Very Fine Model

The ship being built by Mr.
Pelly at Port Blandford is now nearly completed and the launching is expected to take place sometime next month. The vessel will be a stern rigged and with masts about 400 tons. All who have seen the ship on the stocks say she is a very fine model and one of the best ever constructed at the Port Blandford ship yards.

Praises Dr. Fraser

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—St. John's in particular and Nfld. in general is fortunate in having Dr. Fraser as Public Health Officer, during these trying days when Influenza is epidemic.

The whole population is deeply indebted to him for his vigorous and effective campaign against the disease.
The information and advice which is daily given to the press is very helpful and his letter in this morning's News certainly brings the matter before us face to face.

I trust that in view of this serious declaration from the Public Health Officer re church attendance that the church authorities concerned will consider the health and lives of their people to be more important than even a church service.

There are many people ill in the city to-day who were not sick before they attended church last Sunday.

I must congratulate the Methodist Church authorities for the "high ground" which they have taken in backing up the Public Health Officer in and defending their people from increasing the casualties.

Yours, etc.,
PRO BONO PUBLICO.

October 26th, 1918.

Realized $2,500.

The girls who sold the Trafalgar tags yesterday, collected altogether, $2,500, or $500 more than last year.
This is indeed a good showing, and the people who generously gave of their money, and the girls who gave their time, deserve much praise.

How to Purify the Blood

"Fifteen to thirty drops of Extract of Roots, commonly called Mother Selge's Carative Syrup, may be taken in water with meals and at bedtime, for the cure of indigestion, constipation and bad blood. Persecution in this treatment will effect a cure in nearly every case."
Get the genuine at druggists.

Wotan's Way.

Old Wotan was a deity adored by ancient Huns.
Who as a god of thunder controlled the heavenly guns.
And in our age he held the stage in places where they sing And play the great Tetralogy we briefly call the Ring.
In figure he was German, extremely broad and fat.
His beard was long and shaggy and he wore a wondrous hat.
He was the heaviest father that ever took the floor.

And the world's long-distance champion-belt for monologue he wore.
So, wishing to pay honor to this ancient Teuton god, Who tried to rule his daughters with a Rhadamanthine rod, The High Command conferred his name upon the vital "switch" That links Drocourt and Queant with tunnel, wire and ditch.
Old Wotan was a German, so you couldn't shift his line; Besides, it would be sacrilege, for Wotan was divine.

And so for twice a twelvemonth Hun-nish hosts relied On Wotan's indestructible, impenetrable hide.

But even super-Germans are won't at times to nod.
And to borrow Wotan's aegis was in-dubitably odd;
For dark decline o'erwhelmed his line; he saw his godhead wane And his stately palace vanish in a red and ruinous rain.
The secret shows that legend may foreshadowed said fact.
For the haunted line of Wotan has at last completely cracked.
And as his kingdom crumbled with its Pagan creed, outworn, His wall and trench have yielded to dows of Byng and Horne.

Always The Brute.

(From the Montreal Gazette).

"Germany was a brute in 1914," said the Hon. Mr. Balfour, recently, "and she is a brute in 1918." At the moment that through the new Chancellor, she whines about the "salvation of humanity," she is murdering, in cold blood, innocent men, women and children on the high seas. She asks the Allies why they go on fighting, either with astounding naïveté, or scornful derision, and at the same time, she commits crimes which, sur-fered, as is the world with horrors, during the past four years, stuns the mind by their enormity, indicating, as they do, a degree of depravity which places their authors on the plane of unadulterated savagery. The most biting of Rasmakers' cartoons was that in which he shows a poor woman killed by a bomb in London. The dead body is on the miserable bed; the hand bends her head in despair; the little daughter sobs, in wonderment, at such a crime in the world which God had made for peace and beauty:
"Mother did not do anything, daddy, did she?"
And, surely, in view of the ineffable callousness exerted at the moment when the Hun hypocritically whines about the "salvation of humanity," adorned with righteous indignation, will insist that this monstrous power must be beaten to the very earth, if it takes ten more years to do it, so that humanity shall be redeemed from the rule of the bestial and unspeakable Hun, who, with his hands dripping blood, asks the Allies to think of the interests of humanity.

What Has Britian Done?

By Rev. Frederick B. Hodgins, B. A., Formerly of Toronto, in the New York Herald.
What has Britain done?
Kept the faith and fought the fight For the everlasting right.
Chivalrously couched her lance In defence of Belgium, France,
This has Britain done!

What has Britain done?
Given every seventh son, Met the challenge of the Hun; Placed her men on every field;
Proud to die too proud to yield.
This has Britain done!

What has Britain done?
Answers every far flung breeze Blown across the Seven Seas:— "Watch and ward secure she keeps Vigilance that never sleeps."
This has Britain done!

What has Britain done?
On every front her flag unfurled, Fought a world-war round the world;
Then, when all is said and done, Ask her Allies, ask the Hun,
"What has Britain done?"

What has Britain done?
For her slain Britannia weeps.
She might boast who allegance keeps.
But, when all is done and said, Call the roll and count the dead,
And know what she has done.

What has Britain done?

TEXT OF WILSON'S
WASHINGTON

The text of President Wilson's The Secretary of State makes pub-the Secretary of State to the Charge in charge of German interests in the Department

Sir,—I have the honor to ack-of your note of the 22nd, transmit-under date of the 20th from the Ger-to advise you that the President has ply thereto as follows: "Having re-explicit assurance of the German Go-reservedly accepts the terms of peace press to the Congress of the United of January, 1918, and the principles erated in his subsequent addresses. ress of the 27th of September, and russ the details of their application and purpose emanated not from the dictated German policy and conduc-on Germany's behalf, but from min-the majority of the Reichstag and majority of the German people; and the explicit promise of the present that the humane rules of civilized war both on land and on sea by the Ger-President of the United States feels to ment of the United States is associver, that the only armistice he would mitting for consideration would be on the United States and the powers as position to enforce any arrangeered into, and to make a renewal art of Germany impossible.

"The President has, therefore, governments with which the Govern-states is associated as a belligerent that if these Governments are dispothe terms and principles indicated, of the Allies and the military adviser asked to submit to the Government Germany the necessary terms of suctested their acceptance by Germany, concrete evidence of her unequivocal terms and principles of peace from
