus, that you knew two nice young men. One has lovely curly hair and a straight nose and the other looks simply adorable in his uniform. Supposing that they both wanted to marry you, which would you choose?—Punch.

A Good Prescription.
 "Doctor, I wish you'd prescribe for my complexion."
 "Certainly, madam," returned the doctor, and he wrote, "Let it alone."

Appetite comes with eating and each square of crisp deliciousness seems but to make room for more.

SUNLIGHT SOAP

is better than other Soaps but is best when used in the Sunlight way. Follow directions.

SUNLIGHT WAY OF WASHING
 FIRST.—Dip the article to be washed in a tub of lukewarm water. Draw it out on a washboard and rub the soap lightly over it. Be particular not to miss soaping all over. THEN dip it in a light roll, by in the tub under the water, and go on the same way until all the pieces have the soap rubbed on, and are rolled up.
 Then go away for thirty minutes to one hour and let the "Sunlight" Soap do its work. NEXT.—After soaking the full time rub the clothes lightly out on a wash board, and the dirt will drop out; turn the garment inside out to get at the seams, but don't use any more soap; don't scold or boil a single piece, and don't wash through two suds. If the water gets too dirty, pour a little out and add fresh. If a streak is hard to wash, wash some more soap on it, and throw the piece back into the suds for a few minutes. LASTLY COMES THE RINSING, which is to be done in lukewarm water, taking special care to get all the dirty suds away, then wring out and hang up to dry.
 For Woolens and Flannels proceed as follows:—Shake the articles free from dust. Cut a tablet of SUNLIGHT SOAP into shavings, pour into a gallon of boiling water and whisk into a lather. When just lukewarm, work articles in the lather without twisting and wring thoroughly in two relays of lukewarm water. Squeeze out water without twisting and hang in the open air.
 The most delicate colors may be safely washed in the "Sunlight" way.

$5,000 REWARD will be paid to anyone who can prove that Sunlight Soap contains any adulteration.

TO BROIL FISH.

Three Points For the Cook to Keep in Mind.

To broil fish three things are necessary—a clear fire, a clean gridiron and well prepared fish. The fire must burn clearly, brightly and steadily, all smoke must be carried away by the flues, and a handful of salt thrown on will assist the clearness.

The gridiron must be delicately clean and well greased, either by brushing with oil or by rubbing with fat or suet. It must also be well warmed.

The fish must be cleaned, the scales rubbed off and the fins trimmed and then washed well in salted water and very thoroughly dried. Next, score the fish across obliquely with deep cuts about an inch apart and brush over with salad oil, dust with pepper and a little salt. Have ready the gridiron. If it is desired to avoid the crisscross marks of the hot bars lay across these a few well oiled straws a little longer than the fish and then lay the fish on the straws. Hold the grid quite close to the fire, slanting it a little to prevent the fire smoking. (If the fish is too far away from the fire it will be flabby and soft, while the evils of smoke need not be recounted.) The time required is about ten to fifteen minutes, or until the fish is a delicate brown, crisp and firm. It must be turned once, and only once. In removing from the grid use a flat knife or fish slice.

Another way of broiling, especially applicable to herrings, is to split the fish open and spread it out flat, dip it into oatmeal which has been seasoned with salt and pepper, then place two fish together, face to face, and grill. Herrings or trout broiled whole are also very delicious if dipped in oatmeal after they have been oiled. They do not require any further basting. Very dry fish should be brushed either with oil or with melted butter while they are cooking.

THE HALL.

How to Make the Entrance to a Drawing Room Attractive.

The illustration shows an artistic arrangement for the entrance to a drawing room. The frieze is composed of Japanese fans nailed flat against a border of self color. If the walls are pale blue a darker shade may be chosen for the frieze, or shagreened walls look well with a pale, flesh tinted border, and white or ivory paint in either case is to be recommended.

Japanese drapery or an art serge to tone with the other shades should be arranged as a hanging from a bamboo rod above the door. The latter is transformed into beauty by the dainty design of storks and cherry blossoms painted upon the panels. On either side of the doorway are placed respectively a bamboo stand holding a palm or india rubber plant and opposite to it a large Japanese vase filled with reeds and grasses.

The walls can be decorated with Japanese masks, painted silk panels and hand screens. A thick Japanese rug of warm color gives the finishing touch of comfort to the niche. Overhead a Japanese parasol nailed to the ceiling forms a headpiece to the electric light, which is softly shaded by a delicately tinted lantern from the far east.

Skirt Linings.

Few of the skirts this year are lined or if a lining is used it is in the form of a drop skirt or petticoat and is often made separate from the outer skirt, having its own waistband and placket closing. In neutral colors or black one lining skirt may be worn with different outside skirts, though, unless the material of the gown is transparent, the lining skirt is replaced by one of the colored petticoats of silk or its imitation, now so generally worn. The flat lined skirt, if it is called while skirt and lining are made in one, is scarcely ever seen. Its return has been rumored, but it seems hardly likely to find much favor, as a skirt of this sort is always heavy. It is true that so much cloth and so much lining have probably the same actual weight whether made together or separately, but the unlined skirt worn over the foundation petticoat is apparently much lighter and certainly more graceful.

Six Rules For Tea Making.

1. Draw cold water fresh from the tap.
2. The instant the water boils pour it on the tea in the teapot.
3. Use a china, earthenware or silver teapot, heated by filling with boiling water before the tea is made.
4. Place in the hot teapot a heaping teaspoonful of tea for each cup desired, adding "one teaspoonful for the pot."
5. Let the pot stand on the stove, but not where it will boil, for three to six minutes.
6. Pour it off the leaves into another hot pot or directly into the teacups.
