

The friends of E. Sturge, V. S., '86, will be glad to hear that he has been appointed Professor of Veterinary Science in the Dakota Agricultural College, at Fargo, Dakota. Mr. Sturge has been very successful as a practitioner in the States and will, no doubt, be equally successful as a professor.

C. Elton, A. O. A. C., '88, is Ranching with his brother near Pincher Creek, N. W. T. They breed chiefly horses, cattle and pigs, and recently imported three Herefords from F. A. Fleming, Weston, Ont., and a Holstein bull from Smith Bros., Churchill, Ont. Mr. Elton asks to be remembered to the '88 class, and wishes the REVIEW success.

G. C. Creelman, B. S. A., of the Agricultural College, Mississippi, spent his Xmas this year with Prof. H. A. Morgan, B. S. A., '89, in Baton Rouge, La. He reports that Mr. Morgan looks well and is discharging with dignity and ability the many duties connected with the Departments of Entomology and Horticulture at the Experimental Station. Mr. Morgan has recently issued a well written bulletin on the "Screw-worm," which will be thankfully received by all who are troubled with this pest.

We regret that our esteemed friend, F. C. Webster, A. O. A. C., '90, of Creemore, Ont., who took a special course last term, left us at Xmas never more to return. We miss Mr. Webster in more ways than one, he was a leading man in all sports, inside and outside the college, while he took an active interest in the Literary Society and in all matters appertaining to the college course. He intends starting farming on his own account in the spring and by combining theory with practice we feel sure he will carry on his business successfully.

We are pleased to note that J. A. Craig, B. S. A., '88, who has been editing the Live Stock Journal for the last two years, has been appointed professor of animal husbandry at the Wisconsin Agricultural College. The Journal has been wonderfully successful under Mr. Craig's able management. Although we feel that his departure from Ontario will be widely felt by the farming community, we cannot but congratulate the Americans on getting such a thoroughly practical as well as scientific man.

Many of our ex-students have taken a leading part at the Farmers' Institutes this year.

Prof. Dean, C. A. Zavitz, G. Harcourt, F. J. Sleightholm, and T. Raynor read papers at many of the Institutes and all of them were favourably mentioned in the papers, having handled their subjects in a way highly creditable to themselves and also to their Alma Mater. We also notice that A. Shantz, B. S. A., '90, and P. S. McLaren, A. O. A. C., '89, read papers at their respective Institutes. We congratulate these gentlemen on having done so well, also other ex-students who made themselves heard at the various Institutes. We hope the time is not far distant when the ex-students of the O. A. C. will take these Institutes entirely in hand and then the farmers of Ontario will see what sort of men the College can turn out.

Local News.

Hot buttered toast during the holidays.

WHERE'S Job? Job, why milking of course.

R. J. PHIN, silver medallist of '81, spent an afternoon at the College recently.

STRANGE, isn't it, that the want of gas should cause a ghastly darkness?

THE skating was good about Xmas time, ask Palmer and Wilkin if the water was cold then: they know.

WHY can a certain 1st. year student be heard a long way? Because he is a loud 'un (Lowden) of course.

ALTHOUGH a certain 1st. year man has persistently over-eaten himself, ever since his arrival here, he gets no fatter.

THIS year, as well as last, Buscarlet carries off the palm for the neatest room in the College. Bealey makes a close second, however.
