The last Herald weather prediction from the 13th to the 17th must be noted as one of the most successful warnings that has yet een sent across the Atlantic. The depre son arrived in England on Monday, and all the week very heavy storms and floods have prevailed. The weather cleared off yesterday, and apparently the last of the storm was passing away this morning. However, accounts brought by vessels report a terrific hurricane on Tuesday on the Atlantic. The Linglish steamer Lizzie English, which left back to Queenstown yesterday considerably damaged. A tremendous sea broke over her, smashing her life-boat, washing one man overboard and fracturing the legs of two others. The river Trent, the Idle, and the upper Thames have overflowed their banks, damaging the crops considerably. A portion of the town of Retford is under water, and the houses in that quarter are inundated to a depth of two or three feet. In Warwickshire an immense quantity of rain has fallen, causing extensive floods. The rivers and canals have all overflowed their banks, and the meadows resemble vast lakes. Many turnoike roads are under water.

New York, Sept. 19. The Tribune's cable special says :- The condition of Ireland occupies the first place in home affairs. Though the agitation is not general, on account of the excellent harvest, the professional agitators are still working, and their operations may have more effect in the winter. While fatal outrages are extinct, houghing cattle and the like still goes on, the achievements of the Kerry and Connemara patriots rivalling in this respect those of the Albanians and Montenegrins. Redpath has caused some sensation by speeches showing how Ireland could maintain military revolt against England. His remarks on this head were more sensational than encouraging. Mr. Redpath himself elegraphs me asking the Tribune to contralict the statement that he advocated an insurrection, and pledged America's support to an armed rising. He said the very opposite, and made long arguments against the use of force. He said :—"I wish Americans would support a peaceful agitation for peasant proprietorship." I may say that English politicians expect the Government will tackle the Irish grievances next season like a workman with his coat off. While giving some encouragement to the peasant proprietory, their plan will be fixity of tenure. Irishmen will hiefly support the former plan. A Ministerial Crisis Caused by Dulcigno Occupied by Eight the Gambettists.

Jules Ferry Charged with the Formation of a Cabinet.

GAMBETTA SHOWS HIS HAND.

NEW YORK HERALD BUREAU Paris, Sept. 18. We are in the throes of a serious Ministerial crisis, unexplainable by any other important cause than a determination on the part of Gambetta's creatures in the Cabinet o rid themselves of M. De Freycinet, whose moderation, integrity, and independence of character, and above all, unity of views with the President, do not suit the President of led to the break-up of the Ministry have all pointed to this conclusion, and M. De Freycinet's speech at Montauban furnished the desired pretext. So clearly has the influence of Gambetta been manifested in the matter that even the Opposition journals have been gloating over it for eight or ten days past as ing certain to bring about the fall the Ministry. But were doubt on the subject possible, it would be dispelled by the fact that after the Cabinet council last evening M. Constans, Minister of the Interior and of Worship, thought so little of resigning, and M. Grévy was so sure that the difficulty was arranged, that the President prepared to start this morning for the Jura. But in the meanwhile M. Gambetta had an interview with M. Constans, immediately after which the latter sent in his esignation, which was followed by that of of Justice, and of General Farré. Minister of War. Le Temps of this evening has a postscript announcing that it was still possible that these resignations would not be definitive and that the difficulty might be arranged; but I regard this as highly improbable. Gambetta has shown his hand, and must now play out his cards boldly or run the risk of losing all prestige with his supporters. The effect of all this, of course, will be to delay the enforcement of the derees, but after all the excitement, the council

If you will refer to the first despatch I sent

Turkey has now no friends in Europe Every nation is busily making preparations for her approaching downfall. Even England, at one time pledged to the integrity and inat one time pledged to the integrity and in-dependence of the Ottoman empire, receives with satisfaction Mr. Gladstone's declaration that unless Turkey governs in accordance with European principles it ceases to exist.

Turkish integrity and independence must shift for themselves. It is proved that the Albanians have all along been instigated from Constantinople. The outbursts of Mohammedan fanaticism in Albania have always corresponded with the strengthening of the Sultan's nerves. Riza Pasha, who was sent to carry out the cession of Dulcigno to Montecarry out the cession of Dulcigno to Montenegro, has been giving every assistance to the gone over to the insurgents. Riza Pasha

More than half the horses in Boston and the suburbs are suffering to a greater or less degree from a distemper resembling in a mild form the epizootic of 1872. The malady has within two or three days become widespread, and it is the opinion of veterinary surgeons that in a few hours there will scarcely be an animal in the city unaffected; but there appears to be no cause for alarm, for only a small portion of the animals attacked rendered incapable for work, and fewer yet are in danger of losing their lives. affection appears to be a form of equine influenza attributed to the extreme weather.

Additional Particulars of the Alleged Con-flict between Father and Son.

STRATFORD, Sept. 22.—Further particulars have been learned of the murder of Thomas Keelan. On Monday Keelan and his son. John were at market in Stratford, but nothing unusual was noticed. At Kastner's tavern on Seebach's nill, on the way home, they had liquor. The old man was the worse of it and fell. When they reached home a scuffle took place in the yard. A younger son saw his father knocked down and went to his assistance when the elder son chased him away. John having gone into the house, the younger son found that his father was dead, and then he aroused the neighbourhood. The constables found John in bed, sleeping soundly, after having taken supper without saying anything to his sister. It is supposed that the deed was done with a neck-yoke, which was lying near the old man's body when it was disknocked down and went to his assistance
