

JURY EXONERATES TWO EVANGELISTS

George and Roma C. Garner of Port Huron Are Acquitted.

CHURCH ROBBERY

Special to The Advertiser.
Sarnia, Oct. 1.—The supreme court jury this afternoon, after 90 minutes' deliberation, acquitted George Garner and Roma C. Garner, American evangelists, of charges of breaking and entering St. Joseph's R. C. church and committing sacrilege by the theft of sacred hosts. Mr. Justice H. E. Rose offered no comment on the verdict and briefly discharged the two accused, who were congratulated by a number of Port Huron friends, who had sat throughout the trial.

Outside the court house the evangelists offered nothing in the way of a demonstration and left immediately for Port Huron, where they are scheduled to hold a meeting tonight.

Sacrilege Horrible.
"This is an act of horrible sacrilege; an act that made me positively shudder as I heard the case," stated Justice Rose in opening his address to the jury in the early afternoon. His lordship spoke for more than 30 minutes, and his charge to the jury was a very impartial review of the salient points of the evidence.

The indignity offered to the most sacred of places and any repulsion or dislike the jury might feel against the accused from the evidence given, concerning their conduct in regard to the Roman Catholic church, should not influence them to bring in a verdict of guilty if the evidence did not support such a verdict. The denial of the theft made by the two accused, and by the wife of one of them, should be given such importance as the jury thought fit.

"One of the facts established by the crown was that the accused were associated with an evangelist, who in the course of his so-called evangelical work had performed a mock mass ceremony, which provided a suggestion, if not proof, of a motive," his lordship continued. "The accused admitted having been twice to the church during the afternoon of the theft."

Time Insufficient.
His lordship impressed on the jury that while on their visit the accused were only inside the church for a few minutes, during that time, in order to commit the theft, they could have had to find the key of the tabernacle and open it. The key was kept in a drawer in the vestry. There were no signs of disorder in the vestry, and either the thieves must have had knowledge of the whereabouts of the key, or they had visited the church previously, or they had performed such a difficult task in a short time. The evidence did not show that the men knew anything of the church or of the key prior to their visit. His lordship, at the close of his address and at the request of the defending counsel, pointed out that not only the tabernacle was locked but also the vestry in which the key of the tabernacle was kept, so that the accused would have had two keys to find and two doors to unlock before the theft could be committed.

In his address to the jury, Col. E. S. Wigle, prosecuting, suggested that the mock mass ceremony conducted by the evangelists furnished a motive for the theft of the sacred hosts, and the accused were probably attacked by conscience after taking the hosts, and returned them to the floor of the confessional room.

IRISH BILL GIVEN SECOND READING

Ulsterite Motion For Rejection of Measure Defeated by Big Majority.

Associated Press Despatch.
London, Oct. 1.—The government bill providing for the Irish boundary commission passed its second reading in the House of Commons tonight. Previously, an Ulsterite motion for rejection of the bill was defeated, 291 to 124.

Continuation of the debate today brought out only one interesting point—a statement from former Premier Lloyd George that there was no record in the cabinet minutes that any pledge such as suggested by Viscount Long had been given and that he himself was unable to recall any such pledge and that the countries had always belonged to the United Kingdom and there should be no interference to the boundaries beyond slight readjustments.

J. H. Thomas, the colonial secretary, winding up the debate, said the government had exhausted every effort to avoid introducing the bill, but conference after conference had broken down because Ulster insisted that President Cosgrave must abrogate his rights under clause XII. Neither Mr. Cosgrave, nor Sir James Craig was an unreasonable man, but both were faced by factors they were unable to control. He only wished the people they represented were as reasonable as they.

DAVIS ESCAPES NOOSE TILL AFTER FEBRUARY

Will Not Hang On Date of Execution of Five Others at Montreal.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Montreal, Oct. 1.—Leo Davis will not hang on October 24, with the other five bandits, with him convicted for the murder of Henri Cleroux, Bank of Hochelaga chauffeur, because the supreme court of Canada, to which he had right of appeal because of the dissension of two judges of the appeal court from the decision in his case, does not meet until February.

SETS THREE RECORDS.

Earl Stroud, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Stroud, junior champion at the Tillsonburg high school field day, accomplished an unequalled feat in school history when he established three new school records, and he is receiving the congratulations of his many friends. The new records are: 100-yards dash, 12½ seconds; 220-yards dash, 23 seconds; 90-lb. shot-put, 22 feet 3 inches.

ALLEGED SLAYER DECLARED INSANE

Four Alienists Claim Fred McGaughey's Mind Is Diseased.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Lindsay, Oct. 1.—Greater interest than usual tonight was manifested in the trial of Fred McGaughey for the murder of his sweetheart, Beatrice Fee, when the court room was crowded to the suffocation point and many climbed up the fire escapes and peered through skylights on either side of the courtroom.

Evidence this afternoon and evening was a contradictory nature and was confined very largely to that of four expert alienists, Drs. Beumer, of Mimico, Dr. English, of Hamilton, and Dr. Ryan, of Kingston, were practically a unit in the contention that McGaughey suffered from a disease of the mind and defective mind commonly known as catatonic dementia praecox, and that his continued incoordinated state intensified this condition, that he is insane, and did not know the nature and quality of the act which he committed when he shot and killed Beatrice Fee.

Dr. Clare of Toronto, on the other hand, testified for the crown, that there was no sign of catatonic dementia praecox, that by his actions before and after the shooting he was fully aware of the deed he committed and made excuses to justify the deed, and that he is posing or acting a part in the courtroom.

McGaughey for three days has stoically maintained, almost without the flicker of an eyelash or the movement of the body, a stooped, cramped posture, gazing into space, at the floor, rubbing his hands nervously.

Considerable stock was placed by the crown in the fact that McGaughey this morning asked the governor of the jail for a cushion of some sort to sit on, that he was uncomfortable. It was given to him, but the crown maintained that this showed there was no dementia praecox. It was pointed out in evidence that the grandmother of the accused suffered from senile insanity, the mother from pernicious anaemia and the son, the accused, from delusions.

It was expected that the trial will conclude Thursday afternoon.

RUM PIRATES RAID BOAT TAKING $10,000 CARGO

Launch Carrying Canadian Whiskey Boarded by Alleged Government Men.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Bridgeburg, Oct. 1.—According to reports received by United States customs officials today a big launch carrying $10,000 worth of Canadian whiskey, was boarded some time during last night in the Niagara River by rum pirates and the entire cargo stolen.

According to reports the launch was on its way from Chippawa to North Tonawanda, N. Y., where automobiles were waiting to receive the liquor, when rum pirates, claiming to be government agents, climbed aboard. Once in the launch the pirates covered members of the crew, backed them into the cockpit and kept them there until the whiskey was transferred to the second craft. With guns still covering the surprised crew of the export ship the pirates pulled away in the darkness.

SECORD CONSTRUCTION CO. RECEIVERS APPOINTED

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, Oct. 1.—At Osgoode Hall this morning Mr. Justice Lenoir made an order appointing the Trusts & Guarantee Company receivers of the P. H. Secord Sons Construction Company of Bradford, under a bond mortgage for $30,000.

NOTED RIFLEMAN DIES.
Associated Press Despatch.
London, Oct. 1.—Col. John Barlow, vice-president of the National rifle association, died today. He was a magnificent supporter of the National rifle association, and for many years Col. Barlow was one of the best known figures at the Bisley meetings. He resided at Bisley camp.
