Standard Oil of Indiana's crude supplies, it continues, can hardly now be threatened by any conceivable situation.

Through Dixie Oil Company it has producing properties in Louisiana and the South. Through Midwest Refining Co. it is assured of constant supply of the finest crude from Wyoming.

Through part ownership of Sinclair Pipe Line it is assured of a flow of crude to its refineries from the old and dependable mid-continent field.

To these it has added the large producing properties of Pan American in Mexico and South America and can, if necessary, use the full strength of Pan American pipe lines, refineries and tanker fleet.

CRUDE RUBBER.

Quotations Advance as London Stocks Decline and April Consumption In U. S. Shows Excess Over Imports.

NEW YORK, May 13.—Quotations for spot smoked sheets of crude rubber advanced five cents a pound Monday following an advance in London to 29 1/2-2d. New York quotation is 61 cents a pound, against a close Saturday of 56. The sharp advance was based on decline of 1900 tons in London stocks to 9800 tons, against 35,000 at beginning of the year and upwards of 70,000 when surplus stocks were at the peak.

Another bullish factor was report of Rubber Association showing crude rubber consumption in this country in April at 36,000, against imports of slightly over 27,000. Consumption for January-April period was 133,000 tons. Brokers predict some of the smaller live companies will be compelled to discontinue operations because of inability to secure rubber.

Crude rubber market was strong, with sellers of rubber, smoked sheets for nearby delivery at 60 cents, June 59, July 57 and July-September 56. London market closed unsettled, with buyers of nearby at 29d and July-September at 24d.

Importations of crude rubber into the United States in April totalled 27,231 tons, against 26,314 in March and 42,436 in April, 1924, according to Rubber Association of America. In four months of 1925 imports totalled 114,561 tons, against 113,562 tons in the same period of last year. Imports at Atlantic ports in April were 24,573 tons and at Pacific ports 830 tons.

WILLIS-OVERLAND.

TOLEDO, May 13.—A committee of Willis-Overland directors will present a plan for paying off accrued preferred dividends to the board, for consideration after annual stockholders' meeting to-day. Dividends amounting to $30 a share had accumulated on 7 per cent, preferred stock prior to current quarterly payment last Saturday.

It is understood policy will be to pay dividends in cash and not partly in common stock, as some reports suggested.

Company has $13,000,000 cash and has strengthened its position by a conservative policy of liberal reserves for depreciation and contingencies. More than $500,000 was reserved for this purpose from first quarter earnings when the company reported net of $3,175,000.

Bankers close to the company are estimating the current year's earnings at close to $20,000,000. The company has profited considerably by an increasing margin due to declines in raw materials' though its profit per car is lower than that of most manufacturers, according to Mr. Willis.

STANDARD OIL OF INDIANA.

Company's Magazine Says Control Of Pan American Petroleum And Transport Gives Impregnable Position.

(Halifax Chronicle, May 15.)

CHICAGO, May 13.—Acquisition of control of Pan American Petroleum and Transport Co. places Standard Oil Co. of Indiana in an absolutely impregnable position among oil companies of the world, says the company's magazine, the Standard Record, which further says the terms of purchase were most favorable.

Chairman Stewart, of Standard Oil of Indiana, assisted by F. H. Wickett, a group of geologists and others, working against a short period of 60 days expiring March 21, made a complete survey of Pan American's producing territories in Mexico and South America and its entire physical assets, actual and potential.

THE OIL STOCKS.

NEW YORK, May 13.—Oil securities are reflecting the strong position of the oil industry and improved earnings of Standard Oil and independent companies.

Reports for the first quarter of 1925 show material improvement in net over last year. This follows the rather general increase in profits for 1924 over 1923.

Conditions which made for good oil profits the first quarter of 1925 have, if anything, improved in the second quarter. Crude prices in the big mid-continent district have remained at the year's top prices, while latterly the wholesale gasoline market has advanced about one cent a gallon in the mid-continent. Demand is increasing.

With present prices and conditions continuing, important oil companies should show better profits in the current quarter than they did in the first three months.

In this situation it is believed oil stocks are not only discounting good second quarter reports, but also likelihood of increases and resumption of dividend payments. Mention is heard in oil circles that Pacific Oil is likely to be among the first to raise its first cash payment by going back to the old $3 annual basis instead of the $2 a year now being paid.

Marland's earnings of $2.19 a share in the first quarter, after all deductions and no inventory appreciation, should at least be duplicated in the current quarter. These earnings, as well as the possibility of resumption of dividends, are attracting attention. Some talk is also heard of Phillips being likely to raise its cash dividend or make a stock distribution. Standard Oil of New York is another company which is considered likely to make some increase in its dividend payments.

Big Blaze Reported
at Glenwood

SEVERAL SHACKS DESTROYED.

At noon to-day a flash message was forwarded by the operator at Glenwood to the Minister of Posts, stating that a big fire was raging at that place, the flames having destroyed several houses near Shea's premises, and there was no sign of it abating. The operator also stated that there were no woods near the Telegraph Office, and it was thought that the fire would not reach it. Further information was asked for but up to one o'clock headquarters operators had failed to get in touch with him. The Newfoundland Government Railway also received a message from Glenwood through the Postal Telegraphs Department, in which it stated that the fire had destroyed several shacks near the old mill. As far as we can understand these were unoccupied and had not been used for several years. They were erected about twenty years ago, when timber operations were carried on very extensively at Glenwood, Gambo and vicinity. Further particulars will be awaited with interest.

The Originals
Capture the Town

The Originals at the Nickel Theatre since the opening night on Monday have succeeded in establishing a great reputation in St. John's, and it is no exaggeration to say that they have taken the town by storm.

"Stepping Out," which is the title of the mirth-provoking, melodious and artistic revue in which the company is appearing this week, has all the features which particularly appeal to theatre goers here, and the talented performers by sheer merit have succeeded in establishing themselves.

Last night the Theatre was crowded to its utmost capacity, and many were present for the third time. The members of the troupe, now familiar with the stage and the acoustic properties of the Hall, excelled themselves and the applause which greeted the numerous skits, the musical selections, the dancing, and particularly the impersonations of Gene Pearson and the drolleries of that imitable comedian Bob Anderson showed how thoroughly the audience enjoyed the performance. A matinee will be given again on Saturday at popular prices, and next week there will be an entire change of programme, when "Rapid Fire," another sparkling revue will be presented.

Injured Whilist
Boat Building

The motor boat Port Union arrived in port at 9 a.m. bringing a resident of Salvage named Jesse Brown, for treatment at the General Hospital. It appears that yesterday, whilst Brown was engaged at Port Union putting a spar in a schooner the shears gave way with the result that the heavy piece of timber crashed down on him, breaking his arm and inflicting other injuries to his shoulder. On arrival this morning, he was taken to the hospital in the ambulance.

Final Order Given

In connection with the motion made by Mr. H. A. Winter on behalf of Sir Edgar Bowring to appeal to the Privy Council against the judgement in 'the Income Tax case', final orders were given a few days ago. The records are now being completed by the Registrar for submission to the Privy Council and the case will probably come before that tribunal within the next two months.

SALMON NET PICKED UP.—Capt. Bonie, of the scho. Garntah E. whilst counting to port yesterday, picked up near Cape Spear a salmon net with head ropes and buoys attached. The latter were marked W.A.N.

The Prince's Charm

The Prince of Wales has scored another success in his role of Ambassador of Empire.

Race-riven South Africa has taken him to its heart. Dutchmen have joined with Britons in acclaiming him. We read with pleasure that a prominent leader of the Dutch party expressed wonder that the Mother Country should send the heir apparent to a land that still ripples with rebellious faction, and that that rebel faction should welcome wholeheartedly their—as much as our—Prince.

The Prince of Wales is indeed a man of the world, and he knows that men are not always what they seem. He takes them at the solid worth which is at the bottom of all brave men's hearts, and goes to them as a friend, ignoring the unpleasant past, inviting a more trusting future. The Afrikaner nationalists must know, at bottom, that the well-being of the country they love so passionately can best be served by an amicable co-operation in and with the British Empire.

The Prince is giving them the opportunity, by his personal charm, to admit this openly. If he succeeds he will have proved himself worthy of the mighty task which eventually awaits him.—Daily Mirror.
