Mr. Scroggie at the Centennial.

Mr. J. M. Scroggie, the well-known Scottish evangelist, who has been assisting Mr. D. L. Moody at the Chicago Exposition, preached at both services of the Centennial Methodist Church yesterday.

—Mr. Scroggie is a preacher of great ability, and with his Scotch accent is coupled a natural bluntness of speech that forbids of any word juggling. He called a spade a spade invariably and his words were uttered with a ringing force that carried conviction.

—One great mass that came in for a scathing denunciation from the lips of Mr. Scroggie was that known as the "religious world." This was described as the class between the sum of humanity and the real Christian; the man who was neither going to heaven nor hell. In it was included the man who shook hands with the world, the devil, and took the sacrament without a true yet pleasant way of expressing a trust, and the next minute would hardly be a dry eye in the church as the same man dwelt on the pathetic side of life.

—The discourse was founded on Psalm xxiii, and each verse served as the cornerstone of a complete sermon.

Death of Mr. John Beattie.

Far away from home in Mobile, Ala., Mr. John Beattie, one of the most prominent residents of this city, died suddenly Saturday. He was stricken with heart failure while visiting his daughter, Mrs. J. Cocksworthy Yarker, who, it was intended, should have accompanied him here shortly.

Mr. J. H. A. Beattie, his son, left the evening for bringing the body home. Deceased was in his 61st year.

Mr. John Beattie was born in the north of Ireland. He came to this country when 14 years of age. He served first as a clerk in Beatty & Kay's store in Toronto.

1856 he came to this city and for an extended period was a prosperous retail drygoods merchant here. About 23 years ago he sold out to his brother, Mr. Thomas Beattie, and removed to Toronto.

After five years' residence in the capital of the Province, he sold out the interest in the house, and retired from business. He settled at the homestead, Wortley road, South London. Since then amassed considerable wealth, having largely invested in local institutions.

He was until the time of his death vice-president of the Carling Brewing and Malting Company, and held the same position in the Huron and Erie Loan Society, in both of which institutions he was a heavy shareholder. He was a man of pronounced business ability, and by his death the city loses a leading citizen and a financier. For a number of years he had been rector's church warden in St. James' Church, South London, and one of its most prominent members. In politics he was a Conservative.

Mr. Beattie leaves a widow and three children. The son, Mr. J. H. A. Beattie, is one of the law firm of Meredith, Fisher & Beattie.

Miss Cora Beattie lives at home. Mrs. Yarker's husband was at one time connected with the Federal Bank here.

THE BOY MAY DIE.

A Ten-Year-Old Shoots Himself—Didn't Know What It Was.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Sept. 3.—The 10-year-old son of section foreman N. McPherson, Angus, early this morning picked up a ball-dog repeater revolver on St. Clair avenue. Not knowing what it was, there being a very short barrel to the weapon, he held the muzzle against his right side and tried to pull the slide when the revolver discharged. The ball entered below the second rib, setting fire to his coat. The little fellow ran home but fainted after telling his mother what happened. The physician has little hope of his recovery.

Sore Legs Cured by Royal Crown Remedy After the Cleverest Doctors in Canada Failed.

LONDON, June 20, 1896.
Dear Sir,—I was a great sufferer for years with one of the worst kinds of sore legs. I doctored a great deal with some of the cleverest doctors in Canada. They failed in making a cure. I was recommended to try your medicine. I got two bottles of your Royal Crown Remedy and one box of your salve. I used it according to directions. In two weeks after I commenced to use it I was able to go to work again. I feel much better in health, and the legs seem to be a sound cure from the bone. I can recommend it to the world at large.
