

Lost £900 Worth.

His Excellency, Sir R. Williams, Lieut. Galt, A.D.C., Sergeants Fitzherbert and Miss Denn, returned to the city to-day at 9 a.m. after their disastrous trip around the country. In the car which was destroyed were all their effects worth at least £900 sterling, and these were all destroyed. His Excellency lost considerable cash which was in the pockets of his clothing left in the burning sleeping coach, and all had only the clothes they had on their person when the coach was demolished. The accident occurred near Kitty's Brook and the party was about 300 yards distant when the coach was found to be on fire. There was no stove in it and it is thought the accident was caused by an exploding lamp.

He is anxious to get either to the Poor Asylum or Hospital, and should be placed in the latter institution.

Suffragette Disorder.

(Daily News Message.) LONDON, Nov. 23.—Rioting by the suffragettes, which began with an assault on Premier Asquith yesterday, continued throughout the night. Driven from one district so many of the women as escaped arrest would gather at another point and renew the battle. Advancing under cover of a fog at 2.30 o'clock this afternoon, a militant band circumscribed the police, stormed the Asquith residence in Downing Street, hurling stones and metal weights at the houses; and breaking the glass in all the lower windows. Earlier in the night the women smashed the windows in the houses of Sir Edward Grey, Lewis Harcourt, and Winston Spencer Churchill. Augustine Birrell, Chief Secretary of Ireland, was the victim of the most vicious and serious assault, and as the result of injuries from blows and kicks the aged statesman is confined to bed under the care of physicians. Mr. Birrell was making his way on foot through St. James Park to the Athlone Club, when he was set upon by the women, and badly beaten. The policemen rescued him. One hundred and fifty-six women and two men who took part in the riots were arraigned in Bow Street Police Court to-day. At the direction of Home Secretary Churchill those charged merely with obstruction were discharged. Others against whom complaints for assault and wilful damage of property had been made, were returned to jail to be held for trial later. Most of the women prisoners appeared in Court, carrying banners containing charges of "martyrdom" in jail. Among those held was Mrs. Haverfield, a daughter of Lord Abinger, who according to testimony introduced had promised to bring a revolver with her on the occasion of the next suffragette demonstration.

O'Neill's Good Work.

People who recently arrived from that section say that when the young man Nowlan, of Salmonier, had his hand blown off there recently by the accidental discharge of a gun, he would have died but for the attention given him by Const. P. O'Neill. When the officer heard of it he drove quickly from St. Bride's to Salmonier and found the man with the wounded arm thrust into a pool of water, while he bled profusely. None of those about him knew what to do to check the flow of the life current, from loss of which Nowlan had become very weak. O'Neill placed two tourniquets on the arm and stopped the flow of blood, and he also gave the unfortunate man other necessary aid until Dr. Kendrick arrived and looked after him. O'Neill was altogether 15 hours with him and saw him safely conveyed to the train to come here to hospital.

Dr. Pritchard Improving.

Dr. Pritchard who was shot at Bay Roberts, Tuesday, at St. John's, and who with Mrs. Pritchard is staying at the residence of Mr. W. S. Monro, is doing well, and Dr. Rendell, his physician, believes he will pull through all right. Dunlop is under arrest and a preliminary investigation into the shooting is being held before Judge Oke, at Harbor Grace. After a thorough investigation there the prisoner may be brought to St. John's to stand his trial.

Trinity Station.

Editor Evening Telegram, Dear Sir—As you are no doubt aware, trouble has arisen over the non-extension of the railway into the town of Trinity, and I am a regular reader both of the Trinity Enterprise and Evening Telegram, after reading the "Enterprise" letter in the last issue of the Enterprise which reached me yesterday, I was very much amused when I read the letter signed "Electro" in the Telegram this evening. After reading it, any one interested, I think, would conclude that it was not written in Trinity, as it seems to have something of the ring of authority about it, but that it was written by some outsider and who, perhaps, takes an interest politically in it. After comparing the two letters, which speak for themselves, I naturally ask myself the question, "Which is which?" Yours, VOTER.

St. John's, Nov. 22nd, 1910. [Voter's inferences are wrong. The letter signed "Electro" came to us from a prominent and responsible member of the District of Trinity Bay, who lives and carries on his work there all the year round, but he is not a resident of Trinity West, the capital of the Bay, where the trouble has arisen about the site of the station.—Ed.]

Disorderly Scene.

Editor Evening Telegram, Dear Sir, At Bell Island the conduct of the militia is as a rule very good, on Saturday afternoon it proved an exception. The officer happened to be on the Government wharf when the mail steamer was arriving from Portugal Cove, and the scene around showed Bell Island to be a flourishing place. Fully 200 people were in sight, awaiting the arrival of the mail steamer, after she lands the mail and passengers Saturday she proceeds up the Bay, generally to Spaniard's Bay or Harbor Grace, and there were waiting to embark. Carts of luggage, carriages, boxes, trunks and freight of all descriptions were much in evidence, and the thought would strike anyone present what a bustling place this must appear to those on the steamer coming across the Tickle; but what a change took place. As the ship neared the wharf the crowd rushed, jumped and ran a mania. The wharf was packed and anyone wishing to get clear was in danger of being pushed over. All seemed excited; the ship came to the wharf and when about three feet off some endeavoring to board her, as she came alongside fully fifty boarded her, one toppling over another, boxes, bags and even picks and shovels were thrown on and a confusion ensued. The captain ordered the gang ashore, but once aboard they refused to move. In the rush the mailman could not get aboard to procure the mail, he being blocked amongst the crowd. The passengers who arrived from St. John's were unable to get ashore. The captain ordered the crowd to make way and leave the lady passengers ashore, but not for the multitude there, the days of chivalry were over. BELL ISLAND. WITNESS.
