He has been successful in all of them and has managed to knock out his rivals before the expiration of the final round. The other night Jackson met Harry Barrett, of London, before the National Sporting Club, London, in what was to have been a six-round bout. Jackson had things his own way with his rival and had no trouble in dispos-ing of his man. The finish came in the second round. Upon breaking Jackson, with a half-arm hook with the left, dropped his man. Barrett quickly arose and rushed into elinches. The American again slipped his man, and down went Barrett once more. Barrett evidently did not relish his job and refused to continue.

ALL READY NOW FOR THE GAMES

ondons Have Their Final Practice for Tomorrow's Matches.

The final Rugby practices for Saturday's games took place last night at Tecumseh Park. The senior team, with but two exceptions, turned out, and the line-up on Saturday will be the strongest that has been put on the green est that has been put on this season.
