FACT AND FANCY.
Members of the Salvation Army have been arrested in New York for parading without a license, but were discharged by the magistrates.
There is quite a difference between being raised at court and being brought up in a court.
The poor, worn mother, who works at midnight patching her boy's trousers, thinks it is never too late to mend.
Full many a gem of purest yare,
The lucky pocket in the rags man bears!
And 'twas to follow on a maiden's ball.
-Johnson.
Only one person has ever been buried in Atlantic City.—Camden Post. But there's been more than one grave dug there to raise the hopes of bankrupt landlords.
What inconsistencies crop up in our national affairs! Cadets are sent to West Point to learn the arts of war, and because two of them fight there is a great row over it.—Detroit Free Press.
Suggested by the New Orleans Playmate:
The young wretch whose pantaloons are so tight that he cannot sit down should hang onto a plank at the seat saying, "Standing room only."
During twenty-one years, of since early childhood, a man of Lawton, Pa., has not spoken in his father. There was no quarrel at the outset, but an instinctive antipathy.
A young man named Farquhar, famed in the London clubs for his wit and beauty, has determined to go on the stage, being encouraged thereto by the success of Mrs. Langtry.
Mr. Jenkinson, who succeeded Col. Brackenbury, with a salary of $7500 a year, as head of the Irish criminal investigation department, distinguished himself greatly when very young at the outbreak of the Irish mutiny.
It is attributed to Sir Garnet Wolley that he always fixed a date for departure, for the end of the war, and for his return to London to dine with a few agreeable friends. Sept. 1st was the date on which he proposed to exterminate A. R. A.
M. Pasteur, the distinguished investigator of the natural sciences, at the last meeting of the academy of sciences of Paris, was his great commemorative of Thomas Hughes, it is said by his friends at the Rugby school in Tennessee, intends to visit them during the coming month. Mrs. Hughes, his mother, a strong and vigorous woman of eighty-seven years of age, acts as treasurer of the school board of the colony.
In November T. H. Esott is to succeed John Morley in the editorship of the Fortnightly Review. He has been for a long time connected with the London press, but is best known by his columns of "England: Her Peas, Policy and Parasite."
"Johnny," said the teacher, "a lie can be acted as well as told. Now, if your father was to put sand in his sugar and sell it he would be guilty of the same thing, wouldn't he?" "That's his mother," said Johnny, impulsively, "and he doing very badly."
Quite recently three young men from Aqueduct, Fla., captured a saw-fish in the gulf that was fourteen feet six inches long, forty-two inches across the body, and saw, forty-one inches long and seven inches across the centre, between the points of the teeth. The fish was shot after being harpooned, and it weighed five hundred pounds.
A tablet is to be erected in Westminster Abbey to the memory of an American, the late Col. Chester, a native of Norwich Conn., but for many years resident in England. This is in recognition of his services as editor of the Westminster Abbey Register.
In Spain an old custom among the rural people is never to eat fruit out of doors without planting the seed. The roads are lined with trees, whose fruit is free to all. An old proverb says: "The man has not lived in vain who plants a good tree in the right place."
The Duke of Orleans, eldest son of the Count of Paris, took the prize for latin composition at the annual competition of the Paris colleges. His father, amid the plaudits of a large gathering, embraced him and placed on his head the laurel wreath presented to prize winners. The duke is thirteen.
Ethiopian conquest: Two colored dandies were overheard indulging in the following conversation: "I say, Jim, you doesn't call around as much as you used to do." "The house of Miss Matilda Snowball, the belle of Austin avenue." "Do you mean, Julius, the called after you are times in the week, head clothes that I've asked you to wear? I'm my wardrobe am limited." "Pshaw, nigger, you is a fool. Jess keep on going to see her, jus as she asked you to do. You be sure to take to you, bekeve you are unchanging in your suit; heah! heah! heah!"
The reason why the thermometer does not always accord with the comparative display of hot weather is owing to variation of moisture in the air. While the human body is all the time giving off perspiration, either sensible or insensible, this evaporation will go on more rapidly when the air contains but little moisture than when it contains a great deal. Evaporation is cooling when it has no obstruction; but when it is obstructed by moist air, the reverse effect is produced, and a temperature of 80 degrees is quite as oppressive as that of 90 when the air is dry.
Dust mixed with air is found to under certain conditions, a dangerous explosive. Thus, if a large log of wood were ignited, it might be a week before it would be entirely consumed; split up into cord wood and piled up loosely it would perhaps burn in less than an hour; cut into shavings and allow a strong wind to throw them into the air—in any way keep the chips comparatively well separated from each other—and the log would perhaps be consumed in two or three minutes; but if ground up into fine dust or powder, and blown in such a manner that each particle is surrounded by air, it would burn in less than a second.
The thing whose life is active in use in Salt Lake City, and through it half a million a year in collecting for the Mormon cause. This comes mostly from the poor, according to a correspondent of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, and nobody knows to what use it is put, although many had their surmises when they found that Brigham Young, although not entitled to any salary, did worth several millions. The rich evade their titles in a variety of ways; the poor must pay them, or they are subjected to trouble and annoyance. When they have paid their tithes they are not out of debt to the church. They must contribute when called upon to the erection of new buildings, or do anything else which the priesthood may demand. "Better starve your body than your soul," and starve your last bushel of corn, or the last sheep, or the last steer.

Bridged in the Seneca River.
On Monday there was very heatedly a drowning accident to record. Two Toronto excursionists on Spiggard river, it appears that Mr. Gregory, Mr. Cooper and three of the younger party of the family started down the river in a good, safe boat with the intention of passing an afternoon down by mistake. Something having been forgotten on the little fellows was sent back to the town while the occupants of the boat laid up by the railway bridge till their return. During this time the Toronto gentlemen passed them on the way down but had not proceeded very far before Mr. Gregory's boat caught up to them. As he treated them the canoe appeared to be accepted exactly what was the matter the canoe was seen to disappear out of sight into the water. Mr. Cooper and Mr. Gregory made all haste to the spot where one of the strangers managed to get hold of the side of the boat and scrambled in, all protesting that the other gentleman was not to be kept. He tried but tried in vain to keep his head above water and for some time he was seen to be struggling. Mr. Gregory did not see him between various splutterings sang out, "Here you are, mister," in a very feeling voice. Mr. Gregory was equal to the occasion and promptly held out a paddle to him when he was taken into the boat.
