K. Linson, and its reproductions of K. Linson, and its reproductions of some of these in color, and its beautiful, seasonable special cover, McClure's Magazine for December is a very notable artistic achievement. But it is no less notable from the strictly literary standpoint. In the introduction and prolocue of Dr. John Watson's (lan Maclaren's) "Life of the Master," there is more than catisfactory opening of what promises to be a unique and valuable feature throughout the year. Watson franklyn announces does not expect those who follow his works will be much wiser regard-ing mere sites and dates, but he does let himself hope that they "will have clearer vision of the august Figure who invites the judgment of each man's conscience, who lays His hand on each man's heart."

Among the features will be an international spectacle comprising five handsomely decorated booths, a flag drill by twenty young ladies, football, basketball and other diversions. The ladies have spared no pains to make the day attractive. COL. BUCHAN MAY COMMAND.

Woodstock Sentinel-Review: The cabled message received yesterday to the effect that Col. Otter had been made a member of Gen. Buller's staff came as a surprise and the exact meaning of the change has yet to be explained. As Col. Buchan of Wolse-ley Barracks, London, is second in command it is probably that he will take Col. Otter's place. He is a soldier of great ability and well known and much esteemed in this district. If it is true that he has been advanced there are many who will predict that in his new capacity he will have a most brilliant career. Col. Otter's promotion is no small honor either to himself or to the country which sent him to South Africa. Buller has great work ahead of him and requires good men about him. One at least he will have in the Canadian colonel. KNOX SCHOLARS ENTERTAINED. The annual entertainment of Knox Church Sunday school, South London, took place in the lecture room of the church last evening. LETTERS FROM CAPE TOWN

Foldiers From London With the Canadian Contingent Heard From.

Sergeant-Major Adams, of the police force, today received a bulky letter from his son, William George, who is with the Canadian contingent in South Africa. The letter was posted at Cape Town immediately after the arrival of the Sardinian. Will was not sick an hour of the voyage. He says they were greeted at Cape Town by enormous crowds, who showed great enthusiasm. Dr. Piper has just received the following letter from Cape Town from Major Stuart, of the first Canadian Contingent, in reference to two young Londoners, who were members of the Seventh Fusiliers:

"Steamer Sardinian, "Off St. Helena, Nov. 22, 1899.

"Dr. Piper: Dear Sir,-I am looking after Coles and Wardell. They are good boys and are externely well liked. 'I hate to lose them, to let them go into the hospital corps, but will try to get them in.

"Tell their folks I am looking after them. Yours sincerely, "DUNCAN STUART."

CHRISTMAS ENTERTAINMENT

School-A Splendid Programme Given.

The annual Christmas entertainment and tea in connection with the Talbot Street Baptist Church was held last evening, and was a most successful and pleasant affair. Mr. J. W. Westervelt, ties at various other battles, fought jun., superintendent, presided, and introduced a splendid programme. The opening number was an address of welopening number was an address of wel-come by Master Melville Sayer. Reci-tations were given by Miss Ethel Hud-son. Roy Dale and Miss Sadie Thoson, Roy Dale and Miss Sadie Thomas, and Miss Olive Neill gave a solo.

A number of delightful kindergarten exercises were gone through by the little folks, under the direction of Miss Gertie Buttrey. One of the pleasant features of the evening was the exhibition drill by twelve small boys, dressed as soldiers, and carrying small rifles. While going through the drill the lads sang "Soldiers of the Queen. They were given an ovation. The drill was under the direction of Miss C. Jeffrey, and much credit is due her for her efforts. The wand drill, by nine young ladies, under the direction of Miss Jeffrey, was very pretty, and the movements were nicely executed. The concluding number was the best of the evening. It was a flag drill by twenty young ladies, under the direction of Miss Doty. The novel and difficult moves were nearly executed, and evidenced much effort on the part of the young ladies and Miss Doty.

At the conclusion of the programme. At the conclusion of the programme the children were treated to an abundance of candles and nuts, and went home delighted with their annual treat

ARTILLERY DUEL

Boer Shells Drop Dangerously Near the British Naval Guns at 6,000 Yards Range - Transvasiers and Free Staters Fall Out.

Modder River, Dec. 28, 4:15 p.m.-The Boers again fired several rifle volleys uselessly last night.

Four British guns on the north line, a 4-7 inch gun and two 12-pounders from the warship Monarch, and an-other 4.7-inch gun on the right of the railway, were ordered successively to shell the Boers.

The firing began on the left of the line by a 4.7-inch gun. Then the 12-pounders dropped shrapnell apparently over the Boer trenches.

The enemy broke into a heavy and continuous fusillade along three miles of their trenches, evidently thinking that the British were advancing. As a matter of fact, the British infantry did not fire a shot. The Boers kept up an intermittent rifle fire until midnight. It is evident that they live in their trenches. The Boer artillery was well served. In the morning the enemy found the range and dropped a number of shells dangerously near the British naval guns. Some of them fell within 20 yards of those guns. The range was 6.000 yards.

Natives from the Boer Taager says that the enemy is becoming hungrier daily. They are allowed only two panrikins of meat daily between four men and one lean leg of mutton be-tween eight men. The natives add that there is much confusion in the Boer camp.

The shooting by the enemy Tuesday night ended in a quarrel between the Transvaal and Free State Boers. Both had fired on their own store wagons from Jacobsdal, which had gone astray in the darkness.

The Free State Boers complain that the Transvaalers are better treated than they, and that their hardships are unbearable. The Transvaalers quelled the grumbling, but the Free Staters are dispersing in greater numbers than heretofore.

BATTLES OF THE CENTURY

Some of the Bloodiest-Modder River Not in It.

The British losses in the present conflict in South Africa have caused, in some quarters, severe criticism of the Imperial authorities, who are accused of being dilatory in the campaign. Considering the vast difference in the strength of the nations, engaged in this warfare, the loss of close on five thousand British, does appear enormous. This number is, however, very small in comparison with the casual were 13,000, and at Wagram, in 1809, they lost 18,000, although in that battle they took 20,000 Austrians prisoners. At the Moscova, on the retreat from Moscow, they lost 30,000. At the great battle of Leipsic, in 1813, a three days' battle, the French losses were 65,000. More than 40,000 of the French perished on the field, altogether 80,000 men perishing on the field.

At Waterloo the British lost 6,932, the French 28,850. The total losses of the allied armies there were 4,266 killed and 14,539 wounded, besides 4,231 miss-In the last great attack on Sebastopol, Sept. 8, 1655, the French lost 1,646 killed and 4,500 wounded, besides 1,400 missing, and the English lost 385 killed, 1,886 wounded and 176 missing. At Plevna between 18,000 and 20,000 Russians were killed and wounded, the Turkish loss being about 5,000 less than the Russian. About 16,000 men were killed on both sides. In the war be-tween Germany and Austria in 1866 the Prussians lost 9,172 and the Austrians 44,314 at Koniggratz; at Nachod the Prussians 1,332 and the Austrians 4,787, and at Skalitz the Prussians 1,365 and the Austrians 5,577.

In the Franco-Prussian war the Gerand the Franco-Frussian war the Germans at Weissenburg-Worth lost 12,914 and the French 5,000 in killed and wounded, besides which the French lost 55,000 prisoners. At Vionville-Mars la Tour the Germans lost 15,799 or 22 per cent of their army, the French loss being equally great. The Germans at Colombey-Nouilly lost 4,907, and at Spickern 4,871. At Gravelot-St. Privat the Germans' loss, according to a German authority, was 20,173. Another authority puts it at 25,000, and the French loss at 19,000. At Sedan the Germans lost 8,931. The French army of the north consisted of 150,000 men, and the three armies of Germany of 250,000 men in that three days' battle, in which 23,000 French were taken prisoners. In the American civil war the aggregate losses at the battle of Stone's River were 13,249 on the Union side and 10,266 on the Confederate side. These figures include killed, wounded, captured and missing. The Union killed were 1,730 and the Confederate 1,-294. At Antietam the Union killed nubered 2,108, the wounded 9,549. At the first Bull Run battle 470 Union men were killed and 1,071 were wounded, the Confederate figures were 387 killed and 1,582 wounded. Five hundred were killed on the Union side at Fort Donelson, and 466 on the side of the South, the wounded numbering respectively 2,108 and 1,534. The South lost in captured and missing 13,829 and the North 224. In the two days' battle of Shiboh the Northern dead numbered 1,754, the Southern 1,723; the Northern wounded 8,408, and the Southern 8,012. At Fair Oaks 790 Northern men and 980 Southern were killed, the North losing in wounded 3,594 and the South 4,749. At Gain's mill the North's aggregate loss was 6,837 and the South's 8,751. At Coder Creek 544 more billed 8,751. At Cedar Creek 644 were killed in the Northern army, and 320 in the Southern, the wounded being 3,430 and 1,540. Chickamauga's two days' battle resulted in dead, 1,656; wounded, 9,749, on the Union side, and 2,312 dead and 14,674 wounded on the side of the Confederates. At Gettysburg the Union losses in killed were ,3,070; wounded, 14,497, and the Confederates', 2,592 dead, 12,760 wounded.
