New York, March 10.—Noon—The early market developed London offerings of from 10,000 to 15,000 shares, and some further operations on the bear side credited to a prominent Boston speculation.

The unfortunate feature from the bull standpoint is the inclination of buyers to hold off, pending definite knowledge regarding the tariff matter. Odd lot buying in considerable volume is reported. The buying in Tennessee Copper appeared good, the selling in Reading and Steel excellent. Bears circulated rumor of passing of the National Lead dividend probably equally unfounded. Reading was railed at one time on talk of peaceful outcome of the coal land finance to-morrow, and claims that the coal land decision will not be handed down for several weeks. Subject of an Address to the Barton Y. M. U.

Mining in Sudbury district, was the theme of a very interesting talk given by Mr. J. M. Firth, formerly of the Canadian Copper Co., before members of Barton Y. M. U., last evening. With the aid of a map, Mr. Firth was able to point out the location of some of the richest of the nickel mines. His description of the operation of refining the ore was very lucid, and much interest was added to the address by the showing of some of the different kind of metals found in that country. The musical part of the evening was also well looked after by Messrs. Sanderson and Burton. Next week "Emigration" will be the subject for discussion, and a very interesting meeting is expected.

Newark, N. J., March 10 .- The Rev.

Father Erasin Ansion, rector of the Polish Church of St. Stanislaus, was shot and almost instantly killed, by three men, in his rectory, early to-day. Therefore, it would not be fair to criticise till after Wednesday, but in Quebec people have become accustomed to have evidence that will convict before the real inquest, following the viewing of the body, begins that the Ontario method of relying on the inquest to bring out incriminating evidence, seems rather obsolete.

But then in Quebec they have become accustomed to the sleghehammer way of investigation, the pounding inquisition which at the same time is scientific enough to deal with composed as well as hysterical witnesses, and which assumes that in a murder case everything and everyone connected in the slightest with the occurrence are for the time being under the seal of justice, till every ounce of knowledge has been pumped out of them and every crack and crevice has been searched regardless of social standing. This does not mean to say that the people have any complaint coming in regard to the men who are actually handling the case. Far from it Detective Miller has their utmost confidence. He is an old Hamilton boy a good looking man, bright and sharp and pleasant but he has been working under great disadvantages.

Many important things that should have been attended to at once, before he could arrive on the scene, it is stated, a prompt search for the weapon with which the murder was committed.

The one cause of rejoicing which the general public has had thus far is the announcement that Blackstock, the lion of the Ontario Criminal Bar, as he is called, will aid the Coroner and Crown Attorney to conduct the inquest.
