After the choice had been made and the chairman, A. G. Potts, had announced the result, brief but rousing addresses were delivered by Mr. Pooley and H. D. Helmcken, K. C. These was followed by a few words of an optimistic character from others present, after which votes of thanks were tendered the presiding officer for his able services and a vote of confidence in the administration of Premier McBride was carried with cheers.

Mr. Pooley after thanking the convention for the confidence reposed in him and acknowledging the honor done him by the Liberel-Conservative association of the district, said it was the 24th time he had been asked to become the representative of the Conservatives of the Esquimalt electorial section; and he wanted it understood that he appreciated the friendly sentiments so strikingly demonstrated.

It was not his intention to enter into a discussion of the political issues. There would be time enough for that later. Owing to the shortness of the period before the general election it would not be possible for him to cover as much territory as he would like to do. But he would wage just as vigorous a campaign as circumstances would permit. And he hoped that his adherents would rally to his side and do everything in their power to aid in his election to the legislature. He pointed out that it was not only in his interests that he spoke but in those of the Liberal-Conservative party of British Columbia—the government of the present premier. (Applause.)

In reference to the representa-years he had served as the representa-tive of the voters of the district, he did not think it necessary to say much. The majority of those present, he was sure, knew as much about it as he could tell them. He simply wished to sure, knew as much could tell them. He simply wished to say, that he had always done everything possible in the interests of the district. Doubtless he had sometimes made mistakes. But, he added, where could be found a man in public service. could be found a man in fundament which had not occasionally erred in judgment? (hear, hear). There was one thing of which he could speak with the conviction that he could not be contradicted—and that was that he had deted—and that was that he had beer been guilty of anything of which need be ashamed (applause.) roughout his twenty-four years as sitting member of the Esquimalt, trict he had used his best efforts
