FAME CAME TOO LATE.

She was full of such vague romantic dreams
Of what the unforeseen future would hold;
She had great aspirations of pet themes,
Awaited in patience her plans to mould.

And her life was a restless, weary search
For fame, which so long eluded her grasp;
The way so winding to its lefty perch, Yet she onward pressed its glory to clasp. At last death claimed her, so tired, worn and sad. So glad to rest from the relentless fray; The world awoke, and with praises went O'er she, who long had waited this day. Too late, then, for the poor tried heart to know

Of applause, that trembled it was so great;
She could not hear it in her bed so low,
Life to her only one long helpless wait.

A Big Real Estate Deal. Mr. A. B. Powell has just closed a large real estate deal. It involves the Wright & Durand property on the corner of Queen's avenue and Wellington street, upon which an old planing mill has been standing for a long time—a veritable eyesore to the neighborhood. price paid being $9,500.

First Sow, Then Reap. Too little advertising is like sowing too little seed. A farmer in planting corn puts a number of grains into each hill, and is satisfied if one good healthy stalk comes from each planting. It's the constant advertiser that is bound to attract attention. It's the succession of bright, catchy advertisements that refuse to be ignored. That the proper time must be allowed for the fruit to grow, ripen and be gathered is as true as that wheat cannot be prepared the day after it is sown.

BARRACK NEWS.

Welseley Wrinkles-Talking of Camp-New Rifles-Corp. Hawthorne's Literary Venture-Association Football Wanted. The soldiers at Wolseley Barracks are a ree-and-easy set of fellows. With Sergt. Griffiths still among them they are sure to have a good laugh and lots of amusement every day, thus preventing a severe attack of the "blues." The chief topic now is the coming camp and if some good practical jokes cannot be played upon the raw boys from the back concessions it will not be for lack of scheming. Together with camp talk comes the threat from Corp. Tom Hawthorne, a practical printer, that he will fit out a small printing office and run a daily paper in opposition to the two city journals. Tommy is known at the school as a clever writer, and his undertaking will sleep lately trying to think of a name for the coming journal. Any suggestions will be thankfully received.

Ten members of the school band will go to Toronto on Friday. They will take part in the grand military tournament to be held in the Queen city on May 16, 17 and 18, on the occasion of the opening of the new drill shed. The red coats are wearing broad smiles now. They have all been supplied with Martini-Metford rifles of the latest pattern, suitable for range practice at 1,800 yards. They are about half a pound heavier than the old rifles, and are fitted with an adjustable "sight," which can be removed for drill purposes. The new rifles are accompanied by a sword bayonet nine inches long-much neater and more comfortable than those formerly in use. The corps have also been supplied with new boots, which were made in England. They are bound to wear the soles being hob-nailed and the heels adorned with a steel plate. They are pronounced as 'comfortable.' A member of the Barracks Football Club says: "It is a pity that an association football team cannot be got up in London and represented in the Western Association League. At present the only association team is that at the Wolseley Barracks, the Asylum, London and other clubs having become defunct. The Collegiate Institute had a good team once but nothing is heard of it now. Surely football in London cannot be dead." Pte. Reddy left barracks on Tuesday and has failed to return. The boys rather think he won't come back until cold weather

Pte. O'Connell likes soldiering so well that he will try it for three years more. Pte. Morgan enlisted on Wednesday. The soldiers like the new barrack fence so well that the crack guard of the corps, commonly known as "Beauty," lined up alongside of it the other day and were
