C. B. Monteith, of the Express, attended the semi-annual meeting of the Elgin-Oxford and Norfolk counties Press Association in Ingersoll, Friday last. At noon the members of the press, together with the reeves, deputy-reeves and councillors of the various municipalities of Oxford county were entertained at luncheon in the Ingersoll Inn by the Ingersoll Kiwanis Club. Mr. E. Roy Sales, of Toronto, manager of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association, addressed the gathering on "Co-operation," in which he stressed the point that the business men of the town and the men of the rural districts should know and understand each other better. He recommended visiting back and forth and the holding of such gatherings such as was held on Friday, when the town and country men would be able to understand each other's problems and work together for the good of the community. He pointed out the value of the weekly press in every town to the whole community and urged business men to always read the personal items every week that they might keep in closer personal touch with their rural customers.

and East Elgin will buy a ticket for 50c and not only see this splendid comedy, but in this way materially assist the Board in paying off the indebtedness left over from the Fair last fall. It is your fair and your co-operation is necessary at this time. Don't plan on anything else for at least one of these nights. Come in and bring your family. The other entertainments presented by Miss Gibney and her Aylmer players during the winter months were pronounced one hundred per cent. perfect and this will be just as good. Tickets may be purchased in advance from E. A. Hemstreet, secretary, Richards & Co.'s Drug Store, Express Printing Office, or from any director. Tickets 50c. This is a worthy cause and the hall should be packed all three nights.

Gardening is the one big hobby of the "Boss" (fishing next), and the experience with different kinds of garden vegetables, has taught us the vegetable is the best.
